Chameleons, as no doubt readers are aware, all belong to the Old World, and particularly to Africa. In their tongue, their feet and their eyes they differ re-markably from other lizards. Their feet, though possessing five toes, are divided into two grasping groups, looking like a hand in mittens, and only by close examination you perce ve the presence of the two or the three opposing respectively, but so close together as to appear like one broad

On the padded soles or palms of these grasping limbs you can feel and see the small-may one say-palpi, which enable them to grasp so firmly that it is difficult to detach a chameleon from its foothold. These clinging feet, together with their prehensile tail, enable them to sustain themselves on the branches in the strongest gale,-Cor. Forest and Stream.

Pigeon Lofts in Italy.

The distance between these two places is 204 miles. They throw the birds from ships, and they have, we are assured, been known to do a distance of as much as 287 miles over the sen at about thirty-one railes an hour.—London News.

Grocery Stores in Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia grocery store is an in-stitution. It is handed down from father to son and it stays on the same corner where it was founded when William Penn's surveyors finished their work. Like other Philadelphia institutions, it is never reconstructed, altered or rebuilt. It stays till it crumbles, with the same name over the door and the same names in the books,-New York Sun.

All who know Mr. W. D. Wentz give him the best of recommendations for honesty and integrity. For many years he has worked for Mr. D. P. Wilson, the harness maker and member of the Geneva Board of Health. He says:
