MUST HOLD CUBA

NOT YET READY FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT.

SO MANY OFFICERS THINK

Uncle Sam's Soldiers Must Stay Until Peace is Fully Assured—Political Feeling Between Factions is Still Dangerously Bitter.

Washington.—It is said here that the United States is in Cuba to stay for some years to come, and, perhaps, for all time. How long the soldiers stay, and how long the affairs of the Cuban government are administered by Americans, depends wholly on the Cubans. Mr. Taft and Mr. Bacon are declared to have come away from Havana thoroughly convinced that the people of the island, in their present state of political development, were incapable of governing themselves.

Before leaving Havana, Mr. Taft told the Cuban political leaders that our troops would not be withdrawn, and we would not leave the island to itself again until confidence had been restored and the affairs of government put on a stable, sound and permanent basis.

Since it has been determined to retain control of the island, every consideration demands that the work of putting business on a normal basis should be undertaken at once. Dispatches that have come from Havana since Governor Magoon assumed control have not been reassuring in tone.

General Bell's plan to give the troops "practice marches" through the island, it is acknowledged, is nothing more than a plan to impress upon the Cubans the fact that the United States is in armed control of their country and will not permit another outbreak. Another reason for these marches is to preserve the discipline of the troops.

The peace that exists in Cuba to-day is only on the surface, and every one who has recently visited the island realizes that if our soldiers were withdrawn now a condition of anarchy would follow. The feeling between the defeated Moderates and the Liberals is bitter to a degree. Recent cable dispatches report harsh dissensions in the Liberal party. The Cuban political leaders that the Taft commission came in contact with proved themselves nothing more than grafters; shrewd and keen hunters after political office and perquisites that accompany political position in Latin-American countries.

The ignorant low-class Cuban is a lovable fellow. Obedient, pleasure-loving, polite, and hard working when he must be, he is as clay in the hands of the unscrupulous politicians who have gained an ascendancy in the island. It is these men who have made Cuban independence impossible.

When President Roosevelt returns to Washington he and Secretary Taft will go carefully over the entire situation and determine when the election shall be held and what method shall be taken to insure a continuation of peace and normal conditions in Cuba. That this will mean the retention of troops and a certain number of civil officers is now definitely known.

New Evidence Found.

Denver.—A Republican special from Wray Sunday says: New evidence which Attorney Pelton thinks will clear Mrs. Van Wyk and help her husband has been secured and will be urged as the chief reason for granting a new trial when the motion is argued. In the trial just ended the prosecution claimed that Mrs. Van Wyk killed her sister December 27th last, and did not reach home until after midnight. She swore that she reached home before sunset, but a merchant at Vernon swore that she could not have driven twelve miles before dark after she left his store that day.

Mr. Pelton has found a man who says he will swear that he saw Mrs. Van Wyk drive into her own yard before sunset, December 27th.

Street Car Riot in Canada.

Hamilton, Ont.—Never in Hamilton's history were such scenes of disorder and lawlessness seen as were enacted in the principal streets of the city Saturday night. Scores of rioters, sympathizers with the striking street car men, felt the weight of policemen's night sticks and the keen edge of the soldiers' swords in conflicts on James and King streets. At a late hour street cars were running at intervals under heavy guards, but they did not carry passengers, and continued to be the targets for fusillades of stones and bricks from side streets and alleyways. Drastic as were the measures taken by the authorities, it was plain that the mob spirit had not been broken.

Yale Defeats Harvard.

New Haven, Conn.—Yale's bright blue banners wave triumphantly over the city, the signal of another victory over Harvard Saturday, the final score being 6 to 0. The crimson went down to defeat in a desperate battle, which in football strategy and spectacular plays has had few equals since the two universities have met. To Yale passed the almost undisputed title of the college championship of the country, clouded only by the drawn, no-score contest at Princeton a week ago. If Harvard had won she would have been practically certain of the championship.

NOVEMBER AILMENTS

THEIR PREVENTION AND CURE.

November is the month of falling temperatures. Over all the temperate regions the hot weather has passed and the first rigors of winter have appeared. As the great bulk of civilized nations is located in the Temperate change from warm to cold, when cool nights succeed hot nights, when clear, cold days follow hot, sultry days, the human body must adjust itself to this changed condition or perish.

The perspiration incident to warm weather has been checked. This detains within the system poisonous materials which have heretofore found escape through the perspiration.

Most of the poisonous materials retained in the system by the checked perspiration find their way out of the body, if at all, through the kidneys. This throws upon the kidneys extra labor. They become charged and overloaded with the poisonous excretory materials. This has a tendency to inflame the kidneys, producing functional diseases of the kidneys and sometimes Bright's Disease.

Peruna acts upon the skin by stimulating the emunctory glands and ducts, thus preventing the detention of poisonous materials which should pass out. Peruna invigorates the kidneys and encourages them to fulfill their function in spite of the chills and discouragements of cold weather.

Peruna is a combination of well-tried harmless remedies that have stood the test of time. Many of these remedies have been used by doctors and by the people in Europe and America for a hundred years.

Peruna has been used by Dr. Hartman in his private practice for many years with notable results. Its efficacy has been proven by decades of use by thousands of people, and has been substantiated over and over by many thousands of homes.

Reception Was Costly.

Mrs. Augustus Heaton, of Washington, some time ago changed from the Episcopalian to the Roman Catholic church and by way of celebrating the event decided to give a reception in honor of the bishop of her diocese. She decided, however, that her already famous drawing-room was not sufficiently resplendent to serve as a place of reception for the bishop who was to come and congratulate her. There was yet time in which to make the room more attractive and Mme. Heaton, with true artistic taste, had everything taken out of the room except the old furniture and a few art objects. The walls before had been covered with tapestry, but that was not enough for a reception for the bishop. After much thought she finally decided on drab silk wall covering. What with this and other extensive changes in the room without the purchase of furniture Mrs. Heaton got rid of $9,000.

Youthful Boston Congressmen.

All three of the congressmen just elected from Boston—Joseph F. O'Connell, John A. Kellher and Andrew J. Peters—are young men and bachelors. It is the first time in the history of the city that husband and father has not been included in Boston's delegation to Washington and, incidentally, it becomes the youngest delegation that was ever sent from any city in the country.

THE BARTEDES SEED COMPANY, DENVER, COLORADO.

The Barteldes Seed Company, formerly Barteldes & Co., moved into its large, substantial and admirably constructed new five-story building on Sixteenth street, near the Union depot, in Denver, about the 1st of November. This action was taken none too soon, as the rapidly increasing volume of business, which during the past year approximated one-third of a million dollars, imperatively demanded more room and better business facilities.

The new building is a landmark, not only in the progress of the company, but in the growth of Denver and the expansion of its wholesale trade. The company's business, which is increasing all the time, covers all the states and territories west of the eastern line of Colorado and Wyoming, and Old Mexico and British Columbia as well, employing five active commercial travelers. The business has quadrupled in the last six years.

C. R. Root, the manager, under whom this increase has been accomplished, has been with the house for sixteen years, and has every detail of the business thoroughly in hand. What is more, he has the confidence of his customers and the respect of his employees. But Herman Warneke is the Nestor of the company, having been with it for twenty-six years as associate manager and cashier. Although past the allotted three-score years and ten, he has lost no jot of his efficiency and has a strong hold on the old patrons of the house.

The new building, which is devoted to wholesale seeds only, has about one-third of an acre of floor space in its five stories. It is thoroughly up to date in its elevators and chutes for handling goods, which are unloaded and loaded directly from and into the freight cars. Its facilities for loading into wagons and drays are equally good.

On the fifth floor, which has an almost perfect system of ventilation, there are now seven carloads of onion sets. On the fourth floor are many carloads of grain and grass seeds, and among the stock on the third floor is a carload of Kentucky bluegrass seed. Provision is made for recleaning seeds by the latest and best styles of cleaning mills.

On the second floor are the almost numberless varieties of vegetable and flower seeds. On this floor are the large and well-appointed offices of the company.

The retail branch, familiar to all Coloradans, is a little more than a block away, on Fifteenth street, connected by private telephone system.
