The Grim Hand of the Law takes a babe from a mother's breast. She kills her husband. Was she right?

WOMAN and the LAW

STAGED BY R.A. WALSH

WHAT DID
THE JURY
SAY?

For her child's sake she had rid herself of her husband. She did this although it was contrary to all the teachings and traditions of the aristocracy in which she had been reared. Then she thought:

"Now I will be happy with my little one." But there loomed above her the great power of the law which the man had invoked to take from her boy. Desperate? She took the only course she saw.

This photoplay is based upon the internationally sensational De Saules domestic tragedy that shocked not only the United States but South America as well.
