CATTLE GROWERS OF NEW MEXICO!

THE FUTURE of the cattle business in New Mexico depends upon the organized, co-operative efforts of the men who make their livings from cattle.

The lone cow man is up against it.

Organized with his associates in the industry, he will prosper.

The New Mexico Cattle & Horse Growers' Association is the one organization which devotes all of its efforts exclusively to the welfare of New Mexico cattle growers. Its 500 members, owning fifty percent of all the cattle in New Mexico are an united, aggressive body of men attending to business every minute, with four years of results to show for their efforts-results which have been worth hard cash to every cattle man, and which will be worth more money to all of you from year to year.

We meet in 4th annual convention, in Albuquerque, March 25, 26 and 27. That's next week. It is to your interest to be there and to join this organization. It will help your disposition; it will boost your bank account: Join with us in fighting YOUR battles.
