SORELY AFFLICTED.

The Portland Standard is sorely afflicted over the result of the Senatorial contest. From the wail that paper sends up one would infer that its editor was the chief mourner at the funeral of the late so-called caucus nomince of the Republicen members of the Legislature. Whether this wail is in behalf of the five Democrats who voted steadily for the aforesaid nominee, or in behalf of Parker and Veatch, who voted with the five on the last ballot, does not appear; be that as it may, the editor is evidently in a bad way, and unless he gets relief soon he will most likely experience a violent attack of political "jim-jams."-[Statesman.

THE TARIFF.

ciso Examiner: "It is often said that the tariff question is not political, but, in point of fact, no other proposition enters so should more properly be entitled "An largely into the politics of the time. It has been so for many years; and even when little is said about the matter in borhood: the speeches and writings of the day. its influence is still great. The Constitution of the United States grants to Congress the power to lay a tariff for revenue. It is plain that this grant of power was never intended to deprive the people of their natural right to carry on commerce. The utmost stretch of this power could place the stretch of this power could place the tariff no higher than the point at which it would yield the greatest amount of it would yield the greatest amount of revenue. It might be that a tariff of 30 or 40 per cent on certain articles would produce a larger income to the treasury than one either higher or lower than that rate, and it would be sure that a tariff of 200 or 300 per cent would yield little or no money, from the fact that no importation of goods so taxed would occur. Excluding foreign-made goods is very profitable to the manufacturer here, because it gives him the market to himself-that is, to the class to which he belongs; and tariff of 40 cents on the dollar is very alvantageous to him, also, as it enables him to sell his productions for that much more than he could if no tariff existed, although his goods are not worth any more to the purchaser, wh is injured by this advance in the price. A moderate tariff, which permits large importations from abroad, fills th treasury, and at the same time gives the American manufacturer a great gain by raising the price of goods, the government getting the duty on the imported articles, and the manufacturer getting the same amount on the articles he produces. This increase of price is all paid by the consumer. Vol umes could be filled with discourses or this simple subject, and perhaps it will not thereby be made and clearer, even to the few who might read them. I is not likely that the government wil be in a condition to adopt anything like free trade. A large revenue needed, and it can be had by import duties. No party that may be in power will be in a position to reduce to low figure the duties to be collected. Thus, the manufacturers will have, in any event, a liberal protection. But they now have too much. Woolen goods have two sets of charges-one rated by the pound, and one by the dellar-and both paid on the same article. These two charges amount in some cases to over 90 per cent. Forty years ago such a tariff would never have been thought of. Daniel Webster and Henry Clay were considered tariff statesmen, and they were satisfied with from 15 to 40 per cent, and declared that even that amount was only needed for a time, until American manufacturers could get established firmly. They have been long well established, they have got rich and powerful, and they increase their demands. It must be kept in mind that this excessive taxation does not put one cent into the treasury. On the contrary, after a certain figure is reached all the benefit goes to private parties. This is ator stood: Dolph, 51; Bonham, 26; altogether wrong, because such a pow- Mitchell,-Long, Curtis, Gates, Gault, er, to reb the people at large to enrich Siglin, Veatch, 6; Boise, 3; Shattuck, a small class, was never granted to Con- 1. This must indeed have been a trygress. And, further, it is against the ing moment for the deserters who had genius and spirit of our institutions, left the Democratic ranks to vote for which were founded to premote the Mitchell, standing there alone, with the good of the many-of the people-and brand of shame upon their foreheads not to build up a few hundred insolent and their contracts still binding upon nabobs. The tariff needs revision in them to stand by Mitchell to the last, the interest of the toiling millions, and knowing, as they must, of the suspi-

BY THEIR WORKS SHALL YE KNOW THEM."

The imbecility of the last Legislature of Oregon as a body politic, is made manifest by their acts of omission and commission. Of the very few popular and necessary laws which were not smothered and lost sight of through the action of the designing demagogues who infested that body, the hand of the knave or fool is plainly visible in the numerous amendments with which each bill that has become a law has been burdened before receiving the Legislative sanction. We have not had an opportunity of reading all the bills which have become laws, as they finally passed, but those which we have examined show an undisguised streak of imbecility. As a sample of the statesmanship which pervaded that body, is a law entitled an "Act for the more effectual prevention of cruelty to animals," for which the author of the bill should have been awarded a leather medal. It is very lengthy, being divided into nine sections, with a streak of insanity, in which the crank is plainly visible, running through all its provisions. UNITED STATES SENATOR

J. N. Dolph, recently elected United States Senator by the Oregon Legislature at the final moment of adjournment, is forty-seven years of age, of tall and commanding presence, a lawyer by profession, and in politics of the Stalwart wing of the Republican party. He is the leading attorney for most of the monopolies which have their place of business in Portland, and a large shareholder in many of the credit mobilier affairs which have been organized and incorporated for the purposes of speculating in stock-jobbing enter-ments, of great industry and extraordinary financial ability. He came to Portland during the late civil war, and since that time, by shrewd investments has accumulated a large amount of wealth, most of which he has invested in city property in Portland and railroad and navigation stocks, which center in that city.

Whilst he is equally as near to Villard as Mitchell, being also an attorney for the companies of which Vilard is the head, and a former law partner of Mitchell, he is more directly interested, being an officer of and shareholder in these corporations. As such he is not a suitable or fit person to represent the great agricultural interests of Oregon. Whether he will put aside selfish interests and rise to Next door to the Metropolitan the broad and dignified position of a statesman and devote his time and energy to the interest of the State, while holding the position of Senator, rather than the mere advocate of the various corporate monopolies in which he is interested; whether he will lay aside his preference for the city of Portland and act equally just towards other portions of the State, would be hazardous to predict. He is preeminently the superior of Mitchell in ability, dignity and integrity.

The Republican party were fortunate as a party in making the selection that they did, rather than adjourning without an election, for the people of the State are tired of the farce which the Republican majority have made of legislation during this session, and it will be a long time before they will again have it in their power to obstruct needed legislation or elect a United States Senator.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS

NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR. It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigor cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair The Vigor is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co. Practical and Analytical Chemists. Lowell, Mass.

Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Billous Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms, which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic and other poisonous minerals, form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure.

AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates
these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, Ayer's Agua Cure, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisens which produce these complaints, and stim-ulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to
