Parties desiring to purchase an animal of this kind will please call on or address JESSIE J. BAKER, Canas Valley, Douglas Co. Or.

DRESSMAKING—Mrs. J. N. Barker would announce to the public that she is now engaged in the dressmaking business, and will guarantee satisfaction in fitting, character of work and price as usual. Rooms in the Library building near City Bakery.

TEACHER'S EXAMINATION—The quarterly examination of applicants for teachers' certificates will be held in Oakland on Friday and Saturday, March 25th and 26th, 1887.

COM. OF EXAMINATION—J. B. HOKNER, F. L. RUSSELL, G. T. RUSSELL, Sup't.

A LARGE SCHOOL BOARD—Roseburg has the largest school board in the State including the school clerk. The combined weight is 864 lbs. Jones 238 lbs., Cannon 234 lbs., Bell 232 lbs., and Willis 160 lbs. Any school board in the state wanting fighting done, let them send for this board, this "heavy weight" board, and something will happen.

DENTISTRY—Go to Dr. Bonham of Roseburg to have your teeth extracted, his local anesthetic as a pain obtuser has no equal applied to the gums for minutes without any traction painless. Dentists not in Oregon may secure the right to use the medicine from Dr. Bonham the discoverer. Particular attention paid to correcting irregularities in children's teeth of diseased gums.

PLEASANT—The entertainment extended to S. F. Flood, (the Guttenberg of THE REVIEW office) last evening at the residence of J. R. N. Bell in West Roseburg was in keeping with that gentleman's old-fashioned Virginia hospitality. A number of young folks participated in this festive occasion, while Col. Fullerton was master of ceremonies. The newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ashworth were also present for a short time.

THE BIG BONE—W. S. Ladd's artesian well near Portland, is down about 1,850 feet, and has passed through numerous different formations. Last week we sent through up some petrifactions of tropical origin, among them being almost shells of perfect form, and wood and bark of the sawy species. Considering the great depth from which these specimens were brought, this is a very remarkable geological discovery.

MARRIED—The wedding of Mr. George Conn, of Fairley to Miss Maggie Sargent, of Linkville, took place at the residence of the bride's parents at Linkville on Sunday the 27th ult. Mr. Conn is well known in southern Oregon, having held a high position under the government in Lake county some years ago. Lately he has been merchandising at the above place. His bride is well known and respected in this community; she was born near Phoenix, in this county and received a splendid education at the state university at Eugene. We wish them much joy in their new life—Oregon Sentinel.

THE ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING—The school meeting was held in the old school building last Monday at 1 o'clock p. m., when the clerk read his report, and showed the district in a fair condition under all the circumstances. George W. Jones (Shakespeare) was elected director, and Thomas L. Gannon clerk. The meeting voted in an informal way that the directors build a school house on the old site not exceeding $14000 in cost. They also voted to collect one third this year of the law directors, and the remaining two thirds to be paid in 10 years. The contract for building the house ought not to be let for more than $12,000, reserving $2000 at least for unforeseen contingencies, fences, etc., &c. Harmony prevailed in the meeting.

LITERARY SOCIETY—Last Friday evening the Adelphean Literary society gave an open meeting in the court house, at which time the following question was discussed: "Resolved, That the mind of woman is inferior to that of man." The speakers on the affirmative were Floyd Johnston, Dr. Dowd and L. Bellis; on the negative Misses Julia Hamilton, Pernelia Ford and Grace Howard. After a lively discussion the question was decided in favor of the negative. Then J. R. N. Bell gave a short address on Hamlet. The house was crowded even to standing room, and all were pleased with the evening's entertainment which showed much efficient work on the part of the participants. These literary exercises should be encouraged, as much benefit is derived from them.

ROSEBURG REFORM CLUB—Meeting called to order by Vice President Ramp, after prayer by Mr. Gaddis, and singing by the junior choir. Hon. W. F. Benjamin occupied the rostrum for over an hour ably discussing the liquor question and pending amendment pro and con. Mr. Benjamin is thoroughly in earnest in this work, and will use every honorable means to have the amendment engrained in the constitution. Considerable discussion took place on the advisability of changing the name of the club, finally a vote was taken resulting in the re-naming the new name being the "Home Protection League." The new officers are president, Hon. W. F. Benjamin; vice president, Mr. Gaddis and Mr. Ramp; secretary Lee Bell; treasurer, Mr. W. B. Taylor; ways and means com. Mr. Ramp, Mr. Gaddis and Mr. Bell, executive com. Mrs. A. Jones, Mrs. Gaddis and Mr. Miller. Rev. Mr. Miller of the Baptist church will address the club at its next meeting. W. ALEXANDER, Sec.

New goods. Parry the tailor has just received a fine lot of cloth from Frisco. First class goods, latest styles and a nobby workman who will fit you "like the paper on the wall." Call and see for yourself.

Prof. M. F. Jones returned home from his trip to Washington territory last Saturday. He has been absent several weeks and was met at the train by the Junior land, who went to welcome their teacher home.

Read the article "Hearts and Hands" in this issue. It is well composed and takes us along the pathway of ordinary life, and then to a place where rough hands and aching hearts, will have all been made well.

Yes, James Washington Leslie, we J. R. N. Bell, are your veritable cousin, son of Crockett and Elizabeth Bell. We expect dear cousin to see you before the next yule log is consumed upon your hearthstone.

Mrs. Dr. Graham returned to this city from Louisville, Ky., last Monday evening. We shall have Mrs. Graham on her return to her home in this city, and hope that she may have many pleasant associations to surround her here in her old home.

A lady in Sharon, Wisconsin writes to us that she has solved the "prisoner's puzzle," but she goes out of cell A and returns to it, not going through the cell next to it, which is not the condition of the puzzle. To save any further brain work on this matter, we say it cannot be done.

On last Tuesday two of Roseburg's fairest young ladies were not enjoying the pleasant sunshine, when they floated into the Review office like a gentle zephyr on the evening breeze, and gave us a pop call. Come again ladies and give us another pop call for we are always glad to see you.

Our old friend Casaral came in upon us like a Kansas cyclone last Saturday and shook us up in a way that made us feel good. We are always glad to see Casaral, but not having seen or heard from you so long before we were not sure that you will still live, moved and had a being.

The Junior band had their pictures taken yesterday morning after which they played several pieces on the street. They came around to the Review office and played two pieces entitled "Melbourne," and "We Shall Win," which were highly appreciated by ye editor, devil and all the typose. Prof. Jones under whose guidance the band has made such rapid progress, will leave Roseburg in the near future. He will be missed by the boys, and by many others as well.

USE BIG WORDS.
In promulgating eulogistic epanagoras or philosophical superficial sentimentalities and philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your statements possess a clarified conciseness, compacted comprehensiveness, concise consistency and a concentrated cogency. Beware of conglomerations of flaccid garrulity, jejune imbecility and sentimentalities. In trying to impress upon others the superiority of Langenberg's boots and shoes, and why you and so many others use them, it is not necessary to use jaw breakers. Let your ex-temporary utterances and unprepared expatiations have intelligibility and veracious vivacity, without rhodomontade or rhetorical bombast. Solidly avoid all polysyllabic profanity, patulous vacuity, ventriloquism, verbosity and vapidiloquy; rapidly; shun double entendres, punnent jocosity and pestiferous profanity, obscenity or apparent. In other words, talk plainly, naturally, sensibly, and truthfully say that THE ROSEBURG REVIEW is the leading paper in Southern Oregon. Subscribe now! That ends it.

Dear Creek Letter.
ED. REVIEW. Your paper's name is REVIEW, and I wish to investigate the two bills that passed the legislature. The first bill and the worst one is the prohibition bill, that lull in in opposition to the Constitution of the United States, guaranteeing life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Now if that bill don't stop the commercial business of those who want to drink, deprive them of their property, make them unhappy, I don't know what sort of a law would, and I can't see where the liberty would come in if the state can say you shall not make wine or beer or whiskey, the liberty is gone and the man that manufactured the liquor is ruined, his business is broken up, his distillery useless, his building useless, and his hired help out of work. I think their happiness would be gone, the vineyards would be in the same fix, hundreds of men ruined, is that the kind of happiness they are to receive at the hands of our law makers? If it is I don't want to make that kind for me or any body else. That kind of liberty or happiness don't suit a vast army of the American people. I think the voter had better study well both sides of the bill before they vote for it. You can't get a job of bourbon any more for any purpose. You have lost your liberty all the same with prohibi bills. Away goes our liberties. Intoxicants came in the world at a very early day, and has been in the world from the commencement of our history. But now the people have come to the conclusion that the preaching of the gospel has failed to reform mankind. They have failed, now the law-makers will fix it for them, they will make the people good, they are better now than our Saviors was, he made wine and he got busy the Jews making good wine and they got funny on the wine. Dr. Gunn says the greatest blessing handed down by God to man is stimulants, and the very best is our common whiskey. Now we are to be robbed of that, being by those good laws that we are to have next November at the expense of $40,000 or $50,000 to much of a hurry to wait for the general election and for a blind the legislature had two other bills coupled with the prohibi bill. They want to get their salaries raised, and the constitution won't allow it, so they want a chance to set their own figures, if the voters give them the whip in their own hands they will put the price on their backs. N. B. voters, look out for the welfare of your selves, don't be humbugged, never let any set of men get the chance to set their price on their work after it is done. The best way is to know how much their salaries will be. Before giving, give them the benefit of that bill, it might cost the tax payers a great sum of money. Now I will ask the REVIEW to give this letter a place if it don't meet your approval. I want our liberties, as when I was a boy.
G. W. GINGER.

Note has discovered a new remedy for the toothache. Francis says it's a sure cure.
The Hon. D. S. K. Back of the Plaster dealer is in Myrtle Creek, we presume on business.

Mrs. Jessie Brewer is visiting in Myrtle today. We wish her much joy and a long and happy life.

Travelers' tales that he contemplates traveling some this summer. He is stopping in Myrtle Creek at present where he has been holding forth for the past eighteen months.

Joe Bird, proprietor of the Roaring Glimet has just received fifteen hundred cigars and is prepared to sell anything from a cigar clear down to a glass of lemonade with a stick in it.

W. Bean closed his school last Friday and bids farewell to Myrtle Creek to-morrow morning. Jasper Hall will take charge of our next school, and we are glad to learn that Miss Edith Callahan is his assistant.

We think Owe is mistaken about the Old Maid wearing sideburns, we were informed that she wears whiskers all over her face, and she brings a basket to get them in, "Pansy put the eggs in the basket for her and she gives Pansy some money for them and goes home."

We understand some one from here went to Roberts creek a few weeks ago and tried to circulate a scandalous report on a young lady of this place, and we should like for the people of Roberts creek and vicinity to know through the columns of THE REVIEW that the report is a positive falsehood and should not be credited. People should always be very careful about what they tell, and not tell a falsehood for the purpose of ruining the character of a respectable girl.

A certain fellow started from here up the country on a job, and with a lot of Saturday (sometimes she stops up South Myrtle with her sister) and undertook to cook a log along the looming trail waters of Myrtle creek and when about half way across he lost his hold and tumbled in and was carried down the stream about a quarter of a mile over boulders and logs, and finally drifted ashore just opposite Joe Cornelius's. He got up shook himself and crawled out upon the bank and sat down in the sun to meditate upon the events of the past and the prospects of the future. He says the events of the past were pretty cold, and the prospects of the future are colder, "for Joe seen him."

BOULE.
Mr. Scott Items.

Miss Lydia Welker we understand is in very poor health and has been all winter.

Mr. Joseph Tipton has a fine new boy at his house some 3 or 4 weeks old. More anon.

The roof of Squire Clifton's blacksmith shop we understand, was broken in and the horn of his mill broken off.

Mr. Wm. Stephens's wife, daughter of Rev. Jephtha Thornton was interred at Oak Creek burying ground the 7th of this month.

Stock is doing very well for the past week or so, but report says there has been considerable loss in deaths since the snow storm set in.

Mr. Sam Cameron has his mill in running order, and is now sawing the lumber for the erection of a new school house in district No. 68.

The annual school meeting of district No. 68 was held on the 7th of this month and everything went off smoothly. J. F. Thompson was elected director and J. W. Wright district clerk.

Mr. J. W. Wright killed a couple of fine venables a few days since, which were very palatable or so says your correspondent, from the fact that he tried his own teeth upon the toothsome meat.

Mr. A. A. Smith's brother from Indiana has arrived, and says he has come to stay. They are very intelligent, energetic and pleasant young gentlemen, and we would be pleased to see more such citizens come to our community.

Mr. Samuel Brit's dogs ran a deer into the river just above the place of holding school meeting which was immediately dispatched by the said Samuel and his Winchester, to the delight of the voters present. Sam is the boss hunter of this vicinity.

We are reliably informed that the Cox Bros. intend building a store, and establishing a P. O. at Oak Creek in the near future, and will run a delivery wagon throughout the surrounding country, buying eggs, chickens, butter, etc., of the farmers, which will greatly assist the farmers, financially.

Reports of quite a number of house roofs being broken in with the heavy fall of snow has reached your reporter. Among them J. W. Hughes' wool shed, barn and wagon shed. Mr. H. feels the heavy loss very keenly as it leaves his stock exposed to the cold spring rains, which are very hard on the animals after the severe snow storm they have passed through. Mr. H. intends erecting more substantial buildings in the future.

French Settlement Items.
Beautiful weather.
Just heard of a wedding.
Everybody on the list list.

L. S. Wright has returned from Coles Valley.

L. W. Dunham is attending school at Wilbur.

We are sorry to say Anna Champagne is worse.

Mrs. White has returned to her home in Oakland.

W. T. Wright spent last Sunday with his family here.

We were pleased to meet the smiling face of Joe Jones.

Messrs. Jim and Connor Denning were visiting friends here last week.

Mrs. J. L. Casebeer and Mrs. Hannan are recovering from their late illness.

William and Miss Edith Callahan and Jim Denning spent several days in Garden Valley, last week. Billy got left.

Calvin Wright of Looking Glass was visiting in this settlement last week and while here purchased a fine hound. Come again Cal.

DUDE.
Grant's Pass Election.

GRANT'S PASS, March 7.—The vote on the Grant's Pass charter to-day resulted in a complete victory for the charter, and the entire charter ticket, with the exception of manball: The ticket elected: F. W. Vanlyke, mayor; H. C. Kinney, T. F. Judson, Joseph Moss; D. W. Harden, aldermen; John Goodsell, recorder; J. F. Buttes, treasurer, and J. H. Colby, marshal.

JUDGE APPOINTED.
SALEM, March 7.—G. W. Walker, of Pendleton, was to-night appointed by the governor to the second judge-ship in the sixth judicial district, created by an act of the last legislature.

A REVIEW TO X. X. X.

UNION FREE, March 7, 1887.
MR. EDITOR: Will you please allow me a small space in one of your very valuable columns that I may say a few words in regard to X. X. X.'s article that appeared in the last week's REVIEW upon the violators of law in Coles Valley? Mr. Editor did not say X. X. X. put it rather strong in his article? What are the rights of the people in this case? X. X. X. and his brother belonged to the noble, brave, and time honored band of Pioneers who blazed the way to Umpqua Valley, now the garden spot of Oregon; and many of the leaders of THE REVIEW have heard them relate the history of an early day upon the Umpqua when they had to fight at night for protection against the hostile Indians. They were among the number who gazed upon the Umpqua valley while it was houseless and uninhabited by civilized man. Yes, they for years bravely fought the wolf from the door; living upon wild meat alone for days and weeks at a time. Sorry to say those cruel Indians finally succeeded in taking the life of his father, thereby working a greater hardship upon his noble mother. And now Mr. Editor, X. X. X. rises up in his youth and manhood with his much loyalty and says to that feeble but good old mother, "I can't kill you a nice deer that you may have a fresh tender steak or a nice dish of soup which her weak appetite could relish for days there wouldn't be enough left for the boys this chums up at Portland, Spokane and other cities) and I when we go out in July to have a time."

And if some sympathizing friend of this Martha Washington mother of his youth and manhood, we think he should do, furnish her with a venison now and then, he questions their gentle manhood and classes them with thieves and vagabonds. I take the authority to say, that there is not a single "game butcher in Coles valley. No one here kills deer for their hides or horns. But there is not a man in this valley (except X. X. X.) that will not kill one if he has a chance for table use. Do you not suppose Mrs. Editor, the Salted X. X. X. feels very much humiliated by having his lot cast in the midst of such a lawless and thievish community? I now ask the many readers of THE REVIEW whether or not the old pioneers (I am not one) of Oregon who have gone right to the first furnace have not a better right to that portion of game in Oregon than their wants demand, than X. X. X. or future posterity?

JOHN GREEN.
From Buena Vista.

BUENA VISTA, Mar. 2, 1887.
EDITOR REVIEW: We have just returned from Salem, at which place the legislature has been attracting our attention. It is a hard matter, Mr. Editor, for a person to depart from the numerous good citizens of Salem after he once becomes acquainted with them, and especially with this case with your correspondent. During our stay there we were regular attendees at the Salvation Army, and good division which is rushing down like a mighty torrent upon Salem's strong hold, flanking him and driving him from his quarters. The Salvation Army is a good regiment, and we are its staunch supporters.

NEWS NOTES.
It is still snowing here, and stock is beginning to suffer.

A dramatic entertainment is among the events of the future at this place.

Interesting revival meetings are being held at this place, and much good will probably be accomplished. The meetings are being conducted by Revs. Beauchamp and Hastings, of the Evangelical church.

M. M. Porterfield has lost several valuable horses by some lung disease. He has another which is badly affected by the disease.

"NO DOMIN."
Oak Grove Items.

Mr. Geo. Stephenson our old friend and neighbor has left us and has engaged in the hotel business in Myrtle Creek.

William and John VanBuren of Roseburg have moved to the grove and are farming Success to you young gentlemen.

Farmers in our section are plying their energies on the farm. There will be a good deal of grain sown in our vicinity this year.

And now Bro. Bell I close by asking you to do two things for us, to tell some good school teacher that one is wanted at the grove, and second come out yourself and preach for us.

J. M. Hutton will take charge of his father's valuable ranch near Oak Grove next week, we welcome you back James to the old homestead. The ex-governor will move back to Myrtle Creek.

MR. EDITOR: As we have not seen any items from our city for some time we venture to pen you a few scattering items from this part of the vineyard.

Our school meeting passed off quietly with the following results. For directors G. W. Wooncock and Mr. Lampkin; for clerk our interesting and ever faithful clerk J. D. Burnett was re-elected. We will say that Mr. Burnett has made an efficient clerk and hope that he may ever stay the seceder.
