POLITICAL POINTERS

Lilley and Peasley Nominated By Republicans for Representatives.

The republicans nominated their candidates for representatives last evening. The convention was in session only a few minutes, and the nominations were each unanimous, showthing that everything had been cut and dried before the convention was called to order. Very little interest was shown in the gathering by the prominent men of the party. Excepting Colonel Doherty and Colonel Turner, not another man outside of the file of the party was present. Mr Truman, proprietor of the Scovill house, withdrew from the contest early in the evening because, it was said, the party threatened to do with the nominees what they did to Colonel Doherty on election day. It was said that the colonel heard of this report and advised his friend, the boniface, to subdue his ambition for another year, at all events, Some of the delegates were not present and their interest in the meeting was shown by their failure to send alternates. It was a cold convention, not even a hurrah being hoard when the nominations were made. usual, the convention took place behind locked doors.

Attorney William Kennedy does not proposed to be cheated out of the posttion of senator this year. He is mak-ing a thorough canvas and will endeavor to run his majority up so high that there will be no need of a recount.

The Hebrew Political club will hold a meeting at their headquarters, 265 Bank street, to-morrow evening at 7:20 o'clock. M. S. Neiman wields this club and will have something to tell the members which they will be pleased to hear, so it behooves all to Frank P. Guilfolle is one of the youngest men ever nominated for the position of representative. The demo-erats of Waterbury will see that he is elected. He will make a model representative, even though he will be one of the youngest men to sit in the house of representatives.

The Hebrew Democratic club will hold a grand rally in G. A. R. hall tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. Prominent speakers of this city and other places will address the meeting and it is hoped that all Hebrews whether they belong to the club or not will attend and be convinced that they owe it to themselves and to their fellowmen to repudiate McKinley and the trusts and combines and stand by the candidate of the party of the masses. President Raffel will call the meeting to order promptly at 1 o'clock.

The result of last night's republican town convention shows that Colonel Doherty did not have as much influence over the delegates as some peo ple supposed, else Attorney Peasley never would have been nominated as candidate for representative. The democrats look upon the nominations as providential and consider them the very best that could have been made so far as helping them along is concerned. It is no harm to say at this time that the democrats were on the anxious seat, fearing that F. W. Chesson and R. N. Blakeslee would be entered in the race, for with these men as competitors it was generally admitter that Messrs Byrne and Guilfoile would have a close shave, if they got there at all; but after it became known that the nominees were Lilley and Peasley they breathed easier and went

The democrats are well satisfied with the result, especially with the work of the past few days and claim to have at least two-thirds of the new voters on their side. The democrats are said to be made up principally of the Russian, German, Irish and American additions to the list, but these are not all, for there is a fair sprinkling of democrats among the others, too, so that the democrats have good reason to congratulate them selves upon the canvass made the past few days. That session held the other evening was the best thing that could have happened for the party, for it seems to be generally-believed that what was said there put lots of "go" into all the boys and men who had been almost asleep up to that time had their eyes opened and were made sensible of the necessity of making one grand united effort to get in the new men and to their credit be it said, they

The democrats will hold a meeting in City hall to-morrow afternoon at 3 Reld & Hughes. o'clock for the purpose of making arrangements for the reception to be tendered to Samuel L. Bronson, democratic candidate for governor, in this city Monday night. The town committee extends an invitation to all democrats and to every elector who intends to vote the democratic ticket at the November election to attend the meeting to-morrow afternoon and have a say in preparing plans for Monday night's rally, which is thought will exceed anything of the kind ever held in Waterbury. Aside from the fact that Mr Bronson heads the state ticket, which in itself would be sufficient to create considerable excitement, there is another thing that adds to the interest of his coming to Waterbury, that is, he was born right here in the Brass city, and this fact alone will prompt many to join in the jubilation who would not take any notice of it if the candidate was not a native of Water-bury and a very creditable representative of one of the oldest and best families in the town. The auditorium has been engaged, bands hired, committees appointed to get hold of all the tees appointed to get hold of all the red fire in the market, and men parading the several districts of the city with a view to locating the most desirable sites for bonfires. The Hon Mr Bronson and a large party of New Haced people will arrive here shortly after 7 o'clock, and as soon thereafter as convenient the procession will be started. It will be a great day for the procession and a seven when the procession will be a great day for the started. well as the men, should enter Furnith spirit of the occasion and see prices,

There will be several speakers at the auditorium, including the Hon Mr Bronson and Dr William Croffut of Washington, D. RICE FORGERS HELD. .

Magistrate Brann Held Patrick and

Jones in Heavy Bonds. New York, Oct 27.—Magistrate Brann announced his decision today in the case of Albert T. Patrick and Charles F. Jones, counsel and private secretary, respectively, for the late millionaire, William Marsh Rice, holding them to await the action of the grand jury. Ball was fixed at $10,-000 each. The prisoners are charged with having forged the signature of Mr Rice, who died in his apartments at 500 Madison avenue under strange circumstances, to a check for $25,000, drawn on the banklig firm of Swen-son & Sons. The check was made payable to Mr Patrick.

The check was presented at the bank for certification and owing to an error in the spelling of Patrick's name was held up by the bank's employes. Inquiry at the home of Mr Rice by telephone disclosed the fact that Mr Rice had died the day before the check was presented.

Here are a few maxims from the Chinese: Time flies fike an arrow days and months like a weaver's shut tle. The teacher should not leave his books nor the poor man his pigs. For him who does everything in its proper time one day is worth three. The truths which we least wish to hear are those which it is most to our advantage to know. Attend to your farms and mulberry trees, that you may have sufficient food and clothing. Let every man sweep the snow from before his own doors and not trouble himself about the frost on his neigh-bor's tiles. When the sword is rusty, the plough bright, the prisons empty, the granaries full, the steps of the temple worn down and those of the law courts grass grown, when doctors go afoot, the bakers on horseback, and the men of letters drive in their own carriages, then the empire is well gov erned.

Yesterday afternoon a man strolled over to where the men were putting the finishing touches on the asphalt paving on West Main street. There was a big crowd about the place at the time, but no one seemed to be taking much notice of what was going on, for the reason that most of them had been tired working at the job during the week and were there just to "kill" time. The workmen were run-ning the flat irons over the surface of the new street when this particular sightseer came along and he appeared to be very much amused at the character of the work the men were engaged at. After looking on for a moment or two he exclaimed, "Great Scott! What are we coming to any-Paying men for ironing the way! after a brief pause the gentleman walked off in a hurry, which prompted some joker to remark that he was go ing to have an injunction issued restraining the contractor from using the hot from on the street.

We hear a good deal of talk at election time about the alleged itch of the Irish for political office, and the funny part of it is that this kind of talk is indulged in more by the inferfor class of citizens than it is among other people. The very best element of electors never bestow a though upon the subject, the main question ch left Jersey City at 9:30 to-day on with them being, is the candidate honthe Eric railroad for another trip est and competent. We don't think a man should be supported at the polis because he has Irish blood in his veins, and, on the other hand, we sce no reason why he should be opposed on this account, and, as a rule, he isn't, except by a very small fraccheck. E. J. F. Coleman, Barrington, R. L. pulley block, I. C. When Giovanni Dandonna was mortally wounded in the ditch at Great brook last week, Father Slocum, of Immaculate Conception church, and Father Karam, of the church of Our Lady of Lourdes, administered the last rites of the church to the dying man on the spot, surrounded by a great throng of people, all of whom was over a rough looking fellow pushed his way onto the sidewalk, wiping his face with an old red handkerchief that had almost outlived its usefulness and stood motionless on the curbstone He appeared very much moved at what he had witnessed and finally remarked to some one who had inquired what had happened him, that it was the first time he had shed a tear since he saw Father Corby give absolution to the Union soldiers just before the second day's fighting at Gettysburg. "Half the men," he said, "who fell on their knees to receive the priest's blessing that day were shot dead in the peach orchard a few hours later. I was one of those who came out alive and many a time I regretted that I did not fall with my constades for I was better prepared to go at that time than I ever have been since. little incident that took place there a moment ago," pointing to the ditch, "brought back that scene to me with such vividness that for the time being I scarcely knew where I was standing." It was a very impressive sight, so much so that more than one hard-Jones, Morgan & Co have something ened sinner in the crowd has not ceased talking about it yet.

What has become of all the old 'Yankee" farmers who used to stop at almost every door on the outskirts of the city at this season twenty-five or thirty years ago and fill the people's cellars with farm produce at reason able prices, and if a family happened to be short in funds they could pay when it suited their convenience? Be sides the barrels of beautiful apples. Ladies' heavy diagonal coats, all bags of fine potatoes, cartloads of tur-lined, for $3.98, to-night and Monday nips and cabbages, those genial old gentlemen thought nothing of rolling in a barrel of cider or a jug of "cider's father," or a side of beef, in fact, everything that one wanted to make a plentiful house through the long winter. Those sturdy old pioneers of the rural districts have long since been gathered to their fathers and in most instances the farms they tilled are now in possession of other races of people, Lithuanians, French. Canadians. adians, Swedes, Italians, and a small sprinkling of Irish. Whether there is cause for it or not, we do not know, but in any case the new comers have not as much confidence in the honesty of their patrons as the old "Yank" had in the people that used to gather around his wagon, for in most cases you must have your pocket book in hand, else the farmer of today will move on to the next house, mattering something as he goes in a tongue which few understand. Oh, for the days of the Atwoods, Wheelers, Hotchkisses, Seeleys and others. who invariably filled the cellars of their patrons and then trusted to the earliest convenience. I often think of old Mr Hotchkiss of Prospect, father old Mr Hotelikiss of Prospect, father of our genial ex-alderman, Henry D. Hotelikiss, who used to supply half the town with "stone" turnips that contained enough nutriment to keep body and soul together through the winter months, supposing one never got a taste of anything else.
