Those who fear annihilation by Halley's comet should recall the philosophical utterances of the late Bill Nye on a similar subject: "If we could get close enough to a comet without frightening it away we would find that we could walk through it anywhere as we could through the glare of a torchlight procession. We should so live that COASTER-BRANES, we will not be ashamed to look $ 50 DEDGETHORN a comet in the eye, however. Let us pay our newspaper subscription and live such lives that when the comet strikes us we will be ready."—Ex.

OTHER FISH IN THE SEA.

A teacher in one of our elementary schools had noticed a striking platonic friendship that existed between Tommy and lit-the Mary, two of her pupils.

Tommy was a bright enough youngster, but wasn't disposed to prosecute his studies with much energy, and his teacher raw that unless he stirred himself before the end of the year he wouldn't be promoted.

"Aw." said Tommy, "I guess there'll be other little Marys."-Tit-Bits.

IT WOULDN'T WORK.

A clergyman in a certain town had been much annoyed by the way the members of the congregation had of looking around to take stock of late comers, relates an exchange. After enduring it for some time he said on entering the reading desk one Sunday: "Brethren, I regret to see that your attention is called away from your religious duties by your natural desire to see who comes in behind you. I propose henceforth to save you the trouble by naming each person who enters, and hope that the services will then be allowed to proceed without interruption." He then began, "Dearly beloved," put paused half way to interpolate "Mr. Stubbins with his wife and daughter." Mr. Stubbins was rather surprised, but the minister with perfect gravity, resumed his exhortation. He presently again paused: "Mr. Cur-- KENNA - FIVE - tis and Wm. Diggle," The abashed congregation kept their eyes on their books. The service continued in a most orderly manner, the parson interrupting himself every now and then to name some new comer. At last he said still with the most perfect gravity: "Mrs. Symons in a new bonnet." In a moment he felt his mistake, but it was too late. Every feminine head in the congregation had turned around .- Ex.

is ready to mail. It will be sent to any person interested in fruit-growing on receipt of 7 cents to cover postage. The Stark Year Book for 1910 represents an entirely new idea in nurserymen's literature—it is a work of art as well as a catalogue of Stark Nursery products. Within its covers are 32 full-page illustrations of fruits and flowers, representing 175 varieties, done in four colors, and exactly reproducing nature. 84 pages are devoted to descriptions, prices, and records.

Stark Delicious, the apple that has revolutionized orchard planting and established a new standard of apple values (selling at $10.00 per bushel box this year); Stark King David, another apple of wondrous quality and merit; Stark King Philip, a hardy black grape of California grape quality, and dozens of the very best things in the horticultural world are fully described, illustrated, and priced.

To any one planting one tree or many, of fruits or ornamental, this book is of inestimable value—a horticultural text-book—a guide to proper selection.

Stark trees have stood the supreme test of actual planting for 85 years—they are the yard-stick by which all other nursery products are measured—they are the first choice of this country's most successful orchardists. The success of the orchard is dependent on the kind and quality of tree planted. Stark varieties are the best of the best. Our record of 85 years of successful selling is a positive guarantee of tree quality.

SAVING HIS LIFE.

A story is told of an Englishman who had occasion for a doctor while staying in Peking-

"Sing Loo, gleatest doctor," said his servant; "he savee my lifee once,"

"Really?" queried the Englishman.

"Yes; me tellible awtul," was the reply; "me calle in another doctor. He givee me medicine; me velly, velly bad. Me callee in another doctor. He come and give me medicine, make me velly, velly badder. Me callee in Sing Loo. He no come. He save my life."

Sand a Curse to the Country. Sand is the curse of Portuguese East Africa. It blocks the rivers and harbors and stretches in a vast sen to rd the interior, effectually cutting off the coast towns from the highlands. Hesides, it makes the problem of transportation the bugbear of the planter.

THE COWARDLY EGG.

"When I arose to speak," re lated a martyred statesman, "some one hurled a base, cowardly egg at me, and it struck me on the chest."

"And what kind of an egg might that be?" asked a fresh young man.

"A base, cowardly egg," explained the statesman, "is one that hits you and then runs."-Everybody's.

History Not His Strong Point. A well-known society young man of Buffalo recently shocked one of his lady friends by his ignorance of history. It was after a dinner party at his house, and she was telling him history class. One thing led to an-"If they'd only ask for something other, and all the time he was getting into deeper water. At last she surprised him by inquiring: , what are the Knights while, and finally blurted out: "Why, Saturday nights, I suppose."
