Items of Interest in Clovis Church Circles

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The manner in which the studies of the Book of Revelation have been received and appreciated by those who have attended the Presbyterian Church for the past two Sundays is very encouraging. We shall continue these expositions of that important Book of the Bible until we have considered it in detail throughout. The studies will be of much more interest and value to you if you will not miss any of them. It isn't too late for you to start with us from the beginning. Read the first two chapters of Revelation and come to the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning.

In the evening at 7:15 the pastor will preach on the subject: "The True Church." So many seem to be at sea as to what is the true church and of whom it is composed. Come and hear and be at sea no longer.

The Sunday School meets every Sunday at 9:45 a. m. Your interest and presence are needed.

A cordial welcome is awaiting all who may worship with us next Sunday.

TED P. HOLIFIELD, Pastor.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Exceptional loyalty to all the services, weather considered, was manifested on last Lord's Day. There were 65 in attendance at Bible School, all but four or five of whom remained for church. A splendid evening audience attended at 7:00 o'clock, and the Junior Christians held an interesting meeting at 3 in the afternoon.

All regular services next Sunday. Please don't miss, as no one can fill your place.

I. N. JETT, Minister.

NOTICE TO BAPTISTS

urged to be present at both services. Rev. Kennedy has been state Evangelist in Missouri for a number of years and is one of the strong preachers of that state. The committee desires every Baptist to be present at a conference of the church will likely be called at some time during the day.

Also remember Sunday School at 9:45. New plans are to be put into effect for the year's work, so please be present.

Teachers meeting Friday evening and every teacher is urged to be present.

Committee.

The Palace Cafe has again resumed serving meals. Mr. James Dudley, who has a reputation as chef, is the new proprietor. There is no reason why he will not make it a success.

Mr. Roush of Benjamin, Texas, was here last week looking after his land interests. While here he made arrangements to do a lot of fencing on his holdings between Bovina and Friona.

B. F. Rumsey of Chicago has arrived and is installed at the local broom factory, as one of the broom makers. His wife and children accompanied him, as did his wife's brother.

The local broom factory is making several large shipments of brooms to Kansas. The factory is a busy place nowadays. The housewives in this community should demand a home made broom, as the brooms turned out seem to be of good quality.

Robert Morse, who has been in Illinois for the past several months, arrived here Friday of last week. He was accompanied by his mother, who will visit here for several weeks, when both will return to Illinois. ### SHIPS HAVE DISTILLERIES

"Yes," said F. D. Richardson of the local Naval Recruiting Office, "every ship in the Navy has its own distillery. Sounds bad, doesn't it. But all it's used for is to distill water. It's part of the engineering plant. You see, our Navy spends most of its time floating around in salt water, and salt water will put a ship's boilers out of commission mighty quick. You can't always be running to port to get fresh water either, so they put a lot of salt water into an evaporator, a big tank with steam pipes running through it. These pipes heat the salt water until it boils, and changes to steam, which passes through pipes into a distiller, leaving the salt behind. All the distiller does is to cool the steam until it changes to fresh water. Good drinking water, too—they use boiled water in the hospitals, I hear. Takes out all the germs. That is the reason why sailors are so healthy."

"I was showing an old lady visitor around my ship one day when she saw the name 'distiller' in the engine room, she started to boil over herself. Wouldn't let me explain, and left the ship saying she would write to the Navy department about how all the sailors were making whiskey."

GLORIA SWANSON in
Cecil B. DeMille's 'Male and Female'
A Paramount-Schloft Picture

The day following the showing of the "Miracle Man" the people upon the streets were saying "absolutely the greatest picture I ever saw."

"Male and Female" is not built upon the same idea at all, but it ranks upon an equal footing as a super-pho production with the "Miracle Man." There are some who say that "Male and Female" is even a greater picture.

It has been said that Shakespeare was the poet of the people and that Sardou was a playwright of the people.

Such a combination insures you a literary production that has a flawless technique, a thrilling, purposeful story in which love, adventure, and whimsical humor are delightfully blended. Scenarios that have lived heretofore only in the realm of a most fanciful imagination. All in all it is a picture that will capture your heart. You should not fail to see it.

"Male and Female" will be presented at the Lyceum Theatre three nights, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, January 20, 21, and 22.

MILK IN WINTER

Why do your cows give less milk in winter than they do in summer? Just because nature does not supply them with grasses and green food. But we have come to the assistance of Dame Nature with B. A. Thomas' Stock Remedy, which contains the very ingredients that the green feed supplies in season, only, of course in a more highly concentrated form. We guarantee that this remedy will make your cows give more milk, and better milk, with the same feed. A. B. Austin & Company.
