ANSWERS DEATH'S CALL.

Mrs. E. J. Graves Dies Wednesday Evening.

After Long Suffering She Rinses Away at Her Home in Beaver.

After months of severe and constant suffering Mrs. Eliza J. Graves, died of consumption, at the family residence in Beaver, at 6:30 yesterday evening. In her last moments she sank quietly away. Her husband and two daughters were at her bedside when the end came.

She had been suffering more or less from pulmonary trouble for a long while. Some years ago, realizing the serious nature of her condition, and acting upon the advice of her physicians, she concluded to seek health resorts in the hope of restoration to health. Accordingly she visited Eureka Springs, and afterwards Colorado Springs and Manitou and points in Arizona, but her efforts to regain health were in vain. In the fall of 1899, she went to San Antonio for a change of climate and medical treatment and came back to Beaver for the last time in the spring of the following year. None of these trips were apparently beneficial except in a temporary way.

In December last her condition became so bad that she could barely sit up at any time and she was henceforth unable to leave her bed. During all her suffering she was tenderly cared for by her loving daughters, and other relatives and friends. All was done that could have been done for her, in the way of care and medical treatment. By skillful treatment, Dr. Munsell who faithfully attended her, did much to prolong her life. But in spite of all that could be accomplished in this way she sank steadily until the thread connecting soul and body was severed.

Mrs. Eliza Jane Graves was born in Iowa, February 13, 1850. While she was a child she removed to Indiana with her parents. There she received her education in the public schools. Her parents died when she was a young woman. On October 9, 1867, she was married to Asael Graves. By this union were born to them four children—one son and three daughters, all of whom are still living, except one daughter, Mrs. Alice Herron. In 1882 she and her husband moved from Indiana to Girard, Kansas, living there till 1886, when they moved to Benton, in this county. A few years later they moved to Beaver, where she bought the Beaver Hotel which she sold a year and a half ago owing to her poor health.

The deceased was a lady of excellent personal characteristics. She was highly esteemed by those who knew her. In early life she became connected with the Baptist church and later became a member of the organization called the Degree of Honor, a branch of the A. O. U. W. As a wife and mother she was kind and thoughtful, and her departure occasions the deepest sorrow. She left to mourn her loss a husband and one son, E. W. Graves, and Mrs. R. H. Lofbourrow and Mrs. Dyke Ballinger, who have the sympathy of the community in their deep bereavement.

The funeral services will be held at the home Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and interment will be made in the Beaver cemetery.

MRS. EMMA BAKER.

Mrs. Emma Emaline Baker, wife of John Baker of Logan township, died at her home about noon, Friday March 29, 1901. Her illness was short, she being sick only a little over a week. Death came swiftly notwithstanding efforts to save her life.

The subject of this sketch was born in Kansas in 1880, and when yet a mere child moved with her parents to Logan township, in this county, where she resided till death. In November 1898, she was united in marriage with John Baker. By this union were born to them two children, the younger of which died in infancy a week before its mother's death; the other child is living. During her illness she was attended by Dr. Miller of Custer and on the day before she died Dr. L. S. Munsell was called to her bedside but at that time all hopes of her recovery were abandoned.

Mrs. Baker was an estimable woman, possessing all the attributes essential to true and noble womanhood. She was a kind and faithful wife. She was a member of the Christian church and lived a consistent Christian life. Her friends were many. It is a matter of deep regret that her life which gave promise of much future usefulness should have ended so early in years. In spite of the care of friends and skillful medical assistance given her, death had placed its seal on her eyelids and she was called from earth. Shortly before her death she requested that the remains of her deceased child be disinterred and buried with her, which request was complied with.

The funeral services to the memory of the deceased were conducted by Rev. J. J. Bagley of this place. The remains, followed by a large concourse of people, were conveyed to their last resting place in the Logan cemetery.

JACK QUINN.

Jack, the five weeks old child of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Quinn died on Saturday, March 30, 1901, of spasms. The child was taken ill suddenly Friday afternoon, and as soon as Dr. Munsell arrived from Logan the following night, he was called out to see the child but was unable to save the child's life. The burial took place at the Beaver cemetery Sunday at eleven o'clock. The parents have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

Serious Accident.

Albert Anthony, of Elmwood township was seriously injured Sunday by being thrown from a horse, the injury resulting in concussion of the brain. He and some other boys were riding out between the residences of Wesley Hibbs and Asa Hibbs when the horse he was riding became unmanageable and ran into a fence throwing him forward to the ground. He sustained the severest injuries about the head and face. He was taken to the home of Asa Hibbs and Dr. L. S. Munsell was at once summoned. Mr. Anthony remained unconscious for some time after the accident occurred. Tuesday his condition was much improved and he was able to eat. The doctor thinks he will recover.

Destroyed by Fire.

The residence of Mrs. Elvira Cartmel burned down last night. The house and its contents including some $50 in money was burned. The cause of the fire is unknown. None of the family were injured. A subscription paper for aid for Mrs. Cartmel in her misfortune is being circulated. Lack of space and time prevents a detailed account.

An execution and garnishment summons was issued on Anna W. Neal by Judge Tannehill to recover from Mrs. Cora Kile the costs adjudged against her in the case of the Territory of Oklahoma vs. J. C. Neal. The costs, amounting to $45.40 were collected in full.
