Southern Christian Advocate to Be Published In Anderson

CONTRACT AWARDED THE ANDERSON DAILY INTELLIGENCER

REV. KIRKLAND WILL ALSO COME

Is Official Organ of the South Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

By unanimous vote of the board of managers, the contract for the publishing of the Southern Christian Advocate, the official organ of the South Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has been awarded to The Anderson Daily Intelligencer. This action was taken by the managers at a conference held yesterday in Columbia for the purpose of awarding the contract for the printing of this publication.

Editor to Move Here.

The Rev. William Clarke Kirkland, recently elected editor of the Advocate, will move to Anderson within the next few days, in order that he may give his personal attention to the publishing of the paper. The Rev. Mr. Kirkland and his family will prove a very welcome addition to the religious life of the city, and that Anderson is to be the "home" of the official organ of the Methodist Conference in this State will prove a source of gratification to the members of this and other denominations in this city and county.

At Greenville Now.

As generally known, the Southern Christian Advocate has been published in Greenville for the past three years or more. Prior to that time the paper was published in Spartanburg. At the recent conference, which was held in Sunter, the Rev. Mr. Kirkland was chosen editor of the publication, to succeed the Rev. S. A. Nettles.

The New Editor.

The new editor of the Advocate is well known to members of the Methodist and other denominations of this city, but for the information of those who may not be so well acquainted with him, the following personal sketch is published:

Today there is not among the young men of South Carolina Conference a better equipped and more promising young preacher than William C. Kirkland. Strong in physical manhood; striking in appearance; largely endowed by nature with intellectual powers; his mind trained in the best institutions of our Methodism and richly stored with treasures of knowledge; coming of sterling Methodist stock and from a home of Christian nurture; his heart filled and fired with all his powers in full touch with the infinite, he stands equipped for skilled service for the Master.

He is the fifth son of E. C. Kirkland, Sr., M. D., and Mrs. Jennie M. Kirkland. His early education was under the training of good teachers in the Philadelphia Academy of his home community. He was further prepared for college by a two years' course at Wofford College, graduating with the degree of A. B. in 1893, and taking the A. M. degree the following year.

He joined Mizpah Methodist church under the ministry of Rev. T. E. Morris, May 9, 1886, and was licensed to preach of the Quarterly Conference of Bamberg and Buford's Bridge charge, held in Trinity church, Bamberg, S. C., July 4, 1897; Rev. J. Walter Dickson, P. E.

After his graduation from Wofford College, in order to fit himself more fully for the great work of his high calling as a minister of the glorious gospel committed to his trust, he attended the Biblical Department of the Vanderbilt University. While in attendance there he was ordained deacon in Tulip Street church, Nashville, Tenn., by Bishop O. P. Fitzgerald, November 3, 1895. He graduated from the Vanderbilt with the degree of B. D. in 1896, and was immediately called to fill the vacancy in the pastorate of the Washington Street church, in Columbia, S. C., caused by the election of Dr. John A. Rice from that charge to the presidency of the Columbia Female College.

He was admitted on trial into the South Carolina Conference in 1896, and has regularly passed all examinations and was ordained elder by Bishop R. K. Hargrove at the session of the Conference at Chester. In the charges served by him he has been earnest and faithful.

October 9, 1900, he was married in Bethel church, Charleston, to Miss Lalla Capers Stokes. Theirs is an ideal union for the work of the Methodist Itinerary. Life for them is replete with promise of richest blessing and vast usefulness. The host of friends of Dr. William C. Kirkland, watching his career with interest will not be disappointed.

Bidders From Here.

There were two bidders from Anderson for the publishing of the Advocate, the Oulla Printing and Binding company and The Anderson Daily Intelligencer. The bids were finally narrowed down by the board of managers to those of these two companies and the Dillon Herald. From these three the final selection was made. The Anderson Daily Intelligencer was represented at the meeting by Mr. W. W. Smeak, editor and manager. The Oulla Printing and Binding company was represented by the owner, Mr. J. Homer Oulla.

POLEY CATHARTIC TABLETS

ATLANTA LETTER

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 18.—The Atlanta Grand Jury, again in the midst of a sensational investigation of the city's fashionable clubs, to determine whether or not their sale of beverages to members violates the prohibition laws. The jury has found itself handicapped by having nearly every jurymen a member of at least one such club, and has got around this disqualification question by using alternate jurymen.

A jurymen who is a member of the Capital City Club will retire while that club is under consideration. He will come back, however, to pass on the Piedmont Driving Club, in any other of which he is not a member. The court takes the incisive position that a member of one club will have no sympathy for another.

Jurymen whose relatives are club members are barred, and this brought from one member a protest.

"How about you fellows whose daughters attend every club dance?" he asked. "That's as close as being kin to club members."

It was expected that little will come of the investigation, which has been undertaken several times before.

Forrest Adair, for many years potentate of the Yaarab Temple of Shriners, has been re-elected for another year, after a good natured race in which he defeated Walter P. Andrews, almost as popular in Atlanta as Mr. Adair himself. Plans for sending a big delegation to the Seattle convention next summer are being put under way.

The Shriners won a point in a lawsuit this week when Judge H. L. Patterson of the Blue Ridge circuit issued a temporary injunction prohibiting the negro order which calls itself the "Ancient Egyptian Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine" from using the word "Shrine" in its title. Judge Patterson was called upon by the local temple for the reason that every local judge is a Shriner and therefore disqualified. Mr. Adair led the movement to stop the African order from using the Shriners' name and insignia.

Seven bishops of the northern and southern branches of the Methodist church are in session this week at a local hotel in an effort to reunite the two branches, which separated over the slavery question in 1844.

The movement is gaining interest in Atlanta church circles particularly at this time because the Eggleston Memorial, a "Northern Methodist" church long established here, is planning a more pretentious edifice near Druid Hills, and it is believed that if the junction of the two branches is put through the new building will be of benefit to many more members than would otherwise be the case.

J. N. Doherty, an Atlanta Elk, is suffering from a rather severe cold contracted by yelling at 2 o'clock in the morning in the chilly 12 degree weather. It happened because he slumbered in a bath room in the new Elks club, long after the building was closed and it is believed that if his way to the main floor and located the front door. To his delight it opened easily and when he closed it behind him it locked. Then to his dismay he found that a handsome steel gridded door still barred his path to the sidewalk. He was then between two doors, both of which were firmly locked, and with the morning wind whistling past, Doherty yelled until he awoke the neighbors, who called the police. The cops broke off the lock with their clubs and Doherty hurried to the hotel where the steam radiators were in full blast.

Another, and perhaps the final, effort to save the life of Leo M. Frank was made by his attorneys yesterday afternoon before Judge W. T. Newman of the United States district court. Judge Newman has the matter under advisement and an early decision is expected.

The lawyers filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which was based on the ground that when Frank was absent from the courtroom as the verdict was read his constitutional rights were violated, and when this was done the state courts lost jurisdiction in the case.

In the event Judge Newman issues such an order the State will have its first opportunity or reason for an appeal to the United States supreme court. Should he deny the writ, Frank can appeal, so it may appear that the condemned man has many months of life before him no matter which turn the case may take.

Should Judge Newman grant the writ, and should he be sustained by the high tribunal, Frank would be discharged from custody, a free man.

His lawyers are making this move in the hope of getting the case before the United States supreme court on its merits.

Atlanta will have two big Sunday motion picture shows all next Sunday afternoon and evening, though no admission fee can be charged. Voluntary contributions will be taken for the Atlanta poor.

LOCAL COMMITTEE ON BELGIAN RELIEF TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

DECIDED LAST NIGHT NOT TO ATTEMPT MEETING THEN

GOODLY SUMS

Unofficially Reported by Pastors of Various City Churches.

Owing to the non-attendance of several members of the committee, and believing that a more satisfactory statement of results obtained could be had after the approaching Sunday, the local committee in charge of the canvass for donations to the Belgian Relief Fund decided upon meeting at the Chamber of Commerce last night that an adjourned meeting of the committee would be held Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock at the same place.

Last night was the time set for the committee and other interested persons to gather at the chamber of commerce and determine the results of the canvass to the Belgian Relief Fund, and also discuss the matter of local charity, the community Christmas tree idea and other matters of a kindred nature. Only a very few persons, some of them not members of the committee, repaired to the chamber of commerce last night for the meeting, which had been widely advertised.

After it was seen that not enough members of the committee would be present to transact any business and that not enough persons at large were present to take up the matter of organizing a local relief measure, it was decided to adjourn the meeting until Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This move was also considered advisable for the reason that several subscription envelopes, which were distributed last Sunday, had not been turned in. Dr. Forster of the First Presbyterian church reported that the envelopes distributed among his congregation had not been collected. Members of this and other congregations of the city who have received these contribution envelopes are earnestly requested to turn them in Sunday to their respective churches, with the words "For Belgian Relief Fund" plainly written on the envelopes.

It was unofficially reported last night that the collections from the congregation of Episcopal church amounted to some $35 or $37 dollars, that the sum of $2150 had been collected from the congregation of the First Baptist church, that some $50 would be received from the Paramount theatre and that some $14 would be turned over by The Intelligencer, this amount having been collected in a campaign started by this paper before any movement of this nature was started in the city through any other agency.

on his devotion and his ability.

"To say that by his death the senate lost one of its ablest and most experienced members feebly expresses the truth," said Senator Smith. "He came to the senate splendidly equipped for his work. He gave to the duties of the senate all of his ability and all of his life. Service as a senator was the thought and joy of his life. He brought to the service a devotion rarely equalled and never excelled."

Senator Thomas W. Hardwick joined his Georgia colleagues in eulogizing upon the former statesman, and seven other senators from as many states paid glowing tributes to Senator Bacon's memory.

The Atlanta police force, which has had its hands full with burglaries and hold-ups recently, has been increased by twenty-three men for the Christmas holidays, when street traffic is heaviest and when pickpockets and burglars are busiest.

A strong effort is being made to find funds for a permanent increase of the police force. Atlanta covers an unusually wide territory even for her large population, and it is impossible for the present force adequately to cover it. It is a common remark for a citizen to make that: "I haven't seen a policeman in my home street in years. My children don't know what a policeman looks like."

MRS. W. A. HUDGENS, Editor Phone 37.

Misses Jennie and Lal Cunningham, Laura Horton and Susie Anderson of Converse College are at home to spend the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. J. H. Herring, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. W. Morrison left yesterday for her home at La Grange, Ga.

Mrs. D. S. Taylor and little Miss Ann Taylor left yesterday for Atlanta to spend the Christmas holidays with relatives. Mr. Taylor will go over next week.

Miss Lalla Mae Dial, who has been visiting Mrs. G. B. Greene and Miss Jessie Browne, left yesterday for her home at Laurens.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eagle are moving today from their country home two or three miles west of town, to the house of Mrs. H. C. Townsend on West Whitner street. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beatty, who have been making their home at Hotel Chiquola for several years, will make their home with them.

Mrs. J. L. Tribble has returned from a visit to relatives at Easley.

Miss Kate Liddell has been called to Lowndesville by the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. T. C. Liddell, which occurred on Wednesday.

Mrs. S. D. Cook of Lowndesville spent yesterday with friends here.

A thirst is a great blessing if you can get Chero-Cola. Drink it from the bottle—through a straw. Always uniform. Perfectly delicious.
