South Carolina Hog Industry. The remarkable increase of the hog industry in South Carolina in recent years is shown by the hog census just completed under direction of W. W. Long, head of the farm demonstration work in this state. The census was made by school districts through the demonstration agents in each county and shows an increase of 30 per cent in hog raising since the census of 1910—and an increase of 50 per cent of mature hogs in that time.

There were raised last year for home use and for sale 873,337 mature hogs as against 660,000 hogs in 1910 counting in these census figures Spring pigs which are not included in the figures for last year. The number of hogs raised in the state last year for home use was 642,629, and the number raised for sale last year were 280,708. It is estimated that the number of hogs which will be grown for sale this year will be 324,609. The number which will be grown for home use, it is estimated, will be larger this

Another interesting fact in connection with the hog census is that the industry is greater in the low country than in the up-country. Williamsburg county is the banner in the hog industry, having grown over 50,000 last June as the day for opening the club year, while Pickens county in the northern end of the state raised less rollment will be the same as two than 10,000. It was pointed out that approximately 2,000 negroes are employed in this branch of work in the different textile plants throughout the state and that a complete readjustment would be necessary in providing methods of transferring heavy goods. The latest interpretation is that negro truckmen shall not come within the confines of the law, and the necessity of the textile manufacturers carrying the case to the courts is thus obviated
