Poole; and Miss Moore, daughter of J. A. Moore.

Mr. Covington, the Superintendent of the Graded Schools arrived Friday night and will spend some days here. He will probably endeavor to have private teachers arrange their classes so as that the transition to the Graded School System shall be made with as little friction as possible. He will also urge, as far as practicable, the adoption of the same text books as will be used in the Graded Schools.

The Sallie cotton elevator is just now attracting widespread attention. A gentleman in Richland county certifies that cotton carried to the gin by the elevator brought one cent a pound more than that carried in baskets, both lots having been ginned by the same gin and taken from the same pile. The buyer did not know of the different methods either. The test seems to have been a perfect one, and five dollars a bale is a consideration sure to make farmers investigate the claims of the elevator. It is sold by W. H. Gibbs & Co., of Columbia, whose advertisement of it is to be seen in another column.

The Fair Postponed.

The executive committee of the county agricultural society met yesterday. It was decided to postpone the annual fair twelve months. The cause assigned is lack of interest. A meeting will be held at the usual time of holding the fair to elect officers. Now let the farmers all over the county send exhibits to Gray Court and make that event a grand success. Sept. 25 is the date.

Moved.

Mr. Conits to his house corner Main and Cornhill Sts.; Mr. Dunk Adams and Mr. B. C. Crisp to the house corner of street formerly occupied by Mrs. Harris; Mr. West Harris and Mrs. N. S. Harris to the house on Laurel St. vacated by Mr. Conits; Mr. G. S. McCarty to Capt. Moore's house in Jersey; Mr. Jno. Franks to his new house in Jersey; and Mr. Henry Garrison to his new house near Mr. Eichelberger's.

The Jury.

The following petit jurors were drawn yesterday to serve at the ensuing term of court.

Win. A. Reeves, Wm. Conits, Wm. Waddell, Jno. R. Fuller, Jas. V. Culbertson, Robert C. Dillard, Willie H. Bryson, W. L. Cooper, B. S. Gidding, Jesse A. Wood, J. P. Jones, Wm. H. Glenn, Jno. D. Cheek, Jno. F. Sloan, J. H. Crane, Thos. Emore, Jno. H. Henley, Geo. A. Martha, Samuel M. Cooper, S. G. Balle, W. H. Drummond, Jas. E. Abrams, I. G. Lowe, Wm. L. Fox, F. Bell, B. R. Austin, M. G. Wells, Harrison Copeland, Isaac A. Adair, Sam'l Ball, Jno. C. Carter, J. L. Crawford, C. B. Adams, C. C. Bailey, Jno. J. Riddle, Pierce M. Hellams.

The Colored Presbyterians.

McClelland Presbytery of the Northern church met in Mr. Pisgah church of this city last Thursday night. The Presbytery included the churches of Chester, York, Laurens, Newberry, Abbeville, Aiken, Anderson and Richland. Eight ministers and seven lay delegates were present the first night. Rev. Jno. P. Foster preached the opening sermon and Rev. J. S. Williams was chosen moderator. D. D. Davis, a young colored man of this county, was examined and licensed to preach. Cross Hill Notes.

Rain has been the order of the day for the past week, but as far as we can learn no damage to the crops. The prospect for a crop was never better than at present.

The health of the community is now good.

Our town is still booming, stores, and dwelling houses being built and people every day all wanting lots, houses and stores. We are glad to know that our railroad, the G. C. & N., is now completed to Athens, Ga., and trains are running regularly to and from that point.

Hon. John G. Williams has moved to town and we gladly welcome him as a citizen.

Mr. J. L. Watkins has removed his family to his new home near Green Pond.

Gov. A. M. Hassell has been elected principal of the High School at this place. He is a man of reputation of Mr. Hassell as a divine, a scholar and teacher is a guarantee of the success of the school. We are not informed as to the time the school will open.

SCIENCE.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The Academy.

As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, the Male Academy will open on Monday, the 14th inst. Mr. T. J. Mauldin will be principal. Mr. Mauldin is a graduate of the Citadel of the class of '91 and is highly recommended. Capt. W. W. Kennedy will continue as assistant. There is every reason to believe that the Academy will continue to afford thorough instruction and we bespeak for it a good patronage. This absence from school is ruinous to a pupil and it won't do for parents to keep their boys at home until January.

Col. Evans to Go to Newberry.

We neglected to note last week the election of Col. Frank Evans to the superintendency of the Newberry Graded School; a fact upon which the people of Newberry are to be congratulated.

The Newberry Observer published a number of strong letters of recommendation upon which the Newberry trustees acted in making their choice. Among them the following one from our estimation, more consideration than all the others, hearty as they were, and no teacher ever received a more sincere or convincing testimonial to his worth:

LAURENS, S. C., August 17, 1891.

MR. J. P. K. GOGGANS, Newberry, S. C.

DEAR SIR:—Enclosed you will please find a testimonial given up among the pupils of Prof. Evans. It was a voluntary action of his boys and wholly unknown to Prof. Evans.

Most respectfully yours,

CHAR. W. BURNSIDE.

LAURENS, S. C., Aug. 13th, 1891.

To the Trustees of Graded Schools of Newberry, S. C.

The undersigned youths of Laurens beg leave respectfully to present to you your body:

They have each during the last eight years been pupils of Col. Frank Evans and have been under his instruction and training for the colleges and universities and for the active duties of life. We take pleasure in calling to your attention the fact that many of them have taken distinguished places in the colleges to which they have gone.

His discipline without severity has secured the success of his school, and his uniform kindness and courtesy have earned for him our friendship and love. We feel confident that he is entitled to the highest positions in the educational institutions in our land. (Here follow 40 signatures.)

The Observer also published a strong letter of endorsement from Mr. L. W. Simkins and the following from the other graded school trustees of Laurens:

We take pleasure in stating that we esteem Col. Frank Evans very highly as an excellent teacher and disciplinarian and a worthy citizen, and that his non election to the superintendency of the Laurens Graded Schools, for which he had applied, was owing solely to certain local friction.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor moved into their new house several weeks since, and now have the house about completed. Mrs. Taylor's brother, Dr. Bates from Orangeburg, has been on a visit to them.

Mrs. Frank McGowan is visiting friends in Abbeville.

Rev. W. A. Clarke closed his meeting at Shiloh last Wednesday and is now holding a meeting at Trinity.

Mrs. Henry Wright and children from Clinton ward, and Mrs. Jno. Jordan and daughter from Greenville, have been visiting at Rev. W. A. Clarke's.

The recent high waters made the river impassable for a time and all travel was stopped. Many wagons and their teams had to be driven to houses on this side and left for the night. When will we have a bridge? We have put up with this inconvenience about a year, paid heavy taxes and still no prospect of a bridge soon.

From the number of vehicles that passed yesterday afternoon with colored people from their associations at Clinton, the little town of Clinton must have been full to overflowing. For several hours the clattering of tongues and noise of wheels could be heard on the streets, reminding one more of a circus than an association.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all chronic Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. A Memory.

I turned toward the old gentleman and asked if this were the daughter he had been telling me of.

"Yes, and a better girl, more unselfish, never lived. She was always thinking of some pleasant surprise for her friends—and they were all well and happy. It is now twenty years since she left us. You passed near her grave just before you turned up to the house. A short time before she died she told us to bury her there."

"I noticed the monument as I passed, and rode out to the grave, in fact spent some time out there."

I now mentioned to him the visit of the stranger to the grave.

"Ah! Charles Kingsley. He has returned then. I did not know it. He has been from home some time. As you seem interested, I will tell their story."

"I would be greatly pleased if you would. I became very much interested in your daughter before the appearance of Mr. Kingsley, and after he came was still more excited."

The following is the heart history of Charles Kingsley and Margaret Harrison. I know that it loses much of its interest if had for me—so many things lacking to add to the interest. The simple pathos of the aged father, the silent tears of the weeping mother, the beautiful face looking serenely down on us—are all missing.

Half a mile above here is the home of John Kingsley, my lifelong friend. He was a boy in childhood we were constantly together; in fact we were almost inseparable. We married at the same time and place. Our pleasures and close intimacy did not cease then, nor has it to this day. In the course of time a son was born to him and a daughter to me. It was the unspoken wish of each that the children should grow up and bind still closer the tie between us. This wish was never spoken, nor did either of us ever intimate such a desire to Charles and Margie; for we thought if it were God's will it would bring it about.

Well, as the years went by they showed similar likes and dislikes with one exception. Margie was of a retiring nature, little disposed to display, cared nothing much for gay parties and society, but preferred to gather her special friends together and spend a quiet evening with them. Charles was fond of society, and was the gayest among the gay; but if Margie were in the crowd, he was always to be found near her, and ever and anon would turn to her with some remark. Then his voice became tender and a soft light shone from his brilliant blue eyes. He was very ambitious, but never a noble ambition. At nineteen they were both engaged, and came home after an absence of four years. During this time they had not seen a great deal of each other, but had corresponded.

"Each had striven for the highest honors, and each won. During the summer the two were together, a favorite place with them being the spot where she is buried. The summer passed quietly with them, and though both were general favorites, neither visited much or received many visitors. Charles was to enter a law school in the fall to prepare himself for his chosen profession. Margie was going at the same time to visit some relatives and friends in another state. Just before their departure, the Kingsleys spent the day with us, and in the evening as they were beginning to prepare for departure, Charles, drawing Margie's hand through his arm, said:

"Fare you well, Harrison," he always called us so—"father and mother, before we separate I have one request to make. To-morrow I leave home, again to plunge into the deep pleasures of the student. Margie also leaves to be absent some time. From my earliest boyhood, she has been my idol, my queen, and my dear friend. I have loved her from the day she was born, and I shall love her to the end of my life."

"My son," said Kingsley, "this is the realization of a hope as old as yourself. Since you and Margie were prattling babes, it has been my wish that you and she should marry. May you be thrice blessed. And Margie, taking her in his arms and kissing her, the day on which you are indeed my daughter, will be the happiest of my life."

"My consent was as readily given and amid blessings and tears they separated."

"Margie was absent two months. She returned about the last of October. She had not been well for nearly a month, and soon after her return was compelled to take her bed. At first we thought nothing serious of it, but as she daily grew weaker, our fears got the better of us and we saw that ere long we would have to bid our darling farewell. She had been home about two weeks, when one morning she told me to send for Charles without delay. 'I have not long for this world,' she added."

I immediately telegraphed him and also sent for his parents. When they arrived she had us all assembled in her room, servants too, and began talking her approaching end. Well, sir, when she began there was not a dry eye in the room. She begged us to dry our tears. There is nothing to weep for. You will be separated from me but a short time, and my Saviour wants me. Then she began talking of the beauties and glories of Heaven, and the great love of the Saviour for us."

"Sir, I have heard some of the most gifted preachers, I have heard sermons that seemed to carry you into the very presence of God, but never have I heard anything to equal the words of that dying girl to her sorrowing friends. As she proceeded the tears ceased, and we went forward to catch every word that fell from her lips. It seemed as if she were already in Heaven, and was describing the beauties and glories she saw to us standing at the gate. Her face shone with the light of inspiration and almost dazzled us by its brilliancy. Every face in the room reflected the light from her face. I thought I was a Christian before then, but I was mistaken. I never knew what it was to be a true follower of Christ till I stood by her dying bed and listened to her parting words. I resolved then that Jesus Christ should be my example henceforth and that I would follow in his steps as nearly as the human could imitate the divine."

"Charles reached home next morning. What passed between them, they and the angels alone know. The scene was too sacred for mortal eyes to witness. She died that day. You have seen her resting place. The preacher I told you of proved a blessing to us. His sympathy and words of consolation and hope helped to heal more than one broken heart. He and Charles were almost inseparable for a time. Charles plans were entirely changed. He gave up law and entered the ministry. His work since then has been almost incessant. He has labored in crowded cities, lonely mountain districts, where ever a messenger was needed to tell dying men of a Saviour's wonderful love, and his shoaves have been many. Having suffered himself he seems able to touch as with a magic wand the hardened heart of the sinner and bring him to repentance. All classes have heard and been moved by his eloquence; but he prefers doing missionary work in the slums of our great cities and the wild and lonely mountains almost beyond the influences of civilization. He has never married, and every autumn he visits the spot sacred to the memory of his only love.

THE END.

EDITOR ADVERTISER:

I have never written anything for publication, but I believe you all like to get all the news you can. I will give you some of the happenings at this place.

On last Friday night between nine and ten o'clock a crowd of men armed with guns and pistols came on my place, pushed open doors, broke in windows and entered two of the colored laborers' houses. They succeeded in finding a negro by the name of Wyatt James. They wanted to whip him, and carried him over near Hopewell school and gave him a beating with a wet rope. I know no cause for it, only their selfish motives. There were perhaps fifteen or twenty in the crowd, all of the same crowd that has been whipping negroes and making disturbances for years on that side of the river. Now, they have crossed over.

You may publish all or part of this as you please.

Mrs. Matilda Summerell has been quite sick for the past week.

Miss Lulu Johnson, of Jacksonville, who has been visiting friends and relatives in this section the past week, has returned home.

Miss Nora Bennett, of Greenville county, is visiting friends and relatives in this section.

Miss Ida Taylor, of Greenville county, who has been visiting in this section the past week, has returned home.

At a regular meeting of the Loafers Club at Hairston's Shop, the subject of the cotton market was discussed, and all agree that if the prop'r authorities do not put up the bridge across the river at Laurens, C. H., and if our County Commissioners do not have the road leading from the poor house fixed better, that this part of the county will be compelled to haul our cotton crop to Clinton for sale, lien or no lien.

With a feeble appetite and imperfect digestion, it is impossible for the body to secure the requisite amount of nourishment. Ayer's Sarsaparilla not only stimulates the desire for food, but aids the assimilative organs in the formation of good blood and sound tissue.

If you could see your own scalp through an ordinary magnifying glass, you would be amazed at the amount of dust thereon accumulated. The best and most popular preparation for cleansing the scalp is Ayer's Hair Vigor.

A fact that all men with gray or many shaded whiskers should know, that Buckingham's Dye always colors even brown or black at will.

Wm. Sprague Smith, Providence, R. I., writes: "I find Bradyrotine always cures headache."

Mittie M. Tanner, Boonville, Ind., writes: "I had blood poison from birth. Knots on my limbs were as large as hen's eggs. Doctors said I would be a cripple, but B. B. B. has cured me sound and well. I shall ever praise the day the men who invented Blood Balm were born."

You take no risk in buying Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is everywhere recognized as the standard building-up medicine and blood purifier. It has won its way to the front by its own intrinsic merit, and has the largest sale of any preparation of its kind. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Be sure to get Hood's.

"A word to the wise is sufficient," but it is not always wise to say that word to one who is suffering the tortures of a headache. However, always risk it and recommend Bradyrotine.

NOTICE OF SETTLEMENT AND APPLICATION FOR FINAL DISCHARGE.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will, on the 5th day of Nov., 1891, at Laurens C. H. S. C., at the office of John M. Clardy, Judge of Probate, and by his permission, settle the estate of Mrs. Kate Glenn, deceased, and at the same time apply for a final discharge.

All creditors of said estate will render at said time an account of their demands, duly attested, or be forever barred, and all persons indebted to said estate must settle on or before said date.

Brewerton Brevities.

J. H. Simmons and J. T. Medlock, of Greenville, spent a while with relatives at this place since our last.

Miss Minnie Balentine and Johnnie visited friends near Due West last week and report a jolly time.

Two beautiful young ladies paid us a brief visit not long since who we hope will not forget to come back soon.

The Presbyterian meeting at this place, which was conducted by that noble and earnest divine, Rev. Henderson, closed a few days ago.

Augustus Huff, one of our best farmers, has rented out his large plantation at this place and will move to Laurens to do business another year.

J. A. Balentine will leave also about the 15th inst. for Laurens, where he will be engaged with the well known firm, Minter & Jamieson. We wish our young friend much success in his new undertaking in life.

Dr. Balentine reports the health of the community exceptionally good for this season of the year.

The singing school at this place closed last Saturday. The music on that occasion was simply grand and soul-stirring. Some of Mr. Gallagher's and many of Princeton's beautiful young ladies and gallant youths lent their presence and aid on that occasion, for which the people of Brewerton feel very grateful. One of our young men says since the singing school he feels within his breast an aching void that nothing this side of Princeton can ever fill. The young man seems to have an exalted faith.

Waterloo.

Deputy Sheriff Winters arrested J. J. Johnston, colored, the other day on the charge of bigamy. Johnston came here about two months ago as a music teacher, representing himself as coming from North Carolina. After being here a week he married the daughter of a well-to-do negro. Every thing went smoothly until a few days ago, when one of his wives living in Greenville wrote to some parties here asking if Johnston was here, saying that she was his wife and if he was married to have him arrested. Upon investigation it was found that he had been wedded to six different wives.

he had also defrauded some parties in Greenville out of about a hundred and fifty dollars.

J. T. Harris has sold out his machinery to Smith & Washington. These parties will take charge at once.

The protracted meeting at the Baptist church has closed, twenty-eight members being added to the church by letter and experience. The meeting was conducted by J. B. Parrott.

Mr. J. B. Wharton is having a new fence built around his yard and will make other necessary improvements.

Mr. L. L. Denny, who has been with the Cooley Clock Co., is at home for a short while.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

As a family medicine, have no equal. They are suited to every age, are sugar-coated, and therefore easy to take, and though searching and thorough in effect, are mild and painless in action. Their use is attended with no injurious results. Druggists and doctors generally recommend Ayer's Pills, and those who have once used them prefer them to any other.

"By the use of Ayer's Pills alone, I once cured myself permanently of a case of the catarrh which had troubled me several months. No medicine could have served me in better stead. These pills are at once harmless and effectual, and, I believe, would prove a specific in all cases of ineffectual rheumatism."—C. C. Root, Concord, La.

"I can recommend Ayer's Pills above all others, having long proved their value as a cathartic for myself and family."—J. T. Hester, Leithsville, Pa.

"When I feel the need of a cathartic, I take Ayer's Pills, and find them to be more effective than any other pill I ever took."—Mrs. B. C. Grubb, Burwellville, Va.

"Some years ago I had a very severe attack of inflammation of the bowels. My physician tried every remedy he knew of to relieve me, but in vain. At my own suggestion, I took a dose of Ayer's Pills, and they worked to perfection. I have no doubt they were the means of saving my life."—Francis M. Williams, Strickland, Mich.

The Best

"After the use of Ayer's Pills for many years in my practice and family, I am justified in saying they are an excellent cathartic and liver medicine—sustaining all the claims made for them."—W. A. Westfall, M. D., V. F. A. & N. W. R. R. Co., Burnett, Tex.

"One of my customers has been greatly benefited by the use of Ayer's Pills. He was troubled with disordered liver and in failing health for several months. Since he began using Ayer's Pills he has improved greatly, gaining rapidly in flesh and strength."—W. S. McCollough, Druggist, Wheeling, W. Va.

"I have been taking Ayer's Pills and using them in my family since 1867, and cheerfully recommend them to all in need of a safe but effective cathartic. I have used them for all ailments of the stomach, liver, and bowels, and also for colds. They have never failed to effect a cure. I have used them in my family for the past 25 years for all derangements of the stomach, liver, and bowels, and also for colds. They have never failed to effect a cure. I have used them in my family for the past 25 years for all derangements of the stomach, liver, and bowels, and also for colds. They have never failed to effect a cure."—J. B. Hester, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Family Medicine.

"Ayer's Pills have been in use in my family upwards of twenty years, and are completely verified all that is claimed for them. In attacks of piles, from which I suffered many years, they afford greater relief than any medicine I ever tried."—T. F. Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I regard Ayer's Pills as one of the most reliable general remedies of our times. They have been in use in my family for various ailments, and have always given satisfaction. We have found them an excellent remedy for colds and light fevers."—W. H. Woodson, Fort Worth, Texas.
