

DIALS NEWS.

Dials, Feb. 8.—The many friends of Rev. J. K. McCain were pained to hear of his death Thursday at his home in Cray Court. Uncle "Mack" as he was familiarly called was beloved by all, having served this church as pastor from 1900 to 1903 and all here were sorry to hear of his answering the final roll call.

Mr. Tom Armstrong had the misfortune to lose his barn early Wednesday evening by fire. Four mules and all his feed stuff were destroyed. The loss is heavy on Mr. Armstrong, although it is understood he carried some insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Miss Ostell Willis spent several days last week in Gray Court, as the guest of Miss Leah Riddle.

Mr. Sam Curry was a business visitor in Columbia last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Gray were the week-end guests of Mr. Julius Curry and family.

Miss Kate Curry of Clinton spent the week-end with her parents.

Mr. Bascom Brownlee of the Warrior community, was the guest of Mr. D. D. Brownlee Sunday.

Miss Lauree Abernethie and brother Clarence, spent Sunday with Miss Clara Campbell.

Miss Fannie Brownlee was the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. S. Bolt of Hendersonville Friday.

Mr. Tom Woods of Musgrove, spent last week with the family of Mr. Frady.

With the speaking throughout the state of Mrs. Valentine, and the efforts of Messrs McCollough and McMahon to introduce the woman suffrage bill, the subject of woman suffrage is being greatly agitated. Although no one would like better than I to "dab" in politics, and so ardently support, (with my tongue) my party, even if on the losing side, I'm not yet convinced that South Carolina is ready for woman suffrage. True none in our state are debarred from the ballot but the idiot, the lunatic and the criminal and the negro, and most assuredly our women come under neither head. My opinion however, is that South Carolina as a whole is not prepared for woman suffrage. I may be old fashioned, and I confess I am old fashioned enough never to want a divorce law introduced in our grand old state.

Now don't think I believe in all that "bosh," (because I am an ant!) of the home and hearthstone being women's sphere and her inability to cope with so weighty a problem as politics, for woman is certainly man's equal and can talk politics too, and some of them make shrewd electioneers for their favorite, which is as it should be.

Granted that the ballot was ours, would we make good? Take the statute books of Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Wyoming, where women have voted respectively from fifteen to forty years, and it is astonishing how few laws have been put upon those books for the protection of human life. It is idle to say in rebuttal of this fact that woman suffrage has not existed long enough in those states, for the enactment of such laws.

Neither can one fad on the books of the woman suffrage states any of those measures that should be there as a protection thrown around the child, the growing girl, the young woman, the mother, and the aged woman. If the women who have been given the ballot could show wherein they used it, first and effectively for the greater protection and preservation of life, can anyone imagine a man or woman who would not work his and her hardest to see that the ballot for woman should be made universal. It is true that woman suffrage has caused a few good laws, but it is a bewildering fact, judged on any ground, but in these facts lies the reason why, in the minds of many men and women—woman suffrage has been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

We would be glad to show you how easy they are to operate. S. M. & E. H. WILKES & CO.

HARMONY NEWS.

Harmony, Feb. 8.—Uncle Jesse Taylor as he was familiarly called, died very suddenly last Sunday morning: his home near Mr. J. B. Pitt's. He was buried in the cemetery at the colored church at Princeton Monday evening. Uncle Jesse was one of the old-time slave darkies and was well thought of by the white people. I have often heard him talk about how he worked throwing up breastwords for his old master during the Civil War. He was said to be 96 years of age at the time of his death. He leaves an aged wife who has been blind for years and some children to mourn his departure.

A great deal of sickness in this community at this time—mostly colds.

Mr. J. H. Valentine, Jr., has a little boy real sick at this writing. We hope Emmette will soon be well again.

Mr. Olin Carlisle has a sick daughter. One of the teachers of the school was asked by her they were getting along with their school and she replied that nearly all were sick, but with this exception they were getting along fine.

According to the saying of the ground hog, we will have some more bad weather before grass grows.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Taylor visited the former's brother, Mr. John W. Taylor at Princeton Sunday.

Mr. J. B. Cook, after visiting in this community for two or three weeks returned to his home at Laurens Saturday.

Our Advertiser failed to make its appearance week before last. The old lady looked right familiar and good when she came in last week and was a welcome visitor.

A great many of us people up here are in favor of the compulsory education law, but there is one feature that we should not overlook and this is one of the main causes of so much illiteracy today—so many of us poor people for want of means to buy clothing, books, etc., to fix our children to go to school. Don't you reckon some of us will feel somewhat embarrassed when our children, with their only old ragged suits, start off to school without any books except an almanac.

Should there be such cases, of which there is plenty in the state of South Carolina and should the legislature pass this bill, there should be some appropriation for this class.

Then for bread, some poor widow woman depending upon her only child for this article and when the child starts to school the staff of life is cut off. Where is the remedy? It is very unfortunate that so many of us are so poor, nevertheless it is true and will always be true, for Christ said, "The poor ye have with you always."

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Simpson, of Poplar Springs spent the day with Mr. J. B. Davis Sunday.

It's the World's Wonder: Never Fails. You'll make goo-goo eyes at your feet, after you use "GETS-IT", and you'll find the places where those blanket corns used to be, just as smooth as your cheek. There's no corn or callus among the millions of feet in the world that "GETS-IT" will not remove—there's no escape. "GETS-IT" is the new way, the simple, common-sense, sure way. It does away with greasy ointments, salves, pads, cotton rings, harnesses, knives, scissors, razors, files, and the limping and the painful pigeon-toe walk of so many corn-pestered people. All you do is put 2 drops of "GETS-IT" on—the corn shrivels up—and good bye. Nothing else in the world like "GETS-IT". Millions are using it. There's no pain, no trouble, no changing shoes because of corns.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Laurens and recommended as the world's best corn cure by Laurens Drug Co., and Rays Pharmacy.

Trout Streams in Rockies.

Nearly all of the Rocky mountain forests contain splendid trout streams, and, as most of these are kept well stocked, they will doubtless furnish sport for many generations. Game is also to be found in most of the forests, and in some of them is abundant; but the big game is rapidly disappearing, and many of the species are doomed. Thus the Olympic forest is the last stand of the Roosevelt elk, and the mountain sheep is found only in a few forests. On the other hand, deer and bear are still abundant in many of the forests, and especially in the Blackfoot, Kootenai, Kanisku, Cocur d'Alene and Flathead of Montana. In the Southwest there is still good hunting on the Apache, the Sigreaves and the Tonto of Arizona and in the Mogollon and Gila country of New Mexico.

Recognized Advantages.

You will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has recognized advantages over most medicines in use for coughs and colds. It does not suppress a cough but loosens and relieves it. It aids expectoration and opens the secretions, which enables the system to throw off a cold. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. It contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. For sale by all dealers.

Legal English.

The circumlocution of legal documents is the penalty of having a bilingual language and descends to us from these countries when the English and the Normans were slowly amalgamating into one people. So the two races, in the market place or in social converse, to make their meaning clearer, joined a French word to an English or vice versa. That is why in the prayer book words so often run in couples: "Humble and lowly," "acknowledge and confess," "assemble and meet together." The English was for the English, the Norman-French for the French. Chaucer is a great user of such bilingual phrases: "Hunting and venerable," "wright and carpenter," "care and heed." And that is whence lawyers get such talk as "aid and abet," "will and testament" and "use and wont."

Prompt Action Will Stop Your Cough.

When you first catch a Cold (often indicated by a sneeze or cough), break it up at once. The idea that "It does not matter" often leads to serious complications. The remedy which immediately and easily penetrates the lining of the throat is the kind demanded. Dr. King's New Discovery soothes the irritation, loosens the phlegm. You feel better at once. "It seemed to reach the very spot of my Cough" is one of many honest testimonials. 50c at your Druggist.

Our Indebtedness to Slaves.

To the emperors and popes of bygone ages, writes Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, the modern world is deeply indebted for treasures of art and architecture that without them never could have existed. It was only by the labor of unpaid and underfed slaves that the Coliseum, the magnificent arches, the enormous baths, the marvelous palaces could have been erected; and it was only through grinding the faces of the poor by taxes and enforced contributions that the splendid churches could have been built and their matchless decorations made possible. Popes, emperors and unfortunate victims have long since passed alike into dust, not all the pomp and circumstance of power being able to avert this common fate, and it matters not whether this dust has returned to the simple elements of earth or been preserved in gorgeous tombs.

In a Russian Church.

The interior of a Russian church is outspokenly oriental, for it consists merely of a gorgeous hall and a sanctuary, without any seats, as that is the custom in other temples. There is neither an organ nor a pulpit in the Russian church and the temple ceremony is one mostly of music, chanting and spectacular gesticulations, which remind one of ancient Egyptians dancing in their temples. For music there is a choir of boys and men in all the Russian services.

HE HID HIS MONEY IN THE GROUND. ITS GONE IF HE HAD HIDDEN IT IN OUR BANK IT WOULD BE SAFE NOW

The best place to hide money is where they have vaults for safely protecting it. Every week we see newspaper accounts of people having been robbed. Sugar bowls, rag-bags, under the carpet, behind pictures, and all of those other places where people conceal their money, are well known to burglars. Hide it in OUR BANK, then you know you can get it when you want it.
