A Big Help
Operate the small machines about the farm by electricity.

DELCO-LIGHT
will supply ample power at an exceedingly low cost. Run the gas engine, churn, separator, washing machine, for practically nothing. Also supplies the entire farm with brilliant electric light. A Delco can run it and it pays for itself in a short time. Let us demonstrate it on your farm.

MADDER NEWS.

Madden, May 6.—Cotton planting is still the order of the day. Some of the farmers who planted just in time for the cold, beating rain to do its work, are replanting today. In connection with this we learned the other day from an observant farmer, Mr. Proffitt, that it was always best never to plant cotton seed during the teens of April. You could plant with safety to the twelfth—then stay your hand or rather your planter till the 20th of the month. As a usual thing between these two dates there is a cold, beating rain that is fatal to cotton seed germination. Recon we farmer folks will remember that by next cotton planting time?

Mrs. Della Cunningham of Mt. Pleasant was the week-end guest of her daughter, Mrs. Griff Finley. While there she was a caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Finley.

Mr. J. A. Wofford called on Mr. Wells McDaniel Sunday morning. Friends of Wells, and he has many, will be glad to hear that he is satisfactorily convalescing after a serious spell of typhoid-pneumonia. He is now able to sit up and tobacco tastes good.

Messrs. Jud Langston, B. Y. Culbertson, T. S. Langston and J. R. Finley, Misses Carrie Langston and Annette Culbertson, formed an automobile party that called on Cross Hill relatives Sunday afternoon. They went especially to see their kinsman, Mr. Dee Wharton, who has been ill a long while. We regret to hear that Mr. Wharton is no better.

We were especially grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. Essie Sullivan. Her funeral was held at Lisbon church Sunday morning. We deeply sympathize with the loved ones who mourn the loss of this good woman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Martin and James Roy, Jr., of Anderson, were callers for a little while at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Finley. They had spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin of Lisbon, and Mrs. Martin accompanied them up Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lucia Culbertson is the first housekeeper in the neighborhood, who put into practice what she learned at the cottage cheese demonstration Monday afternoon. She served cottage cheese sausage to her family, which was good. Mrs. Finley made some of the whey honey, but Uncle John said you could not fool him if he never in the world have thought it was honey bona-fide! Yet it is a good substitute. If any housekeeper wants to try the honey here is the simple receipt—2-3 cup of whey, 1-3 cup of sugar—boil till the consistency of honey. Eat on waffles or nuttins. Try it.

Friends of young John W. Wofford were glad to see him at S. S. Sunday. He came by to see homefolks on his way to Columbia where he represents Clemson in the triangular debate between Chadel, Carolina and Clemson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Byrd, Jr., and baby, Henry Downs, were guests Sunday of their grandmother, Mrs. H. C. Cunningham.

Mr. J. Douglas Bryson spent Sunday in Greenville with his aunt, Mrs. Nanette Bryson. Friends of Mrs. Bryson, who was raised near here, were sorry to hear she is now practically confined to her bed all the time.

Friends of Miss Hettie Cunningham were sorry to see her place vacant at Sunday school. Only sickness prevents her attendance. We trust she will soon be well.

Miss Ozella Murray was the guest Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Therman Finley where an enjoyable day was spent.

Mrs. Cora Madden was called to Charleston on account of the serious illness of her little grandson, Jack Calcutt. We trust she found the baby boy better. She went by auto, accompanied by her son, Malva.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Mesdames Mollie Teague and Josie Martin and Mr. W. H. Hudgens attended the parade at Camp Sevier, Thursday.

Miss Mattie Sue Wofford spent Saturday night with her classmate, Miss Martha Franks. Together they attended and enjoyed the Junior-Senior reception of the high school, dear to the hearts of school girls. The reception was held at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Davis, Miss Addie Belle being one of the Junior class.

A letter lies before me bringing a message from Preston Brooks Martin from "Over There" in France. He tells what a bright spot the "Madden News" is—how The Advertiser is enjoyed. Friend and relatives of young Brooks will be glad to hear he is well. He would be glad to hear from some of us and his address is:

MONTGOMERY NEWS.

Enoree, R. F. D. 2, May 6.—Rev. O. B. Williams filled his regular appointment Sunday at Yarbrough's Chapel and preached an impressive sermon to a very large congregation. His text was: Acts 26:24-25: "And as he thus spoke for himself, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make thee mad. But he said, I am not mad, most noble Festus, but speak forth the words of truth and soberness." We need to emulate the life of Paul. He certainly did have the courage to testify.

Dr. T. H. Lewis, president of Western Medical College, will make an address under the auspices of the Red Cross auxiliary in the Cross Anchor high school auditorium, Friday evening, at 8:30. One of the regimental bands from Camp Wadsworth will be present and furnish some excellent music.

Among those who attended the State Sunday School convention, were Miss Lily Yarbrough, Messrs. C. D. Yarbrough and Lawrence Poole. They went as representatives from our Sunday school. All report a fine time.

Mr. E. M. D. Watson, of Spartanburg, spent the week-end with his sister, Mrs. J. L. Poole.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Heaton and family spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Heaton.

Mr. Lawrence Poole attended the singing convention in Laurens, Sunday afternoon. He reports some fine music.

Mr. J. L. Poole and sons, David and Wade, were in Laurens on business Saturday afternoon.

DEALS NEWS.

Dials, May 6.—One of the most entertaining as well as remunerative affairs of the past week was the minstrel show and box supper given in the new school building at Dials Saturday evening. The affair was held under the auspices of the local Red Cross society, the proceeds of all going to that organization. A large audience was in attendance, some twenty-eight dollars being realized from the door receipts alone; half of that sum, however, went to the State Junior Red Cross, owing to the minstrel show being composed of the school children of the Dials school.

The boxes were easily disposed of and much of the success of the sale was due to Mr. Charlie McNeely, of Laurens, who auctioned off the boxes in his inimitable manner. More could have been realized, however, if there had been time; yet time and tide waits for no man, and on account of its being Saturday night, the auctioneer was forced to accept bids in a hurry. Notwithstanding, the Red Cross society made a clear gain of about thirty-five dollars from the sale of the boxes and other little attractions, which consisted of a fortune telling booth, Greatest Wonder in the World, and The Morning Herald, not counting half of the door receipts.

Prof. Charles P. Brooks spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. I. S. Brooks, returning to Bamburg Monday where he will resume his duties as instructor in the Cadette Fitting school.

Mrs. Arthur Harris is still in Spartanburg, having gone to that city several weeks ago to be in attendance at the bedside of her husband, who is a patient at the Steedley Hospital. The friends and relatives of Mr. Harris are trusting that he will soon overcome the disease sufficiently to be restored to his family and friends.

Mr. Roy Moore, eldest son of Mr. Fate Moore, is the latest one of our young patriots to join the colors and is now stationed at a camp in Texas.

Mrs. Marion Bolt, after enjoying a fortnight's visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Brownlee and other relatives here, returned to her home in Greenville, Saturday.

Mr. Claud Armstrong, of Baltimore, Md., is now at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Armstrong, recuperating from a serious attack of illness which he experienced in Baltimore.

Misses Kate Curry, Eileen Curry, and Cecil Owings, teachers at Fork Shoals and Hillside, have returned to their homes at this place, their respective schools having terminated with fitting exercises one day last week.

Messrs. Floyd Curry and Conway Gray composed a party that went to Cincinnati, Ohio, last week for the purpose of bringing back Ford cars for the local agent.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gillespie, and children, J. T. and Bonnie, of Greenville, spent several days last week with Mrs. Gillespie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Curry.

Misses Fannie and Sallie Brownlee had as their guest, Saturday night, Miss Vera Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Brooks and little Sarah Bell, were visitors of Mr. O. F. Ropp and family of Gray Court, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Curry and Miss Jewell Curry motored to Greenville and Camp Sevier, Tuesday.

Miss Lola Martin, after bringing the Huntington school, near Renno, to a successful finish has returned to her home near this place, where she will spend the summer vacation with her parents.

Miss Clara Campbell has returned from a very pleasant visit to relatives in Charlotte, N. C.

Mr. Mel Willis, an aged and venerable citizen and life-long resident of this community, died last Wednesday at the home of his son, Mr. Ralph Willis, with whom he had made his home since the death of his wife, a number of years ago. Mr. Willis, or "Uncle Mel" as he was familiarly called, was an upright Christian man, beloved by young and old alike. The funeral services took place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock from Dials church, in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends, his pastor, the Rev. G. G. Harley, conducting the rites. Interment followed in the adjoining cemetery. The deceased is survived by a number of children, grandchildren and a wide family connection.
