SOCIAL NEWBERRY.

One of the most charming of the many delightful social events of recent date at Prosperity, was the entertainment given by Dr. and Mrs. G. Y. Hunter Tuesday evening from nine to twelve o'clock.

The guests were charmingly received by Dr. and Mrs. Hunter. The reception hall looked like a veritable fairy land where Queen Titania had been holding high carnival and scattering flowers in reckless profusion.

From a dainty nook, draped in pink and twined with ivy, Misses Maggie Barre and Bessie Bowers served delightful and refreshing punch. The guests were escorted to the punch table by Miss Mary DeWalt, the pretty little daughter of the hostess.

Mrs. Hunter is always a charming hostess, and looked especially well in an elegant gown of blue, with blue ribbons and diamonds.

Miss Della Bowers, who ably assisted the host and hostess entertain, wore a dainty gown of cream mull, trimmed with cluny lace.

Music, which added much to the pleasure of the evening, was furnished by Mr. Brooks of Anderson.

Many Japanese lanterns cast a mellow glow over the beautiful lawn stretching in front of the handsome residence. Arches of white, trimmed with ivy, formed gate ways to either side of the lawn, where stood beautifully decorated tables. Here about 10.30 the guests repaired, and partook of delightful ices and cakes.

Then came a "penny for your thoughts" contest. Each guest was given a number of questions, the answers to which were to be found on the penny. Miss Lula Mosely won the first prize, and the second prize was awarded Mrs. J. H. Dinglehoef. Dr. J. S. Wheeler won the gentleman's first prize, and Mr. W. E. Moseley the gentleman's second prize.

Here and there on the lawn and spacious veranda and in the parlors and halls were many charming tete a tetes, until the clock striking twelve announced the hour of departure. And so the evening gently faded away, but its fragrance will not soon be lost; for it is with such hours, as with the gentle blossoms:

"Themselves will fade, but not their memory;
And memory has the power to re-create them from the dust."

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Browne, Dr. and Mrs. J. S Wheeler, Mrs. J. H. Dinglehoef, Misses Mary Lee Borre, Blanche Kibler, Lula Moseley, Bessie Bowers, Maggie Barre, Della Bowers, Lillian Wise, Lillie Mae Russell; Messrs. A. B. Wise, E. W. Werts, O. L. Schumpert, S. A. Hawkins, Lee Miller, Brooks, M. C. Harmon, W. E. Moseley, and Drs. J. J. Dominick and Geo. B. Merritt.

Thursday morning from 9 to 1 o'clock Miss Mary Burton entertained six young girls with a delightful party. Mrs. M. L. Spearman assisted Miss Burton in the entertainment. The feature of the morning were several entertaining games of "buy and sell." At the close of each game the lucky contestant was awarded a prize. The first prize was won by Miss Cema Sitton of Anton. Delicious refreshments were served.

The guests were: Misses Cema Sitton of Auton, Louise Aull of Pendleton, Helen Mauldin of Greenville, Florence Bowman, Carrie Pool, Bess Burton.

The home of Mr. Alan Johnstone was the scene of a very happy "surprise" party on Thursday afternoon. A number of young people just "happened in" about 6 o'clock and "surprised" Misses Mary Todd of Laurens and Miss Adeline Johnstone. They took possession of the beautiful lawn and after indulging in various amusing games they were seated in the shade of the magnificent oaks and served with delicious ices and cakes.

Those present were: Misses Louise Aull, Lizzie Alexandre, Florence Bowman, Ethyl Bowers, Elizabeth Burton, Marguerite Bowles, Cema Sitton, Camille Evans, Alice Gaillard, Eva Goggans, Sadie Goggans, Atlee Goggans, Annie Green, Lulie Hunt, Edna Hipp, Annie Jamieson, Mae Langford, Verna Lane, Lala Rook Simmons, Rosalyn Summer, Kate Suber, Ruby Summer, Julia Tarrant, Mabel Tarrant, Marie Zimmerman, Messrs. Richard Burton, Arch Boozer, Wm. Coppock, Frank Chapman, Wm Ewart, Fred Gilbert, William Garlington, J. C. Hipp, Robert Holmes, Lewis Johnson, Roy Jones, Thomas Mayes, C. L. Suber, Ernest Summer, George Summer, James Williamson

***

Miss Gertrude Simpson on Thursday afternoon, the 25th ult., at Prosperity, entertained in honor of the Misses Clinkscales of Anderson and Miss Juanita Schumpert. The hostess was charmingly assisted by Misses Louise Jones and Odalite Johnson, of Newberry. Progressive flinch was played. The score numbers were handed by Miss Frances Seabrook. Punch and light refreshments were served.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Items of More or Less Interest Condensed Outside the State.

Mrs. Geo. W. Chambers, wife of a Franklin County, Va., farmer, last week gave birth to four healthy girl babies. Roosevelt was immediately telegraphed.

The Tuskegee Institute opened its summer school yesterday. About two thousand colored teachers of the South are expected to be in attendance during the session.

Medical circles are greatly excited over the report from Vienna that a long standing case of cancer has been cured by means of radium rays.

The general conference of American rabbis held in Detroit last week declared itself in favor of maintaining "the historical Sabbath (Saturday) as a fundamental institution of Judaism."

Booker Washington discussed the race problem calmly and sensibly last week before the Afro American council in session in Louisville. He advised that the negroes do everything in their power to prevent the crime which causes lynching.

L. A. Moore, secretary of the city of Dallas, was shot and killed on Sunday morning by his 22 year old son. Moore had been drinking and had attacked his younger son.

A race war is threatened at Evansville, Ind. The negro who caused the trouble murdered a white man. Lynching was prevented, but further trouble is feared.

Senator and Mrs. Hanna and a party of friends will visit Roosevelt at Oyster Bay this week. The visit is said to have no political significance.

The first fatality of the Richmond street car strike occurred on Friday when Chas. E. Graham, a striking motorman, died from a merciless slashing at the hands of W. H. Lowery, another striking motorman. The trouble started from the report that Graham had said several of the strikers wanted to go back on duty. Coroner's verdict was justifiable homicide.

The Designer For August.

Accordion plaiting and smocking will again aid in beautifying garments for women and children. To know all about either process one should read The Designer for August, which, in addition to illustrating and describing the above, pictures all that is stylish in millinery and fashions for this season of the year. "How and Where Perfumes are Made," by Katherine Louise Smith, "Women Who Make Money," by Landon Knight, and "Floral Stands of Honolulu" are three interesting articles to be found in this issue, which also contains three excellent short stories, "A Sunflower Drill," illustrated pages on "Woman's Fads and Fancies," "Fashions and Fabrics," and "Fans and What to Make of Them." Opportunities for money making are supplied in the departments "What Women Are Doing," "Helps Along the Way" and the Puzzle Page, while practical and helpful suggestions are given in "Etiquette Hints," "Toilet Table Chat," "In Motherland," "Floriculture" and "The Kitchen Kingdom."

For a summer magazine the July Woman's Home Companion contains an unusual number of strong features. "Keeping House With High Explosives" is an interview with Hudson Maxim. Dr. J. M. Buckley, the best known Methodist of America, writes of "The Methodists and Their Good Works." Ernest Harold Baynes contributes an intensely instructive article on "American Reptiles," and W. G. Bowdoin tells about the "Rarest Bibles in the World." There are six short stories and Eden Phillpott's strong serial, "The Farm of the Dagger." The fashion pages are full of suggestions for summer frocks Mrs Herrick tells how to give a basket picnic, and Joseph H. Adams has a boys' article on "Camping Out, and How to Do It." The "Housewives Reciprocity Bureau" and "Home Dressmaking" pages are full of helpful suggestions for housekeepler. Published by The Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

THE AMERICAN LAUGH.

It Is a Valuable Aid In Building Up Our National Greatness.

God's greatest gift to man was the laugh. Without it the human race would have wept itself to death or exterminated itself long ago. Pathos is beautiful; tragedy is absorbing. But both pathos and tragedy are instantly routed by the laugh.

Laughter has sunshine in it. It is warm. Learned men have searched for the secret of life. What is it but good humor? That's the secret of life being worth living.

What sunshine is to earth good humor is to man. Take the smile and the laugh away, and it would be the end of man.

Men can't fight while they enjoy a joke. Death himself recoils from the laugh. The man in a good humor has an enormous advantage over the man who is angry. Anger is dark. Bitterness is filled with shadow. Intolerance is grim and black. Prejudice is blind.

Good humor, with the smile and the laugh, is sunshine in which objects are plain and distortion disappears and wherein phantoms become nothing.

One reason for America's greatness is that, above all, it is a nation that laughs. There have been gay peoples and frivolous nations, but gayety and frivolity are strangely akin to melancholy. That gay Germany whose national happiness is expressed in song is clouded by melancholy. Sadness pervades the temperament of Germania.

And frivolous France—how tragic she becomes—how desperately tragic!

The great American laugh is another thing. Investigate the American national laugh, and there's a sound, practical something behind it. It is never a forced laugh. It is healthy, vigorous, spontaneous.

Empires and powers have crumbled and gone to pieces in solemn seriousness and gloomy grandeur, while Uncle Sam, with a joke on his lips, forges ahead.—Denver Post.

A COMMON CUSTOM.

Man's Habit of Running His Fingers Through His Hair.

"Why does a man always run his hand through his hair when he takes his hat off?" asked an observant man. "Did you ever notice that man will invariably do this very thing? Is it just a nervous habit? Is it vanity? It is an old habit. I have never known a man who did not indulge this habit. Even men who have no hair to run their fingers through, men whose heads are as bald as billiard balls, will brush their hands over their heads when they lift their hats. If the men simply wanted to smooth their tousled hair, of course this would afford ample explanation of the habit. But why should a man who has no hair on his head do the same thing? It is not a sufficient answer to say that such a man may have had a full suit of hair at one time and that it is simply a matter of habit contracted under different conditions. As a rule, men are unconscious of the fact. They do not know why, how or when they run their hands over their heads. But they all do it just the same. Go into a court room or at any place where men congregate and where it is necessary for them to remove their hats and watch them. You will observe that every man will go through the same performance. It seems to be a perfectly natural thing for them to do. My own conclusion is that it is an evidence of vanity. A man wants his hair to be just so. Originally probably it was simply a matter of tidiness. But it has grown into an act of vanity. The lawyer, for instance, if he has enough hair for the purpose, will want his head to have a tousled appearance. It gives him a studious appearance and leaves the impression that he has been struggling with the books. Whatever the reason, the habit is a curious one and one which seems to be deep rooted in the masculine nature."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Handel as a Child.

George Frederick Handel, the son of a Saxon barber and valet, was only five years old when his "fingers wooed divine melodies" from the spinet, which a good natured aunt had smuggled for him into an attic, so that no sound of it might reach the ears of his father. At eight his playing so astonished the elector of Saxony that his father was compelled to withdraw his opposition and allow the genius of the boy to have fair play. And before he had reached his twelfth birthday young Handel was known throughout Germany as a brilliant composer and virtuoso at the court of the emperor.

When Boys Wore Wigs.

A century and a half ago wig wearing was at its height, and little boys four or five years of age submitted to having their heads shaved preparatory to donning their false headdresses. A Leyden professor—Rivers by name—shocked all churches by declaring that a Christian must necessarily wear a wig or be eternally lost. On the other hand, Dr. Thiers, a celebrated Catholic, assailed the wig wearing priests in a good sized volume.

Cranks?

Judge—Let us get this thing right. You say this man whom we are examining is not insane and yet he is not in his right mind. How is that?

Witness—Lots of people, your honor, who are not insane are wrong minded about everything.—Chicago Tribune.

JOURNAL'S CONTEST ATTRACTING MUCH ATTENTION

MANY DESIRE TO ATTEND THE ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR AS THE GUESTS OF THE JOURNAL.

Do you want to attend the World's fair? From the immense number of estimates being received each day to The Journal's contest, one would naturally conclude that the answer of every individual would be in the affirmative. All are naturally very anxious to go, but some are unable. The Journal has come to their rescue. Forty people are going to the great exposition as its guests.

Will you be one of the forty?

In accordance with its past spirit of liberality, on May 10th, The Journal announced for the first time that 40 free trips to the St. Louis World's fair, each consisting of a first-class ticket from Atlanta to St. Louis and return and $50 for expenses, would be given to this number of its subscribers, 20 of these trips to its subscribers in Atlanta and Fulton county and 20 outside of Fulton county.

It is not necessary to pay in advance to be entitled to estimate in this contest. Each subscriber who has paid in advance is entitled to as many estimates as the length of time subscription is paid in advance from May 10th. The first 40 nearest correct estimates will receive these free trips. It is therefore important that you send in your estimate at once. Be sure you have the carrier sign the coupon each time you pay him 10 or 12 cents, if the paper is delivered by carrier, or if the paper is received by mail, and you send in your renewal don't forget to send in estimates.

The contest closes at midnight April 1, 1904, and the gates will open May 1st. While the estimates received last may be the successful ones, it is better to send in estimates at once, and keep sending, as the first 40 nearest correct estimates will receive the trips. It costs absolutely nothing to enter the contest. Estimates cannot be bought for any price, and as no one will know the number of admissions to the St. Louis World's fair until after the opening day, every one has an equal chance.

The South Carolina College for Teachers.

Although nearly approaching its centennial anniversary, the South Carolina College shows none of the decrepitude of old age, but rather increasing signs of vigorous life. A new departure of great importance to the College and to the State has just been inaugurated. For some years the College has had a department of pedagogy, for the training of teachers; but last winter, for the first time, the Legislature created a number of endowed normal scholarships, one for each county. It is the intention of the Trustees and Faculty to set these scholarships upon a high plane, and to seek thereby to qualify superior young men for positions of leadership and influence in our public schools. However largely women may be employed as teachers, the work of superintendence, direction and control must continue to be most largely in the hands of the men; and it is to supply these teachers of leadership and influence, in the community as well as in the schools, that the College will chiefly aim, through these scholarships. Hence, no young man under nineteen years of age will be eligible, and preference will be given to those applicants who have already taught with success for at least one year.

A special and technical course of study has been established, on a high yet practical plane; and it is intended that this department shall be worthily entitled to be called a "College for Teachers." All the work will be distinctively normal, and apart from the regular College classes. The Trustees and Faculty feel sure that in preparing a body of strong and well equipped men teachers the College will aid in supplying one of the most important needs of the State. They hope, also, that this work, in its success and its results, may meet with such public approval as to lead hereafter to its still further enlargement.

Circulars have been issued giving the details of regulations and course of study.

The present session, now nearly ended, has been very encouraging. Not a ripple has disturbed the internal peace of the College. The new President has won golden opinions, and has more than maintained the confidence and affection gained in his long service as professor. The friends of the College look hopefully forward to the continued success and increased usefulness of this venerated institution, which will soon enter upon its second century of honorable history.

Mob rule prevailed in Middleboro, Mass., on Saturday night. There were several attempts at lynching and a deputy sheriff was wounded. The trouble was the outcome of plans made by an element in the town opposed to the reform party in control of municipal affairs.
