after you have used our meats awhile. It will surprise you to find them considerably less than formerly. Yet you have enjoyed finer meats than ever before. The reason is simple. Our meats are so good that every ounce of them is eaten. There is, therefore, no waste, and the stoppage of waste is saving. The best is the cheapest.

SANTUC

Santuc, Jan. 29.—The rain that fell the hardest of the winter was Monday morning. I was in it, too.

A big fat three or four year old game hen, properly cooked, is good enough Sunday dinner for anybody. I have tried it, have you?

I have a "brownie" in my pocket, and I suspect that if one of two or three negroes knew I had it they would spend half a day trying to borrow it, and then take up his old gun and go rabbit hunting.

I think the past few warm days have "restored confidence" with the hens, for some have started laying, and a producer can relish eggs when there is no direct outlay of cash for them.

This section, I believe, is entirely destitute of any kind of vegetables; and, wild onions are not fit to eat.

Mr. W. O. Jeter is this week, and was last week, at Monarch Cotton mills doing some blacksmith work for them. He says he is pleased with the temporary job, but that he has interests of home that he must needs see after.

I have just heard the rumor that there is soon to be a new store to open up here, but as it is only rumor so far as I have heard I will just hold still and you can "watch this space" if anything occurs.

Mr. J. Ryan Jeter is debating the matter of going back to Furman University again. He would have finished up his course this term but for being a National Guardsman and was sent to the border last year.

The new school building has now been in use about two weeks, and the school is not in such crowded quarters, as it was the whole of last fall.

If "Moxy" ever drifts this way again I would like to catch him staying over Sunday. He would see something.

I killed a wren lately a peculiar way and I hate to have done it. I come in through a rain, unharnessed the mules, and went to a bale of cotton under the shed to wipe my hands, and as soon as I touched the cotton, something got in my sleeve. I could not shake it out, and it kept going up and scratching, and I made sure it was a mouse, and I grabbed where it was and said, "You little rascal," and gave it head, I thought, a terrible squeeze. There were two feeble tweet, tweet, and I told a brother that I had a strange mousetrap, but not; I found it was a little house wren. It was dark, I hadn't lighted the lantern and I guess when I went to wipe my hands on the cotton I put it directly on the bird, which had gone to sleep there. I hated to kill it, but I did not want a mouse travelling up my sleeve. It might bite.

Cincinnati Man Tells How to Shrive Up Corns or Calluses So They Lift Off With Fingers.

Ouch! ? ? ? !! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone tell him to order a small bottle for you.—(Advertisement).

The TRUTH

Coffee does disagree with many. And in these days of accurate scientific knowledge there's no virtue in appearing astonished when this truth is faced.

Caffeine (the drug in coffee, and in tea also) leaves the system in an overworked and debilitated state, and is responsible for various serious ills and discomforts.

Thousands who desire an appetizing hot table beverage with none of coffee's drawbacks, find a most delightful cup—one containing no deleterious substance whatever—in

POSTUM

Nourishing, economical and wonderfully delicious.
"There's a Reason"

Quick Cold Relief

is usually found through the prompt administration of a mildly laxative, dispersive tonic—one that will scatter the inflammation, remove the waste, and help Nature to build up resistance.

Peruna is That Tonic.

Its action is prompt, usually very effective, and its use is without harmful effects. Every household should keep it at hand for this purpose, and every catarrhal sufferer should regularly use this reliable remedy.

The tablet form will be found very convenient. A tablet or two at the very beginning of a cold will frequently prevent its development, and these tablets may be taken regularly with beneficial results.

Many prefer the liquid form which for nearly half a century has been the reliance of the American Home.

Both are good. Your druggist can supply you.
