COOL SOOTHING RELIEF for SUNBURN
The first rule in avoiding the seriousness of sunburn is "Don't stay in the sun too long unless a good protective for the skin is used." However, sometimes you become sunburned before you realize how serious it is—or you may be windburned or chapped. Then is the time to use Rexall Gypsy Cream. Apply it liberally. See how cool and soothing it feels—how the pain of your sunburn lessens. Try it today.

My dear Friend:

A neutrality bill passed the House June 30th and is now before the Senate. It is too early to predict with accuracy the exact provisions of this highly controversial measure if and when it is enacted into law, but since you have expressed to me a great interest in this type of legislation, I feel that I ought to make this little explanation to my anxious friends who want to keep America out of war. The following is quoted from a letter I addressed to one of my constituents who reproved me for a wrong vote, as he thought, on the neutrality bill. More than human wisdom is required to determine what is the best course for our country to take in these critical days.

"When the Bloom Neutrality Bill was before the House I voted for an amendment which would prevent the sale of guns and munitions to warring nations, and later I voted not to recommit the bill and finally I voted in favor of passing the amended bill. It was argued at the time, that we ought to repeal all embargo on shipment of arms and we ought not to lay even a limited embargo as the Vorys Amendment did to the Bloom Bill. I reasoned something like this: We have not yet passed any measure to take the profits out of war. If we have no embargo on shipment of arms, and if war breaks out in Europe we shall be called on to furnish guns, ammunition and all the implements of war to anyone who can obtain credit enough to buy them of us. Now I'm not in favor of financing another European war, and I'm not in favor of turning our country into an arsenal for the rest of the world, and I'm not in favor of selling instruments of death to the rest of the world to swell the profits of munition makers, even American munition makers. I know it is said that our sale of arms to other nations would enable our own munition makers to keep their factories of death operating efficiently and at capacity, which would be a good thing in case we ourselves got into war. There may be some point to that argument but I prefer that we use other methods of keeping our factories ready to produce our own war needs.

You know, of course, that I have no desire to help Hitler or any of the other dictators. I can easily think of a war in Europe in which our sympathies will be with the democracies against the dictators. In such an event we might want to furnish our friends with war time needs. Even so I insist that we take proper steps to curb the munition makers even though we may want to furnish aid to our friends. I believe that the Christian people of America will insist on such a course of action."

Sincerely yours,
JOHN R. MURDOCK.

The following outline of educational problems of the young men of today relative to the Marine Corps as a practical solution was received by J. B. Boone, our Postmaster, from Major George D. Hamilton, Recruiting Officer for the Marine Corps in the Post office building in Los Angeles, California, in a recent letter.

Major Hamilton stated that there was reason to believe that one third of the total unemployed in the United States were young men between the ages of 18 and 21, most of whom had the handicap of incomplete schooling or training in specialized work to hamper them in their search for a permanent place in a world which had proved to be a complex problem for men of mature years and wide experience.

The changes and increase in the tempo of living in general throughout the United States which made themselves felt immediately following the armistice in 1918 and continue to this day have had a counterpart in the Military Service calling for a well developed schedule of training and specialization in all phases of the military profession. Every effort is made to obtain the enlistment of the type of young man possessing the capacity to absorb instruction first in basic or academic training and then in the specializations of the work of the Marine Corps. Many methods have been attempted, including a schedule of basic instruction by designated teachers in large posts and bases of the Marine Corps with moderate success. However, in the correspondence school system a practical

Mr. Karl Payne spent Wednesday in Casa Grande transacting business, and saying hello to old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. McLane left this week for San Francisco to visit the Fair They expect to be gone about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Grossmiller are away for a two weeks vacation. They will take in the World's Fair at Frisco before returning. "Goose" postal cards says that they are having a swell time in spite of the car going haywire the first day and forcing them to drive 65 miles in second gear before they could have the car fixed. He adds that the beer is good, and ladies look swell.

solution has been found the problem.

By using the tried and proven methods of one of the best known correspondence schools of the country, through the medium of a staff of trained instructors, main tained by the Marine Corps in headquarters at Washington, D. C., it has been possible to carry under constant instruction approximately one third of the total strength of the Marine Corps. Today there is hardly a man in the Marine Corps who has not completed either a course in the academic work of high school, or some special course designed to further his career in the Marine Corps or to help prepare in civilian life after he has completed his service with the Marines.

Mr. Robert Springfield who has been taking an extension course at the University at Tucson is back in town for a few days.

B. G. Letzring left last Friday for Flagstaff for a few days. He was accompanied home by his mother in law Mrs. C. B. Dixon who is recovering from an appendectomy.

Wesley Kirby and family returned the first of the week from a ten days trip on the coast and attending the N. E. A. meeting at San Francisco. Mr. Kirby has his hands full supervising the fixing up of the grammar school yard in preparation for next fall and with the new building being under construction at the same time.

Mr. A. E. Taylor returned last Sunday from a two weeks vacation and is back at his duties in the post office. He was very much enthused about his trip to the World's Fair and says that there are many wonderful exhibits to interest one.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hanna and daughter, Kerma, left Saturday morning on their vacation. They will visit San Diego, Long Beach and take in the World's Fair at San Francisco before returning home October 1st.

We wish to correct an error in last week's issue in stating that the Community Store, owned and managed by Mr. Dewey Compton, was located 5 blocks east of Hines Drug Store. It should have been 5 blocks north of Hines Drug Store on Main Street. We have been a little twisted in our directions out here since our arrival in spite of the fact we have watched the sun sink in the west many times, and should know better.
