COAL MINERS.

One Days' Doings in the Organized Ranks of Labor.

PITTSBURG, July 1.—The exact situation as to the miners' strike may be thus summed up: During the last three weeks there has been so much talk of miners wanting to strike that at a meeting of the national executive board of the United Mine Workers' Union at Columbus last week, it was decided to order one in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia, but the order to suspend work has not yet been sent out. A convention of the Pittsburg district was today called for Saturday It is thought that the miners almost unanimously will vote for a general suspension. Meantime word will be sent out to the miners of Illinois, Indiana and West Virginia and they will follow the lead of the men of this district. The suspension is to date from Monday.

JOILET, Ill., July 1.—W. D. Ryan, state secretary of the Illinois Miners' association, today issued a notice that all work in the Illinois fields will be stopped at once and national suspension is a certainty. The miners in the Wilmington field stopped work to-day. Under the present scale they claim they can make but 9 cents an hour The strike will affect 20,000 Illinois miners.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 1.—As a result of the failure of the joint wage conference of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and manufacturers to agree upon a scale at the Youngstown conference yesterday, all the union mills are closed down to-day, and between 75,000 and 85,000 men are idle.

Made Him Hot.

The Prospector has often been the happy recipient of little tokens of esteem and appreciation that it caused no suspicion yesterday when a boy brought to the office a carefully wrapped parcel with a label bearing the religious editor's name. When the package was opened it was discovered to be a piece of genuine, old stock, limburger cheese, and the flavor indicating the period of the Swiss liberation; or, perhaps, the building of the great Chinese wall. On the top of the cheese, as a sort of tid-bit, was a chunk of asafetida; but one wouldn't notice the asafetida after the cheese became aroused. Our devil was taking a luxurious siesta on a pile of exchanges, when the cheese began to get warmed up, and as the full flavor of this delicacy struck his olfactories his lips began to twitch, his breath came in gasps, and with a start he awoke. He first arose, cautiously looked at the bottoms of his feet, passed his hand over his body in a bewildered sort of way, as if to see where he was at, and then made for the alley door, and we have not seen him since. We don't mind a joke once in a while and sometimes we can see something funny in the horse play of the practical joker, but if the man who sent that limburger thinks there was anything funny in the act he is as badly mistaken as he would be if he thought he had good sense.

Fun is fun, but when it comes to limburger cheese garnished with asafetida and stink weed, we draw the line.—Tombstone Prospector.

"Last summer one of our grand children was sick with a severe bowel trouble," says Mrs. E. G. Gregory, of Fredericktown, Mo. "Our doctor's remedy had failed, then we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief." For sale by D. J. Brannen's drug store.

TERRITORIAL

The news from Saginaw is to the effect that all the developments are most flattering. Especially on the Dakota the bodies of ore continue large and the grade keeps up to its rich standard.

There is some talk of prospecting the top or ridge of the Tucson range of mountains. It is said there never has been a prospector on the ridge. Who knows but what there are a half dozen bonanzas up there.—Tucson Star.

Judge Bethune and District Attorney Satterwhite went to the Banner mine last week, says the Tucson Star. They are now employing nine men on their property, which is now producing high grade ore in paying quantities.

The house on the Bowers ranch in the Agua Fria valley was destroyed by fire last Saturday. The origin of the fire is a mystery. This old house has a historical record, as during the early days of the Territory it afforded refuge to many a man from the murderous Apaches. The property belonged to N. B. Bowers, now living in San Bernardino, Cal.—Prescott Journal-Miner.

J. W. Benham, who is in charge of the canaigre digging crew in Maricopa county, tells the Phoenix Gazette that this plant, the roots of which possess such remarkable tanning qualities, is nothing more than wild rhubarb, and that the stalks are used as an article of food by the employees. It would take an expert to distinguish the difference between rhubarb and the canaigre when served. The only difference is that the wild article is tougher and more stringy than rhubarb and not quite as nutritious.

A new strike in an extension of the famous Commonwealth mine at Pearce is one of the mining sensations of the week. The owners of the mine are so elated they are afraid to disclose the real value of the ore discovered until they have made further explorations. The ore body was struck upon reaching the footwall of the vein, and is of the same appearance and apparant quality as that found in the great bullion producer of the camp. Every indication points to its being a continuation of the same ore body and on the same vein which gave the camp its fame and has proven such a wonderful producer. The owners promise full particulars as soon as the extent of the ore body is known, but do not care to create any false excitement as the result of over enthusiasm.—Tombstone Prospector.

You may hunt the world over and you will not find another medicine equal to Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy for bowel complaints. It is pleasant, safe and reliable. For sale by D. J. Brannen's drug store.

Probate Judge Layton paid Williams an official visit yesterday.
