Arrangements for the Monster Celebration Complete-The Preliminary Parade Last Night-Rockets and Red Fire and Concert Music--Visiting Parlors Arriving.

Yesterday was visiting day at the headquarters of the Native Sons. No business was transacted by the various committees, as all arrangements had been perfected during the last few days. The entire day was devoted to the reception of visitors and the answering of questions. The rooms were besieged by large crowds of Native Sons and Pioneers, who asked for tickets to the different exercises. None, however, were distributed, and in consequence there was much disappointment. The visitors were told that tickets for interior parlors would only be given to the Secretary of the parlor or a representative delegated by the parlor, who could then distribute them to his dele-

General Chairman Chamberlain of the Joint Committee has issued a bulletin stating that tickets for all events will be distributed to visiting parlors at the readingrooms, 24 Fourth street, as follows: Sunday, from 1 to 2 o'clock; Monday, from 8:30 to 10 o'clock in the morning; Tuesday, from 2 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

VISITORS RECEIVED. The officers of the Joint Committee, who devoted the day to receiving visiting delegations and in giving them all necessary information regarding the celebration, were surprised at the large number who reported at headquarters. Chairman Chamberlain stated that he believed more visitors would attend than had been calculated on. The vestibule of the Baldwin Hotel was never so crowded as it was yesterday with visiting Native Sons. At 1:30 o'clock the Seccond Regiment Band, N. G. C., took up its station in the main corridor and discoursed music until 5 o'clock. The first piece played was "The Native Sons' March," composed

The headquarters of Mission Parlor, No. 38, N. S. G. W., will be in a handsomely decorated booth in the Mechanics' Pavilion, where the party will receive and entertain. On the evening of September 9th a social ance will be given by this parlor at Scot-sh Hall. In the parade the members will wear white hats with red, white and blue bands, white vests, white ties, white over-gaiters and black suits. The parlor will assemble for parade at 8:30 o'clock in the norning on September 9, 1890, at the Starr King Building, 123 Geary street. The float will be a representation of the discovery of gold by Marshall.

George J. Reading, who has charge of the fruit exhibit from Tulare County, was kept busy all day yesterday watching the unloading of fruit at their headquarters in the Lick House. He says that about 1500 to 2000 pounds of fruit will be received each day for free distribution to visitors. The gentleman from Tulare left at THE CALL office a basket of choice products from the orchards of that county. In it were a number of peaches, which measure ten and a half inches in circumference.

The musical detachment of the Palo Alto will arrive at 20 o'clock Monday evening.
> The General Reception Committee and the Escort Committee commenced their duties yesterday morning, when 100 members re-ported to Chairman R. P. Hammond Jr. for luty. The delegations met were from Tulare and Stanislaus counties and numbered about 200, exclusive of bands and the representation of the Pioneers of Tulare County, and also two ladies from Tulare who belonged to the Donner party of historical fame. The entire Reception Committee, headed by a band of eighteen pieces and a drum corps, went over to Oakland on the boat and met the incoming guests, who were then escorted to the Lick House. The little procession excited considerable interest, being the first of the week's receptions. The old wagon which crossed the plains to Tulare County, and which was driven by an old pioneer Mr. Lindsley, attracted considerable atten-tion. At 4:45 o'clock about seventy of the Reception Committee met parlors from Nevada and Placer counties, comprising about 200 guests, and escorted them to the Eintracht Hall on Post street.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS.

Their Quarters Besieged by Interior Delegations.
At the headquarters of the Native Daughters all was bustle and confusion yesterday from early morning until late in the afternoon. Mrs. Green, the indefatigable Secretary, had hardly a minute to spare in receiving visiting delegations from interior parlors. The rooms are brightly decorated, but the embellishment of flowers seemed inof the embedishment of howers seemed insignificant compared to the beautiful array of lovely forms and faces that flitted to and fro from the pariors all day.

Among the prominent visitors at the Native Daughters' headquarters during the day were Mayor Pond, President Alexander Montgomery of the Pioneers, and Past Pres-idents of the Native Sons A. F. Jones, John H. Grady and C. A. Garoutte.

The Native Daughters are making considerable complaint about their treatment on the part of the various committees having charge of the distribution of tickets for the various entertainments of the celebration. They are allowed but two tickets each, and as they have taken such an active part in arranging for the tableaux on Monday night, they do not believe that they are being treated rightly, and ask that their services be better recognized. Some of the members of the committees have promised to do what they can to give them more tickets. All of the interior Native Daughters will receive one ticket each.

The badges of the Joint Committee for the Native Daughters were distributed at their headquarters. It consists of a shrimp pink diamond, with a raised silver bear worked upon it. The diamond is suspended from a pink pendant and bow.

The crowd was so dense on Market street that it was difficult to make headway, even by the aid of the officers. The Captain had to charge the crowd himself in order to make way for his men.

The First Regiment Band headed the Veteran Firemen's Association of Portland, Oregon. The latter pulled their machine, and were escorted by a delegation of the Veteran Firemen of this city. In the center was a stand occupied by the Park Band, and as the procession approached it opened with "Admission Day March," a piece composed for the occasion by Mr. Schleigher of Standard March, "Admission Layer and Company of the occasion by Mr. Schleigher of Standard Mr. Schleigher of Sta ford Parlor, and set to music by J. Matheson of Hesperian Parlor. Rockets, roman candles, bombs and red and blue fire made a grand spectacle as the procession paraded around the square amid the enthusiastic acclamations of the multitude. The display of fireworks was kept up for more than an hour, and was an intimation of the earnestness of the Native Sons to make a grand success of the contemplated debration.

The decorations for Union square were original in their conception and elegant in their execution. This was effected by radia-ting ropes from the flag-staff, 60 feet in neight, which served as the center, while the four sides were the boundaries of the figures. About fifty ropes, from which small flags strung in a liberal manner throughout their entire length, were stretched across the square in such manner as to form a canopy. The stand in the center was about twenty was a small stand erected for the use of the handsome national standards, the largest of which was twenty-five feet in length, but stiff western winds. As a whole, the square was elegantly and fittingly decorated. Every color helped to produce a harmony and add to the moment's inspiration.

SARATOGA HALL.

How It Has Been Decorated for Stanford Parlor.

Saratoga Hall, which has been decorated most elegantly and very delicately by A. F. Schleicher for Stanford Parlor, has received more words of unsolicited praise than any other of the many headquarters. Of course it does not come up to the Pavilion in the extent and magnificence of its beauty, for the Pavilion received the finishing touches of many hands, and its decoration were shaped after widely diversified tastes. Saratoga Hall, however, from being the work of one parlor and under the guidance of one director, is unsurpassed in its harmony in and delicacy of coloring. The stage effect is grand. It is the scene of a mining camp with three miners, a cabin, pet bear and mining chute as its prospect.

The gailery, which is supported by eight rods suspended from the ceiling, is decorated on each side by the mellowest red and blue and a white strip attached to each rod and droning to a point and dr and drooping to a point amid rods, where they are caught in such a manner as to de-scribe a double line of beauty. At the point of attachment with the gallery a Roman shield hides the knot and adds to Roman shield hides the knot and adds to the general effect.

From the chandelier in the center of the hall a half-dozen American pennants reach out in as many directions to the corners and sides of the hall, to be caught up by an American shield. The decorations at the end of the hall are on the same system as those on the sides, but the colors are varied from red, white and blue to a light green and saffron. A beautiful picture of Minerva graces the central portion of the gallery. and sairon. A beautiful picture of antierva graces the central portion of the gallery.

The refreshment-room is a conservatory of flowers, which are banked up in the center at each end and on the sides.

In the reception-room a special design of the electric town of San Jose is stationed.

With but few exceptions the entire mercantile and commercial world in this, the Queen City of the Pacific, have joined hands with Pioneers and Native Sons in their efforts to make California's fortieth birthday one long to be remembered. In many instances these efforts are highly artistic, and last evening, when the glare of gas and electric lights was thrown upon them, gas and electric lights was thrown upon them, the effect was handsome in the extreme. In this respect the palm of excellence must be voted to the Kearny-street merchants, who, from Market to California, vied with one another as to which of them should make the prettiest showing. Market street, to be sure, had its points of interest too, each of which had its advocates, but as they were not so concentrated as in the Kearny-street blocks the effect was not as pleasing.

not so concentrated as in the Kearny-street blocks the effect was not as pleasing.

Starting north from Lotta's fountain, the visiting Native Sons must have been struck last night with the elegant front presented by Roos Brothers' clothing establishment, on the corner of Kearny and Post streets. A score of arch lights hung out at every story, made evening light as day, so that the smallest detail of the decorations could plainly be seen. An immense triple picture is a conspicuous object in the center of the building. It represents a sleeping miner upon a cliff overlooking the gold diggings who sees in his dreams the sun rising over his Eastern home. On the left of this a picture is given of what the spot was like in 1850—a sea of On the left of this a picture is given of what the spot was like in 1850—a sea of sand, over which a lone wagon is trying to make headway. Shortly after 8 o'clock Grand Marshal garlands of evergreen. Similar but more garlands of evergreen. Similar but more elaborate draperies ornament the store winndows, where the Bear flag is conspicuous, and pretty shields bearing Welcome to the Pioneers and Native Sons.

On the building opposite quite an elaborate showing is made from roof to sidewalk. The whole facade is dotted with pictures of the past and present generations, interspersed with stars and shields in a setting of evergreens and national colors. Sutter, Fremont, Marshall and Winn look down upon the world from the upper story, and upon the world from the upper story, and the prominent officers of the Native Sons are pictured below them. Immediately above the store comes the feature of the exhibition, four verdure-clad niches dedicated to California, Pomona, Flores and Cares. In them are posed four young ledies cated to California, Pomona, Flores and Ceres. In them are posed four young ladies appropriately costumed. California has her shield and spear from which the American flag is unfurled, and alongside her is a splendid specimen of the black bear. Pomona stands erect in a niche whose mass of green is relieved with luscious fruits; Flora's home is trimmed with flowers and Ceres has her sheaves and sickle for company. At the White House there is a very tasteful display of American flags, grouped into shields at every window. The place of honor is given to the seal of Stat.

The Hub is also simply, but tastefully decorated. From the awning colored bunting is gathered in graceful folds. The window-frames are clothed in red and blue with overhanging draperies of white, and, in overhanging draperies of white, and, in circlets of evergreens, the house extends a welcome to every celebrant. The entrances were trimmed with stars and stripes, and a were trimmed with stars and stripes, and a grizzly kept guard in each.

Kœnig's shoe-store is another neat decoration, in which evergreens enter into happy combination with pretty shields and tasteful draperies. At Hay's photograph gallery a blaze of light from hundreds of Japanese lanterns light from hundreds of Japanese lanterns showed up the decorations, which are largely of an Oriental character.

Engelberg's bakery has its facade handsomely trimmed with garlands of evergreens entwined in handsomely draped bunting. Numerous flags and shields and a large gold bear add to the effect.

On California street the banks and insurance companies made handsome showings. At the San Francisco Union, German Savings and Loan Society and the London and ings and Loan Society and the London and San Francisco Bank the entrances were or-namented with rich flowing draperies, in which the bear flag and American colors The Bank of California excels these with a pictorial display. Over the entrance is a large painting, which represents a pioneer and a bear holding a shield between them, upon which a welcome is extended to the Native Sons. This is framed with a broad the ground two immense flags—one a garri-son flag and the other a bear flag—which are caught up in graceful folds at the door. The scal of State and other pretty shields also enter into the decoration. Another striking picture is that presented by the Fireman's Fund Building, upon which a mining scene is portrayed with men working at the rockers. Here the Na-tive Daughters, as well as the Sons, receive a welcome.

Shreve's jewelry establishment is quietly decorated with the prevailing colors. In one of the windows a tasteful display is made of the banners and flags belonging to one of the prominent parlors.

On Market street the J. D. Spreckels building makes an elaborate display. In a framework of color is set a large picture showing a bit of the overland trail in 1849. Republican State Central Committee Meeting.

Colonel Markham Arrives From the South Iroquois Sachems in Consultation. Democratic Committee.

The arrival yesterday of Colonel Markam, the country members of the State Central Committees and the delegates to the First Congressional District Convention caused a revival of excitement in political circles in this city. The Colonel is busy completing his plans for the campaign and conferring with the Republican State Central Committee upon details. The Republican candidates met yesterday afternoon and disposed of a considerable portion of the business necessary before commencing campaign operations. The outlook in the south is reported to be brighter than ever before for Markham. Reports from all over the State show that the party is solidly united and enthusiastic over the whole ticket. The presence of the Colonel in the north will undoubtedly cause the same solidity and enthusiasm on this side of the Tehachapi mountains as on the other.

OPENING THE CAMPAIGN. Republican State Central Committee

Meeting.
The Republican State Central Committee met at headquarters yesterday afternoon. Irwin C. Stump presided and opened the meeting by stating that encouraging reports upon the indorsement of the platform and upon the indorsement of the platform and ticket had been received from all parts ou the State, and that harmony prevailed in the party in every county. He said that the intention was to make this a Republican the intention was to make this a Republican pany's hands. ticket had been received from all parts ou year in order that other Republican year may follow.

The following were elected permanent officers of the committee: Irwin C. Stump, Chairman; D. M. Burns, Vice-Chairman; W. W. Montague, Treasurer; C. F. Bassett, W. W. Montague, Treasurer; C. F. Bassett, Secretary.
Colonel Markham was then introduced by the Chairman and received with tumulatuous applause. He made a few happy remarks upon his general introduction to the people of the State and the unique position in which he found himself by being, as it were, on exhibition. His aim, he said, was to get acquainted with everybody, even as onickly as everybody was trying to get ac-quickly as everybody was trying to get ac-quainted with him. He appealed to the meeting to send him during the campaign only where his presence was most essential, for he wished to make a personal canvass of the State. remarking that he did not believe he had ever won a vote by any of his speeches, but when he met a refractory man face to face he invariably won his friendship and his presided Judge J. A. Barham of Santa Rosa was named by A. B. Lemon of the same place. John S. Enos of Sonoma County was named by P. B. Graham of Lake County. E. W. Jones of Colusa inquired if it was known whether General Chipman would accept a nomination. He considered the General would add great strength tol the ticket in the north, and would also interest himself in improving the navigation of the himself in improving the navigation of the Sacramento River.

General Pratt of Humboldt County replied that he had recently met General Chipman in Tchama County, and was satisfied from their conversation on the matter that a nomination would be declined.

John S. Enos then addressed the meeting. He said he had already been tendered the nomination and had refused it. He had since heen importanced by his friends to re-

He declared his unalienable affection for the Republican party, and asserted that there were 'no sore spots or flies on him."

The Chairman closed the nominations and Judge Barham was unanimously nominated.

GOOD REPUBLICANS.

A Generous Action That Gave Barmony The harmony which exists in the Republican ranks in this State was evidenced at the County Convention held at Napa yesterday, when nominations for Assemblyman was made. Owen Wade and C. J. Beer stecher had been fighting each other for the nomination, but when they were convinced that they were disturbing the harmony of the convention they magnanimously withfrew from the contest in order that a man might be chosen who would receive the undivided support of the party. Their generosity was recognized with applause. Hon. F. L. Coombs was nominated by ac-

Board of Sachems. The Board of Sachems of the Iroquois Club met yesterday afternoon to arrange for the establishment of branches of the ciub in each county seat in the State. Grand Sa-L. J. Welch, Clitus Barbour and William Gibson were appointed a committee to draft an address upon the desirability of the establishment of branch clubs. This address will be sent throughout the State.

Speeches upon the standing of the branch clubs already organized and upon other topics were delivered by representatives from the interior and the city. Buckley's Executive Committee The Sub-Executive Committee of the Democratic State Central Committee met yesterday afternoon in executive session, at the rooms of the Democratic State Central Committee, and discussed campaign business; Charles L. Ackerman presided.

Everybody has heard of a "horse laugh," but who has ever seen an equine gifted with the power of speech? Such an animal would be pronounced a miracle; but so would the telegraph and the telephone a hundred years ago. Why, even very recently a cure for consumption, which is universally acknowledged to be scrofula affecting the lungs, would have been looked upon as miraculous, but now people are beginning to realize that the disease is not incurable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it, if taken in time and given a fair trial. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy state when other means have failed. Thousands gratefully testify to this. It is the most potent tonic, or strength restorer, alterative, or blood-cleanser and nutritive, or fiesh-builder, known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh in the Head, and all Lingering Coughs, it is an unequaled remedy. In derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels, as Indigestion, or Dyspepsia, Billiousness, or "Liver Complaint," Chronic Diarrhea, and kindred ailments, it is a sovereign remedy.
