FORGOT HER LEFT ARM.

The Result of an Oversight in a Hypnotic Experiment. Court Councillor Meynert, professor of medicine at the university in Vienna, was prevented recently, says the Chicago Times, from delivering one of his regular afternoon lectures, and as the students were already assembled, his assistant, Dr. Anton, undertook to hypnotize a young woman for the instruction of the disappointed audience. The young woman was tall, slender, light-haired and somewhat over twenty years of age. Dr. Anton let his hand glide over her forehead, smoothed her eyelids with his fingers, touched her cheeks with soft downward strokes, and then commanded, loudly: 'Now sleep.' She slept.

'Your arms are completely crippled,' he said, and both arms sank limp by her sides. 'What will you now do, poor creature, without any arms?' he asked. The girl raised her bowed head and began to weep and wall so piteously that the students rose in their places and shouted that she must be restored at once to consciousness.

Dr. Anton seized the young woman's right arm, rubbed it smartly, and suggested: 'You are all right now. Your arm is well again.' In the same instant the girl raised her arm, with a triumphant expression of face. Dr. Anton then aroused her, to his and his assistant's astonishment, however, the girl's left arm still hung limp and apparently nerveless at her side. He had forgotten, in speaking colloquially, to tell her that her left arm, too, had recovered its strength. He touched the helpless arm and exhorted the young woman to raise it, but in vain. She couldn't stir it an inch.

Dr. Anton then explained that the students had before them a case of 'post-hypnotic crippling,' which could be removed only after the girl had been again hypnotized. He was unwilling to exhaust the girl by bringing her immediately under his influence once more, so he deferred the performance of the cure for several days. He said the girl was so subject to influences that the regular ticking of a clock or the monotonous ringing of a church bell would suffice to hypnotize her.

RETALIATION URGED

Senator Paddock Talks About Germany's Action.

PROMPT MEASURES ADVOCATED

The President May Issue an Order Excluding German Beet Sugar.

A Statement that Senator Edmunds Will Resign - The Surplus in the Treasury - A Bulletin About Fugitives from Great Britain - No Gold Bars for Shipment - Circular to Customs Collectors.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Senator Paddock, who has been spending several days in New York, has returned to Washington. In response to an inquiry regarding the report that the government was contemplating retaliation upon Germany as a result of the refusal of the German Empire to remove the prohibition on American meat products, the Senator said:

'The report that President Harrison has stated to me the intention of the administration to retaliate upon Germany for the cause named is not true. However, it is a good idea to believe that if the senseless and unjust discrimination against American pork and other meat products is not at once removed our government will promptly measure to retaliate by excluding certain German importations from this country.'

'I urged upon the President that under the provisions of the act of August 30, 1890, beet sugar of which $16,000,000 worth were imported into this country last year, should be excluded under the provisions of such a law. I have reason to believe that President Harrison is seriously considering the issuance of such a proclamation, and that if the restriction which Germany places upon our meat products is not promptly removed an order prohibiting the acceptance of German beet sugar at the ports of the United States will soon be issued.'

WILL EDMUNDS RESIGN?

Ex-Senator Pierce Publishes a Statement to that Effect.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—It develops that the evidently inspired statement in a Minneapolis paper in regard to Secretary Proctor's resignation, which says that Senator Edmunds expects to resign before the next meeting of the Senate, owing to the health of his daughter and other considerations, and that Mr. Proctor will doubtless succeed him, comes from ex-Senator Pierce, whose friendly relations with Mr. Edmunds gives it color. Mr. Pierce says this in the course of a conversation with the Senator at the latter's residence. Mr. Edmunds said the Senator with the remark that it might be the last time he might meet with them, or words to that effect.

Rumors About Commissioner Morgan.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The report that the President had demanded the resignation of Indian Commissioner Morgan is denied at the Interior Department. It is stated, however, that charges have been preferred against the Commissioner on account of his alleged discrimination against Roman Catholic Indian teachers. Mr. Morgan says the present trouble originated solely because of the failure of the Government to pay his salary. He says he is ready to resign at any time, but that he will not do so until he has secured reappointment at Green Bay, Wis. Also that a Catholic sister was in subordinate and remained away from her school for several days without giving an explanation. She was dismissed.

Fugitives from Great Britain.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The Department of State has issued a bulletin, stating that it is necessary, in order to secure the detention of fugitives from justice in Great Britain, that the request should be made by the Government of the State, through the State Department. An exception is made in favor of the city and county of New York, where the District Attorney is allowed to apply directly to the department without the interposition of the Governor.

Circular to Collectors of Customs.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Secretary Foster issued an important circular to Collectors of Customs, which says: 'To insure the necessary identification of refined sugars which may be exported on or after April 1st, the collector of customs at each port of export will be required to file an entry before that date, and the sugars covered thereby shall remain in the custody of a customs officer at the expense of the exporter until duly shipped for transportation.'

No Gold Bars for Shipment.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Secretary Foster decides that the policy of the department in exercising the discretion invested in the Secretary of the Treasury by the act of March 3, 1891, in declining to furnish gold bars in exchange for gold coin for shipment, would be adhered to, and the necessary instructions to that effect were issued by the director of the mint.

The Surplus in the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The surplus in the Treasury to-day is about $13,000,000. Although the internal revenue receipts for February showed a falling off from the previous month, the custom receipts continue to roll up and the heavy drain on the Treasury from the direct tax, about $3,000,000 so far, does not seem to materially affect it.

Many Congressmen Have the Grip.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Ex-Congressman McCado, of New Jersey, is just out of his room from an attack of the grip. He says there are a great many Congressmen here who have been ill and are still confined to their rooms, and their disappearance has caused the belief that they have gone home.

NO KNIGHTS NEED APPLY.

The Clothing Manufacturers State How They Will End the Lockout.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 24.—The following notice to their late employees has been issued signed by the 21 firms of clothing manufacturers of this city engaged in the lockout:

'It is unnecessary for us to rehearse to you the unpleasant events which led to the closing of our respective cutting rooms on the 7th of March. We are now ready to resume work, and any of you who wish to re-engage yourselves are requested to make formal application to your late employers on or before the 28th day of March, 1891, after which date we shall fill any and all vacancies with other applicants.'

'We shall at all times insist upon our unrestricted right to hire and discharge employees. The hours of labor will be the same as those before the 7th of March, and those who before that date were employed will be paid the same rate of wages as were paid them on the last mentioned date.'

'We will, however, employ no person who is a member of an assembly of the Knights of Labor.'

THE CONNECTICUT PUZZLE.

Senator Fox Will Offer a Bill To-day to Settle the Vexed Question.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 24.—Senator Timothy Fox, of the New Haven district, will offer another bill in the Senate to-day, which has been viewed as a settlement of the gubernatorial controversy on lines which call for a compromise on both sides.

The bill was drafted by Lawyer Henry T. Blake. It will be presented to the Senate at Mr. Blake's request. In his reasons for drafting the bill Mr. Blake points out the danger and evils to the Commonwealth under the present state of affairs.

His bill differs slightly from those already presented by the Democrats in that it provides that the General Assembly shall recognize Morgan as Governor until his successor shall be sworn in. It is believed that the bill will meet the fate of its predecessors.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP.

The Plans for the Overland Journey Somewhat Disarranged.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—President Harrison's California trip has been disarranged. He had intended to take Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. McKee and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison with him. Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Russell Harrison, however, are preparing to sail for Europe about May 15. This will necessitate, it is thought, leaving Master Benjamin Harrison and Mary Lodge McKee in the care of Mrs. Harrison, and she may not wish to be separated from them for the six weeks contemplated in the overland journey.

Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Russell Harrison propose going direct to London, where they are to be the guests of Minister and Mrs. Lyell. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps will look out for their comfort in Berlin and Minister and Mrs. Reid will perform a like courtesy on their arrival in Paris.

Found in a Boiling Salt Vat.

PRITTSBURG, Pa., March 24.—Last Thursday Henry Reddy, whose home was on Beaver avenue, Allegheny, entered the works of Haller, Beck & Co., on Rebers street, in the city of Chittenden. After a struggle the watchman succeeded in putting Reddy out of the building. He sat down in an open window and tried to get out. Yes, yesterday his body was found at the bottom of one of the boiling salt vats. It is supposed he went to sleep on the window-sill and fell backward into the vat.

J., on the charge of carrying a fund to carry his case to the higher courts. They all believe him innocent of the crime. Lingo's counsel now has the name of the negro that was seen in the bush lot on the fatal day, and claims to have evidence that the man was not Lingo.

Marie, and that they have been promised a bonus to enable them to build this road.

Death from a Poisonous Root.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 24.—Three young men named Henry Conrad, Nicholas Miller and Charles Higgs, partook of a root supposed to be arctic. It was some poisonous growth, however, and Conrad died within an hour after eating of it. Miller is in a critical condition and the doctors say he will die. Higgs took but a mouthful of the root and will recover.

FOLLOWED BY A MOB

Timothy Healy Savagely Assaulted in Cork.

BLINDED FROM HIS INJURIES.

Great Excitement Over the Affair and a General Fight Expected.

DUBLIN, March 24.—Timothy Healy, who made a bitter speech yesterday about Mr. Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea, was the object at noon of a fierce and possibly serious attack in Cork.

Healy was leaving the court room where his brother Maurice had just won a libel suit against a Cork adherent of Parnell, when an angry mob followed and tried to assault him, calling him a 'swindler,' etc.

Healy took refuge in the dressing-room of the Victoria Hotel. A man rushed in and blew out the light, crying: 'Fight a man, if you dare, instead of reviling a woman.'

Healy tried to escape, but the assailant struck him, smashing his eye-glasses and cutting his eyes and face. The intruder then fled.

Healy was blinded from his injuries, and cried for help. Three doctors were summoned, who, upon examination, expressed a fear that the eye-sight was being lost.

Healy's assailant proves to be O'Brien Dalton, one of the defendants in the Tipperary conspiracy trial. The broken glasses injured the corner of the left eye and threatened the sight.

There is great excitement over the assault and a general fight between the Parnellites and Healyites is expected.

DISORDER IN IRELAND.

Parnell Speaks at Sligo and Endorses the Candidacy of Dillon.

DUBLIN, March 24.—In his speech at Sligo, Mr. Parnell has endorsed the candidature of Dillon. Mr. Parnell should be bought out by compulsory expropriation, the tenants to occupy their holdings in perfect security and practically rent free. Eight or ten millions of pounds would be more than ample, he said, to enable the landlords, who would accomplish a noble work that of the emancipation of the American slaves.

As to candidates, he preferred Valentine Dillon to any other man, but he would support any man who had deserted their party, as Dillon had not run for Gladstone made facts at him.

Dillon's election agent has applied for protection against organized mobs. Mrs. Lyell and two assistants, who had been having been seen near Tobin's residence on Saturday.

PARNELL AND HEALY.

They May Try Conclusions in Cork When All the Arrangements Are Made.

DUBLIN, March 24.—The Freeman's Journal publishes a letter from Mr. Parnell, addressed to the Cork Leadership war, in which he indicates that he has placed his application for a writ of habeas corpus in the hands of Mr. Nolan, the whip, with the request that it be forwarded to the Chancellor of the Exchequer at the moment Mr. Healy presents himself before his Cork constituents for re-election.

Mr. Parnell says that the tone of studied innuendo and the untruthful character of the statements comprised in the 'Masthead' Healy's letter with regard to the matter of contesting that constituency are such as to deprive him from communicating directly with either Mr. Healy or the friends of that gentleman.

Maurice Healy declares that if Parnell's letter is genuinely tendered he will at once meet.

To Meet Coercion by Annexation.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 24.—The people of New Brunswick are greatly excited over the report to pass an act to coerce them into carrying out the hated modus vivendi. Mass meetings have been called all over the State, and in the Legislature the resolutions are reiterated and the most violent speeches have been made denouncing 'the cowardly and treacherous conduct of the British government.' The majority of the legislators have undoubtedly determined to go in for annexation to the United States.

ANOTHER BANK CLOSED.

A New York Institution that Lent Money on Worthless Collateral.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The Washington National Bank at No. 1 Broadway has closed its doors, as it had been discovered that its capital had been impaired. The bank examiner took charge this morning, and the bank's affairs will probably be wound up.

Sidell Tighman, a director of the bank, said the irregularities in the bank's affairs were first discovered about a week ago. After a cursory examination on Saturday last it was found that the impairment was in the neighborhood of $75,000.

This was to have been made good by the directors yesterday, but President Sherman informed the directors that the impairment was larger than had been discovered and would aggregate about $60,000 more than it was thought to be. It was then decided to discontinue business.

The bank began business last June with a paid up capital of $300,000. The net deposits are only about $200,000, and Director Tighman declares about a week ago. After a cursory examination on Saturday last it was found that the impairment was in the neighborhood of $75,000.

It was learned that the bank's money had been loaned out by the president to friends on poor and worthless collateral. President Sherman has the full confidence of the directors. When the complete announcement of the bank's affairs had been made, he had disappeared, no one knew where.

THE HARRIS-POTTS CASE.

The Whole Matter Will be Laid Before the Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Mrs. Potts, the mother of Helen Potts-Harris, called at the district-attorney's office and made a full and complete statement of the case from her point of view. In this statement she repeated the charges that the young Harris was implicated in, and responsible for, the death of her daughter, as has already been stated.

The exact nature of these charges, as placed before the district attorney, could not be learned, as Mr. Nicholls contented himself by merely stating that the mother had called and preferred the charges. He says it will be some days before the matter will go before the grand jury.

STRANGLED TO DEATH.

A Belief that the Tobin Tragedy Was the Work of Tramps.

FRANKLIN, Pa., March 24.—The autopsy of N. P. Tobin, the tailor of this city, showed that he was strangled to death. The story that the person who caused the mysterious drowning of his daughter two years ago also planned the murder of the father receives some credence from the fact that detectives were always at hand in the case, and Tobin frequently declared that the chain of evidence would soon be complete.

The most plausible theory is that Tobin was killed by tramps. Five tramps have been arrested and are now in jail, having been seen near Tobin's residence on Saturday.
