A SPECIALTY

The Cool of the Day.

The plan of some of the Washington department workers to get more good out of daylight by changing the schedule of the day seems to be more practical than disturbing the clock. In England it has been proposed to get up with the daylight instead of at 5 or 6 o'clock, old style, and take up the routine of activities in the usual order. This would leave a longer spell of daylight after the workday is done. The department clerks propose to get 24 work earlier by the clock as it stands. This is simple.

The worker with a hard stint knows better than to loaf in the cool of the day. By 9 o'clock in the morning, when department office work begins, the sun is high and the atmosphere already warmed up about half of the year. If the office man starts work at 8 o'clock and quits at 3:30 instead of at 4:30 he gets that long afternoon play spell the English clock reformers yearn for and is in better trim for an outing than when he is chained to the office grind through the hottest seven hours of the twenty-four. It is an easy matter to upset habit and settle it down again. But it will not be easy to make the hand on the dial tell another tale from that which the world has lived by since clocks were first invented.

During the last five years the fire fund has licked up $1,500,000,000 in property in this country. We can replace the buildings and goods, but the value has gone up in smoke.

Law Points.

An assignment by one in service, of wages to be earned in the future, is held in Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company versus Provolt (Colo.), 93 Pac., 1123; 16 L. R. A. (N. S.), 287, not to be against public policy.

A promise by a mortgagee on failure of the net proceeds of a sale of the mortgaged property to equal the debt to take less than the debt in full discharge of it is held in Gilson versus Nesson, 198 Mass., 508; 84 N. E., 854; 17 L. R. A. (N. S.), 1208, to be without consideration and void.

SIREN AND SONS.

John D. Rockefeller wears a No. 7 hat and No. 9 shoes.

Urban Dessessart of Paris, although blind since childhood, has saved four persons from drowning.

Robert A. Taft, Yale, 1910, son of President Taft, has been chosen president of the university debating association.

Solomon Close of Stamford, Conn., is a collector of historic earth. His collection includes soil from many of the great battlefields of the world.

Senator James P. Tallaferra of Florida is sixty-one years of age and a Confederate army veteran, yet he is one of the youngest looking members of the senate.

Lord Althorp, an intimate of the king of England, goes by the name of the "Last of the Dandies" by reason of his immaculate attire and the variety of his fancy waistcoats.

Chauncey M. Depew is seventy-five years old. He declined to be minister to Japan forty years ago and once put behind him an offer of the portfolio of state by President Harrison.

William Dittich, eighty-six years old, sole survivor of the orchestra that played with Jenny Lind during her concerts in Philadelphia in the early fifties, has just regained his eyesight through several operations after having been blind for ten years.

Lord Wolsley, who used to be known in England as "our greatest general," is in straitened circumstances and has given up his residence, the Farmhouse, Glynde, Sussex, owing to the expiration of his lease, and the furniture and contents of the modest little mansion have been disposed of by auction.
