"The twin birds in different years. All have been present at the nest of twins in different years. The nest is always in the same place. The young birds are fed by both parents."


