It begins to look as if realized prospects of good crops will restore business activity in spite of the tariff force at Washington.

Hon. Fred M. Hudson, President of the Senate during the past sixty days' session of the Legislature, was absolutely fair in all his rulings.

Hon. Jon L. Farris, Speaker of the House, is not likely to cross swords with Frank Clark, for the latter's seat in Congress. The people of the Second District do not want a man as their representative who does not know his own mind.

Hon. J. D. Watkins, Dr. H. L. Montgomery and C. E. Melton, the committee from Micanopy who visited Tallahassee during the recent session of the Legislature in behalf of the passage of a bill calculated to give their town better railroad facilities, demonstrated that they knew how to accomplish results.

Governor Gilchrist is demonstrating that the people made no mistake in placing the affairs of State in his hands. He has unhesitatingly vetoed such measures as did not meet his approval, and will undoubtedly decline to approve several iniquitous bills which he did not have time to consider prior to adjournment of the Legislature.

Among the first Florida girls to enjoy the privileges of woman's suffrage are Misses Maude and Vivian Roberts of Key West. They went out to Golden, Colorado, to pay a long visit to their brother, Julian Roberts, and while there qualified as electors and cast their votes in an election, the campaign for which was quite exciting. The young ladies are quite proud of their unique experience and their letters home have caused quite a flutter of excitement in Key West.—Times-Union Short Talks.

The following from The St. Petersburg Times applies to other towns than St. Petersburg: "It is St. Petersburg's misfortune that she has too many people who will carry their poor, measly, petty, personal fights to a point where they are really fighting against the public welfare, instead of against other people they may think they are trying to hurt. This is a condition that every good citizen should set himself against at all times and with all strength. It is a curse to any community, and St. Petersburg has a good deal of it."

The simple tribute to Miss Helen Gould's generosity toward soldiers and sailors paid by a private soldier who died recently and made her his legatee as "the friend of all soldiers," will find an echo in the hearts of all the men in both branches of the service who have received such inestimable benefit at her hands. Miss Gould has advised the War Department that she intends to use the money in furnishing a room in the new portion of the naval branch of the Young Men's Christian Association at Brooklyn. This part of the building, the gift of Mrs. Russell Sage, has just been dedicated. Miss Gould intends to have a tablet placed on the door of the room to the memory of Private Bartlett, and explaining by what means the room was furnished.

THE STUDY IN THE SCHOOLS.

Teachers throughout the country have been invited by the United States Forester to co-operate with the Forest Service in an effort to obtain more definite knowledge of the characteristics of the most important forest trees of the United States. To do this it will be necessary to obtain a large number of volunteer observers who will collect material on the time of leafing, blossoming and fruiting of the various kinds of forest trees. In his letter inviting the co-operation of the teachers, Forester Pinchot says:

"Knowledge of this kind is greatly needed and will be of value from the standpoint of both education and of practical forestry. For educational purposes the results obtained for each species, averaged and presented graphically by means of colored charts, will be available to all who are interested in the subject, and particularly to schools. They will form virtual 'tree calendars,' and will be valuable aids to nature study.

"Children can readily be interested in the actual work of obtaining records. This should form an attractive outdoor feature of the school work that should serve to develop the faculty of accurate observation, and at the same time to promote an interest in forestry which may lead to a better appreciation of its aims and methods. It may also prove to be a profitable addition to botany courses for older students.

"A study of this kind will be of great value to practical forestry, since the proper treatment of forests depends partly upon a knowledge of these characteristics of trees. For example, the time of year at which a tree leafs out and blossoms is one of the indications as to whether or not it is frost-hardy in a given region, and the length of time that a tree is in leaf influences the growth it is able to make during the season. Knowledge of the time when seeds of each species ripen in various localities is of great value to those who are collecting seed, since seed often deteriorates or is eaten by squirrels and birds if not gathered and stored as soon as ripe.

"Another result of this study will be a more intimate knowledge of climate as manifested by plant growth, for differences in climate are shown by plant life as well as by instruments, and a preliminary idea can thus be gained as to whether a given region is suited to a valuable tree which it is desired to introduce there. Many such examples could be given, but sufficient has been said to show that the results of these observations will be a real help to practical forestry, in addition to their general interest and educational value. Volunteers will later be supplied with publications and charts containing the information they help to gather, as a return for the services rendered."

On request, the Forest Service will be glad to send forms upon which to record data and a pamphlet containing full instructions as to the nature of the observations and how they are to be made.

The most commendable act of the late Legislature was recorded when the body voted to adjourn sine die. But be it remembered that this was compulsory.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for testimonials. Address,

OLLIE JAMES.

It will be remembered that during the early part of the session of the Legislature Hon. Frank Clark was invited to address the House in reply to a resolution of censure of himself introduced by Hon. James E. Alexander on account of Mr. Clark having said in a speech in Congress that William Jennings Bryan's leadership had brought only disaster to the Democratic party. In support of his resolution Mr. Alexander read a speech of Hon. Ollie James of Kentucky laudatory of Col. Bryan, and in the course of his remarks to the Legislature Mr. Clark paid his respects to Ollie James as follows:

"I understand that there was a speech read here the other day made by my friend, Ollie James. Did you ever see Ollie?

"Some of you who were at the Denver convention saw Ollie. He is a broad, elegant, large, fine gentleman. He is a little over six feet, weighs probably 225 to 230 pounds. He is a tremendous physical success. And Ollie's speech was read. Ollie is an enthusiastic follower of the 'peerless,' and let me tell you what his leadership, and those like him, has done in Kentucky.

"Kentucky, from my earliest recollection, has ever been a Democratic State—as safely Democratic as Georgia or Texas. No other State in the Union was safer, and yet under the leadership of Ollie James and his associates they have tonight four Republican representatives in Congress, a Republican Governor sits in the State House at Frankfort, and a Republican Senator sits in the Senate chamber in Washington and answers to the name of Kentucky. That's Mr. Bryan's leadership. That's the leadership of Mr. James."

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
