More Troops to Fort Huachuca

Late yesterday afternoon there passed through Fairbank enroute to Fort Huachuca from Buise City, Idaho, the entire First United States Cavalry, consisting of an entire train load, about 300 men and horses. It is expected that by April some 1000 men will be at Fort Huachuca.

According to B. Meier, the well known Benson merchant, General Sawyer will be at the Fort by Saturday and take command of the troops, all of whom have been furnished with sixty rounds of ammunition. He stated further, that he had reliable information to the effect that within the next several days a total of 2,000 soldiers will have been mobilized at Nogales.

It is understood that the soldiers now at the Fort will be distributed throughout the entire Huachuca mountains, along the international line.

When asked whether or not he had been able to ascertain the meaning of the movement of the troops, Mr. Meier stated that not even the officers in command knew the meaning of it, outside of the fact that they were informed that the movement was for practice only. An old army veteran stated this morning that whenever Uncle Sam orders a mobilization of troops for practice and sham battles, he has never before been known to issue sixty rounds of loaded ammunition instead of blank cartridges, and he expects from all present appearances that "something will be popping" shortly.

One More Unfortunate Sent to Asylum

He talks incoherently and does not seem to understand what is said to him. During the examination it developed that he had wandered about the back yards of the residences at Benson and frightened women and children. When found his pockets were filled with railroad spikes, nails and tin cans. He will be taken to the insane asylum tomorrow and turned over to the authorities.

The Two Armies Are About to Clash

Resting on their arms within four miles of each other, the federals at the Rancho Gallardo and General Blanco's force in the neighboring hills, the opposing armies spent last night and a decisive battle is expected during the early hours this morning, according to reports received during the night by The Dispatch.

Yesterday General Blanco fell back from the Rancho Gallardo to the hills, according to the most reliable reports. There, he has assumed a defensive position and awaits attack.

Colonels Ortega and Myers led 400 federal troops out of Agua Prieta at 9 o'clock yesterday and marched with all speed to the Rancho Gallardo, where they went into camp at six o'clock.

The armies and the scene of the expected battle are 12 to 14 miles east of Douglas and a short distance south of the international line.

At Douglas the Copper Queen company yesterday posted notices at the smelter and store, recommending that all employees of that company remain on the American side and refrain from crossing the line during the continuance of present conditions in Mexico.

The country over which the survey is now working is declared to be very easy in the matter of gradients and all the engineering obstacles which the crew encountered in the vicinity of Benson have been overcome.

Surveys are being made on both sides of the Southern Pacific main line in order to determine the easiest grade. As they approach the eastern boundary of the city the surveys will merge into one party and run their lines into the city.

Will Ask Roosevelt to Settle Mexican War

From Guadalupe, via Guaymas, comes a report that a peace delegation will ask former president Roosevelt to intercede and use his good offices with a view to bringing about peace negotiations between the contending forces in the present conflict in Mexico.

This delegation is from Mexico City and Guadalupe and represents an organization of women known as "Las Hermanas de Santa Maria la Virgen," which has among its members the most prominent leaders in society and official circles and others whose husbands are high in governmental affairs of the southern republic. The aim of this society is to promote peace and the welfare of Mexico and it is hinted that it has the support of Senora Diaz, the president's wife, and Senora Jose Limantour now on her way to join her husband, Mexico's secretary of finance, at New York city.

It is said by Americans now in Mexico that Diaz would welcome overtures from our ex-presidents, owing to his successful negotiation of the Knesso-Japanese controversy, which culminated in the Portsmouth treaty.

Miss Lillian Beck won the evening's championship, winning eleven points out of possible twelve. Mrs. Lee Hutchinson earned the consolation distinction.

To Explore Cochise Stronghold

A "telly ho party" of Tombstone ladies left this afternoon to explore the famous historic Cochise Stronghold. The party expects to reach the Rockfellow's Gutted ranch sometime tonight, where the headquarters of the expedition will be established and maintained until tomorrow afternoon, when the homeward drive will begin. The ladies were well provided with provisions and in case of delays should occur they have food enough for an extra meal or two.

At Stanger, the old time stage driver, was the only man in the party, and occupied the driver's seat. He will see that the strenuous pleasure trip is made without any serious mishaps.

Among the ladies who went were Madames Deck and Stewart; Messrs Axtel, Benedict, Collins, Chawning, Giddins, Nello, Small and Williamson.

Rich Ore Strike in Tombstone District

James Walker has made one of the richest ore strikes reported in the Tombstone district for many years and the discovery has created considerable excitement locally.

Mr. Walker made the find on his Arbor claim, adjoining the famous Three Brothers mine, about two miles west of town, and was uncovered at a depth of 35 feet. The ore streak is about eight inches wide and is literally plastered with horn silver.

Samples of the ore brought to town today were remarkably rich specimens, many veteran mining men claiming the samples would easily show 15,000 ounces of silver to the ton.

The ore is being carefully sorted and sacked by Mr. Walker and indications are that he has struck a bonanza.

The new strike has caused a rush of prospectors to the vicinity and many locations have been staked out while probabilities are strong that other work directly thereabouts may lead to more strikes.

Many friends of Mr. Walker are pleased to learn of his good fortune, and are hopeful that developments may open another marvelous Arizona producer.

Senator Culberson in Favor of Arizona

A Washington dispatch says:—Senator Charles A. Culberson of Texas, today issued a statement roundly scolding those Democrats who opposed the admission of New Mexico and Arizona during the closing days of the last session. He said the Arizona constitution put the initiative, referendum and recall.

He said:

"I believe the two territories have the requisite population and are entitled to admission into the Union as an original States."

"2. The Democratic national platform of 1908 declared for their immediate admission and pledged the party to that policy."

"3. New Mexico is normally Republican and Arizona normally Democratic. To admit New Mexico and deny admission to Arizona would give an unjust and undesired advantage to the Republicans in the contest for supremacy in the Senate."

"4. The enabling act of congress of 1910 provided for their admission upon their complying with certain requirements in their constitution and ordinances and each territory complied fully and completely with them."

"5. Senate petitions are urged to the constitution which the people of Arizona adopted, but I favored its admission upon the broad ground that their internal affairs should be left to the people of that territory free of federal intervention, for that is an attribute of self-government. Oklahoma was admitted into the Union in 1907, although its constitution contained the initiative and referendum."

May Erect Power Plant In the Grand Canyon

During the past two months Mr. Williams, who was at one time connected with the Desert Power & Water company, has been investigating different parts of the lower Grand Canyon of the Colorado with a view to building a great dam across the stream for the creation of power. This, it is understood, has resulted in the discovery of a place that is well able to the purpose and Mr. Williams has gone to Los Angeles to make a report to his superiors. The men behind this project are well able to carry it to a successful termination.

The Kingman Mirror says:—A power plant in the Grand Canyon could be of incalculable benefit to this section of Arizona, as it would put within the possibilities the irrigation of vast tracts of land and at the same time give to the mine cheap power. Enough power could be produced by one great dam in the river to operate every piece of machinery in Arizona.

Senator Clapp Says Congress Must Decide

The following dispatch, sent to the Duluth News-Tribune by its Washington correspondent, Frederick A. Johnson, under the date recorded below, is an exposition of what Arizonaans may really expect from the extra session of congress.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—Senator Moses E. Clapp declared emphatically today that the forthcoming extra session of congress will not be confined to tariff acts and amendments. He said: "We must determine the question of popular government, and to that end an enabling act to admit the territory of Arizona to statehood with a constitution which a very large majority of her people have voted for will be one of the most important questions to be decided."

"The fight for Arizona was only begun during the closing hours of the last session. It will be continued at the next session for the purpose of determining whether the people of that territory, who have adopted their constitution, are to be estranged with state government in accordance therewith. Popular elections of United States senators will be brought forward again, and I am confident that a constitutional amendment will be adopted."

The Yavapai board of supervisors on the petition for prohibition election in Camp Verde precinct, and the date of the election is set for the first of next month. The area of the precinct is 144 square miles, in which area two saloons are in operation,

What Does Blanco Intend to Do?

After having Agua Prieta at his mercy for four days, General Blanco has repeated the history of the siege of Juarez and has withdrawn apparently without attempting to strike a blow, as he would according to the most reliable reports brought here. Douglas last night.

Whether the rebel commander has actually started on a 200-mile "kick" toward Chihuahua, or still is hesitating to draw the obvious line, or enter the town at all without necessary bloodshed, will not, as a rule, be definitely known until the reports of the movements of the two armies are verified.

Last night two men came into Douglas from the east, claiming to have positive knowledge of the situation. They said Blanco was between 60 and 70 miles from Douglas on the road toward Chihuahua and would proceed southward by forced marches until he joined the main body of Maderists in Chihuahua.

The Dispatch says it was the general opinion last night among those who have followed closely the Sonora campaign and the movements of the opposing forces in Chihuahua, that there will be no more fighting in the vicinity of Agua Prieta for the present.

Celestial Inspects the Mines at Ray

Took Kai Lee, E. M. S., native of China, and graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was in Phoenix last Friday and left on Monday for Ray to inspect the big copper mines at that place. For more than two years Mr. Took Kai Lee has been traveling over the United States inspecting mines and mining methods. At each mine which he visits he works for a time at any position large or small which may be open, and says until he gets all the information he wants.

Southwest Indian Mission Conference

The next session of the Southwest Indian Mission Conference will be held in Prescott, August 16 and 23, inclusive. Day services will be held in the Marina street Methodist church, while the other churches will be open for use by committees. The conference is at the head of mission work among among the Indian tribes of the southwest. The delegates to attend the meeting in Prescott will number about 75 and there will be many visitors who are not delegates. The missionaries living in Arizona and New Mexico will arrive in Prescott by wagon, passing overland with their families and forming quite a caravan. Rev. John Butler, president of the association, who is stationed with the Navajo Indians, in Arizona, recently visited this city to make arrangements for the holding of the conference here. The missionaries and their families will camp in the city and will have a common meal in which to be secured for the purpose.—Prescott Courier.

Majority Rule Is the Question at Stake

There is much more involved in the fight for Arizona's admission into the Union of states than the mere question whether a territorial form of government shall be changed into a state government. The doctrine of majority rule is at issue—the question whether the will of 50 per cent of the people of this territory shall or shall not be allowed to stand.

That is the position taken by Senator Bacon, of Georgia. Senator Bacon is one of the leaders of the conservatives.

But Senator Bacon said that in giving to the people of Arizona the right to work out their own destiny he believed he was reflecting the sentiments of other senators. And he was right. For now comes Senator John D. Weeks, newly elected from California, another man relied upon by the reactionaries to drive a nail in the coffin of Arizona statehood; and he takes the same ground as does Senator Bacon.
