The teachers in the public schools have examined your children's eyes. If they have been reported defective you should take no chances. Have them fitted at once.

The trouble which today is small may become serious if neglected.

TALK ON 'CIVICS'

Mrs. Ashton Tells What the Woman's Club has Done at Rutland

"Civics" was the subject of the address given by Mrs. Oliver C. Ashton before the Fortnightly Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Ashton who is president of the Vermont State Federation of Women's Clubs, was introduced by Mrs. W. E. Putnam, chairman of the committee on Civics.

Mrs. Ashton, in her very interesting talk, told of the work of the women's clubs in Rutland along civic lines. Her efforts directed toward the betterment and beautifying of the city. Some of the most important phrases of their work were to aid in keeping the streets of the city free from litter, to influence the city board to provide benches in the parks, to bring about an inspection of the city markets in the interest of pure food and perhaps the most important venture, the organizing of Junior Civic leagues. The latter enterprise, Mrs. Ashton felt, was of great importance because of its great help to the younger generation who will be the citizens of the future. Their membership in this league influences the children to be better citizens by making them feel that they have a part in the beautifying of their own city, in pledging themselves to do every thing for its good. Mrs. Ashton also spoke of the phase of this movement regarding child labor which is instrumental in furnishing rightful employment for the child. Mrs. Ashton showed how much the women's clubs were doing throughout the country for the betterment of civic conditions and she did not fail to speak of the true conception of the word citizen and the efforts of the Federation to bring about ideal citizenship.

Before closing, Mrs. Ashton spoke of the scholarship given by the State Federation to go to the support of some deserving young woman in one of our state normal schools. Mrs. Ashton said, that in view of the educational conditions in the state, it would be a help and a benefit to Vermont where there is a crying need of trained teachers. She also touched on the subject of the Christmas stamp 100,000 of which are to be issued by the general Federation, the funds to be used in the tuberculosis campaign.

The cost of the stamp which is to have no postage value will be 1 cent. A few remarks about the value of a membership in the General Federation and its help to the Fortnightly closed the very interesting talk which was filled with many helpful hints and showed the great work which the women's clubs in this state are doing and a glimpse into the vast amount of good done by the General Federation throughout the country. The closing of the song "Vermont" written by Helen M. Winslow brought the program to the close, after which an informal reception was given Mrs. Ashton in the chapel where tea was served.

SCATHING WORDS FOR GAYNOR FROM CHURCH ALTAR

Tammany Candidate Denounced By Priest

IS UNFIT TO RULL CITY

Recalls His Divorce and Likens His Case to That of the Irish Leader, Parnell

New York, Nov. 1.—Ex-Judge William J. Gaynor, Tammany candidate for mayor, was denounced from the altar of the Roman Catholic church of St. Athanasius at Fox and Tiffany streets of the Bronx, by the pastor, the Rev. William J. Dougherty at yesterday's mass as an apostate to his church and a man of immoral life, who, denying his former membership in the Order of Christian Brothers had denied God.

Without once mentioning the candidate's name the priest appealed to his congregation not to be carried away by party enthusiasm in this election, but to vote according to their consciences. He further asserted that Archbishop Farley had tried to prevent Mr. Gaynor's nomination because he was offensive to Roman Catholics, but had appealed in vain. After the sermon Father Dougherty said that it was Mr. Gaynor, although he had not mentioned the candidate's name to whom he had referred.

The priest took for his text "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things which are God's" (Matthew xlii 21). He began by saying that now, on the eve of an election, his parishioners should render unto Caesar the things which were Caesar's; but while God demanded this, there should also be a rendering to Him of the things which are His.

"Do not let us permit enthusiasm and party feeling to carry us away in the next few days," he continued. "Do not let us be carried so far as to vote for some one who is unfit to rule a wonderful city of ours. Let us exercise our consciences and our reason and vote for a man with a conscience. There is one candidate who seeks our votes who is utterly unworthy. This man has denied that he was ever a member of the Order of Christian Brothers. It is not so, I have a letter written by Brother Jerome of Manhattan college in which he says that this man was connected with that order and for several years was a teaching brother in that order. Do not question his right to leave that order but he has not the right to deny that he was ever a member."

"This man has denied his God, he has turned his back on the altar of God on the most serious of charges. Such a violation is one for which the Irish will not stand. The fall of Parnell for this is within our memory. Now comes a man who has been guilty of the same offense against society and his God and asks us to vote for him. Let our answer be the right one. He is an atheist, a man who has violated the sacred marriage tie. I am a Democrat and on Tuesday I will vote the Democratic ticket but I will not off the head of that ticket."

ENDS STOMACH TROUBLE

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort and overcome a sour, gassy stomach five minutes after.

Take your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50 cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distressing gas, flatulency and belching of gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from indigestion and dyspepsia or an out of order stomach with the common everyday cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have some thing wrong with their stomachs. This, no doubt, is a serious mistake and your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest, instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrify in the digestive tract and intestines and besides poison the breath with nauseous odors.

Heartily appetite with thorough digestion and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

SCARLET FEVER

No New Cases and Disease Seems to Be Fast Disappearing

Editor of the Banner:—In reply to numerous inquiries it has been thought best to issue a statement, hat people may know the exact situation. At this date there are twelve cases of scarlet fever in eleven families, all but two of which are situated in Ward 7, of this village.

Neither during the past two months nor during the preceding ten years, has there been a known instance of the disease spreading from the patient in the family to other members of the same household, let from one family to another anywhere.

The disease appears to come from, is yet, some undefined source. Beginning with June 16, 1908, there were seven cases in as many families reported, and several of these lingered well along into the autumn. These, in addition to the present outbreak. During the existence of the earlier instances there was no spreading of scarlet fever in the households, nor to other families.

In this connection the writer extends thanks to Professor Varney and the teachers of Bennington Graded Schools, as well as to the physicians here, for their assistance, without which this disease would, undoubtedly, have become more endemic.

T. P. GREGG KILLS BIGGEST BUCK OF SEASON

Deer Weighed Nearly 300 and Had Fine Horns

SHOT ON THE LAST DAY

Eight Deer, a Coon, and a Fox Skin on Exhibition Today at Schwartz Market

There were seven deer hanging at the Schwartz market on Main street this morning, five bucks and two does. To help out the display there was the skin of the fox shot by W. H. Bradford in the Dunville district and a coon killed by W. H. Nichols in Stamford. According to some of the stories on the street Nichols shot so many of his cartridges at the coon that he would have had none left to work at a substitution known as Dilectus, about 250 miles from Denver. He was at his work as usual last Tuesday morning, when about 10:30 he came in contact with a live wire of low voltage. At the time of the accident he was standing on the edge of a platform raised a few feet above the ground. The shock of the current caused him to lose his balance and fall to the ground.

He regained consciousness for about an hour but lapsed into unconsciousness about one o'clock in the afternoon. At 2:30 that afternoon he was pronounced dead by the attending physician, Dr. J. F. Condon. Death was due to the action of the shock on a weak heart.

The body was taken to Breckenridge, the nearest large town, in the meantime his brother, Charles Dwyer, who was employed in Boulder, Colo., a short distance from Denver, was notified of the accident and left at once, arriving there Wednesday about 20 hours after his brother's death. He left Breckenridge with the body on Thursday at 11 o'clock, arriving in Albany Sunday morning in time to make connections with the paper train, which reached here about 9:30. The body was taken to his father's home on Spring street.

All kinds of deer stories were being told on the street Saturday night. William Wilson of Arlington shot a good-sized doe which he hung up in his barn at the rear of his home in Arlington village. A fine buck later came down from the mountain and went into the barn. The buck ran its nose over the dead doe and remained in the vicinity some little time, but every man living in the vicinity either had killed a deer or had not taken out a hunting license and the buck went back to the woods unmolested.

The section of country of which Arlington is the center proved to be the most prolific territory for the hunters, nearly 60 kills having already been reported to County Game Warden Harry Chase.

During the week the warden took a trip into Stratton where he found a camp of seven Connecticut hunters every one of whom including the cook, had taken out a non-resident license at $15 each. Unfortunately not a member of the party secured a deer for the $100 that it contributed to the fish and game fund of the state.

Two more deer were brought in at the Schwartz market late this forenoon, killed by Edward Adams and James Martin.

One of the fortunate Shaftsbury hunters was Samuel Tessier, who killed a fine buck.

ABOUT 5000 DEER KILLED

A Conservative Estimate Doubles the Figures of Last Year's Shoot

Stowe, Nov. 1.—The deer season over, Commissioner Thomas has additional help in his office, sending out blanks for returns from the different towns of the number killed and compiling press reports for comparisons with the warden's reports.

Mr. Thomas is of the opinion that an unusually large number of deer have been killed but ventures no estimate. He expects that it will be at least a month before the true figures can be arrived at.

A total of 38,655 hunters' licenses were sent out, 274 being issued in this town. This is the record, considering the population, so far reported.

Mr. Dwyer was employed by the Central Colorado Power company, working as an assistant to an electrician at a substation known as Dilectus, about 250 miles from Denver. He was at his work as usual last Tuesday morning, when about 10:30 he came in contact with a live wire of low voltage. At the time of the accident he was standing on the edge of a platform raised a few feet above the ground. The shock of the current caused him to lose his balance and fall to the ground.

KILLING OF CADET STOPS FOOTBALL AT WEST POINT

A. E. Byrne Dead as Result of Game With Harvard

SPINAL COLUMN TWISTED

Because of Fatality Commander Scott Has Cancelled Academy's Games for Balance of Season

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Cadet Eugene A. Byrne of Buffalo, N. Y., first classman and left tackle on the Military Academy football team, died at 6:35 yesterday morning from the effects of injuries received in Saturday's game with Harvard.

As a result of the tragedy, Col. Scott, superintendent of the academy, yesterday decided that no more games would be played this year by the West Point eleven. He issued a statement however, in praise of the game that was taken to indicate his desire that it be continued among the academy sports.

X-ray photographs taken after death revealed a dislocation between the first and second cervical vertebrae causing the first vertebrae to be thrown forward, pressing against and probably resulting in a lesion in those very centers of the medulla oblongata which govern the respiratory muscles, which were thus rendered incapable of performing their functions. The natural process of breathing had ceased at once.

At Byrne's side when he died were his father, Col. John A. Byrne, ex-chief of police of Buffalo, civil war veteran, and now head of the United States Express Company's detective force; Mr. O'Keefe, a friend of the family and four army surgeons.
