Greek Cavalry Charging in a Vain Attempt to Beat Back Turkish Pursuit

GREEK cavalry are seen here, charging the Turks, in a vain attempt to beat the latter back, in order to cover the retreat of King Constantine's forces in Asia Minor The picture is especially interesting in that it shows a style of fighting which practically has disappeared from large scale modern warfare. The Turks and Greeks, however, lacked the equipment possessed by the armies in the world conflict, and their engagements were more like those of a generation or two ago.

FIELD NURSE UNDER SHEPPARD-TOWNER ACT WILL SPEAK

The women of Arizona have been writing with keen interest for the Sheppard Towner Act to be put into actual operation in our state. Their hopes are to be realized and Kingman will be among the first to have one of the field nurses, under this act, to pay them a visit. The Home Economics Department of the Thursday afternoon Club of which Mrs. R. M. Tafel is chairman, has secured Miss Ella Bates, R. N. to appear before the club, on October 12th at 3 oclock at the Episcopal Parish house, where a demonstration and talk will be given.

The Sheppard-Towner bill which was passed by Congress over a year ago was formulated for the benefit of mothers and children of the nation and provides for the education of the mother in the physical needs of the mother and child.

The need of child hygiene work is shown by an analysis of the infant mortality records of Arizona for the year of 1921. For the 7,287 births there were 933 deaths, 345 of these occurring before the babies were a month old.

It is impossible to determine just what proportion of these deaths might have been prevented, but it has definitely been proved that the prospective mother who can be prevailed upon to seek early medical supervision and will carry out a definite hygiene program that her physical condition is very much improved and baby very much stronger .

The necessity of knowing what to feed the baby and small child is clearly indicated by the number of gastro-intestinal diseases that attack them and often resulting fatally. A large number of children of pre-school age are under weight due to the lack of properly balanced diet.

The work of the field nurses appointed by the state board of health will in no way encroach upon the doctors' field, but will supplement the work of the doctors and will be strictly educational in character.

The work will be carried on by talks and conferences and includes work for pre-natal cases, infants and children of pre-school age. It is hoped that the expectant mothers will be particularly interested in the aim of the work "health". These conferences will include health examinations for infants and small children, instructions and suggestions upon diet and health habits, clothes, etc., demonstrations in fixing formulas, bathing, and anything else that will assist to maintain the health of the child.

A health conference is for the physicians and mothers to determine the physical development and present condition of the children brought for examination. The examination is non-competitive and health is emphasized. It points out individual ways in which the parents may improve the health of the child. It is a very practical demonstration to a community of the value of keeping the well child well by periodic examinations of well children. It brings to the minds of the community the importance of preventive measures in the earlier years of childhood. It gives an important index on the general health of the children in the community.

Keeping well children well through periodic examinations saves money to the community. The large insurance companies like the Metropolitan and Prudential have spent time to gather statistics to prove that every life that is shortened either by accident or otherwise preventable deaths costing the communities a large sum of unnecessary expenditures of money. They have proved that it increases taxes, and also increases cost of living for those that are left. The working out of the Federal Bill will add to what has already been in operation. Saving mother helps to hold families together and keeps children out of public institutions. Saving children is adding to the future wealth of the nation.
