

Additional Locals

G. R. Bauerbach returned Thursday morning from the mountains where he has been for a brief outing.

Louis Korn and O. B. Sutton left Thursday for Perkins & Sutton's sheep camp with a load of much needed supplies.

Mrs. G. W. Symmes was a passenger on No. 2 last Saturday evening going to her home in Kansas for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Al Stevenson and children, of Adamana, is spending a few days at Winslow visiting with friends.

C. F. Quayle, M. N. Ware and W. Sweetman, of the Navajo Contracting Co., were in from the mountains during the past week.

Miss Polly Duggar returned Sunday from San Francisco where she has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. M. Wills.

Miss Eunice Kling, one of the Santa Fe operators, has been transferred from Crookton to Bellemont.

Mrs. Richard Wiggins, accompanied by the children, left for Long Beach, Cal., Tuesday where they will spend the summer.

Conductor W. P. Brown left for Chicago on No. 2 Tuesday night, being called there on account of the serious illness of his sister.

H. D. Weir, Santa Fe storekeeper at Winslow, made a trip to Seligman Saturday, returning Sunday.

Everett Walcott has accepted the position as night clerk in the round house, relieving Will Allen.

W. W. Perkins, the well known sheepman, has been in town the past week for medical attention.

Prof. Waters left this week for Flagstaff where he will spend the summer.

Dr. Pierce, whose book on divorce and marriage is to appear next month in Indianapolis, delivered a lecture on divorce recently in a fashionable Indianapolis church.

"Extravagance," he began, "is one of the big causes of divorce. My cousin, a bank clerk, married a pretty girl and took her home to a nice little flat. But she frowned and bit her lip."

"Oh, Jack," she said, "I can't live in a tiny flat like this!"

"You don't love me when you say that, darling," said my cousin.

"Oh, yes I do, but not on such a small scale."

Qualities of "Good Mixer."

A "good mixer" socially is one who takes other people at their own estimates and lives and lets live. He avoids hurting their vanities and trespassing on their preserves, and looks upon human nature with a kindly eye.

LIVE AFTER DEATH

VITAL ORGANS SLOW TO CEASE FUNCTIONS.

All Parts of the Body Do Not Simultaneously Give Up Their Work—Where Science Admits Itself at Fault.

To the unscientific citizen it is something of a surprise to learn that large parts of the body are alive and useful after the phenomenon popularly known as death has taken place.

Few of us suspect, for example, that our kidneys and hearts after we have died ourselves can in most cases be resuscitated and that if by some surgical miracle they could be transplanted into another body they would quickly resume their functions.

This, however, is a well demonstrated medical fact.

The human heart has been removed from the body more than 30 hours after death and made to beat again. Dr. Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute has taken the heart from one dog and inserted it in the neck of another connecting the aorta with the carotid artery of the new heart and the venous cava with its jugular vein. In a few moments the live dog had two hearts rhythmically beating, one recording a pulse of 88 and the other 100.

Science has yet formed no precise definition of death, says McDure. The human body ceases and quivers with life, only a small part of which becomes a part of individual consciousness.

An artery, thoroughly disinfected, placed in an ordinary culture tube and then closed to the access of all bacteria, will not putrefy. Under ordinary circumstances, however, it will undergo autolytic disintegration. Complete desiccation will preserve it against this latter process.

Autolysis does not take place except in the presence of water, this explains why Egyptian mummies, which were thoroughly dried before being placed away in the tomb, have resisted for 20 centuries the autolytic ferment. Normal blood serum is another substance which inhibits to a considerable degree autolytic degeneration.

Cold, while it does not entirely check the process, makes it exceedingly slow. It is upon refrigeration that Dr. Carrel has thus far chiefly depended for preserving arteries. In order to prevent putrefaction he places them in sterilized culture tubes and then he puts away the tubes in large ice chests, which maintain a temperature just above the freezing point. Here they live in a condition of suspended animation.

Dry and shriveled as they appear, they are still living tissue, and although the animals from which they have been taken have long since gone to their final rest these fragments, if placed in a new living host, once more take up the thread of existence. That the arteries could be removed from a man recently dead and have their vitality and usefulness preserved in this same fashion is certain.

An Explanation.

One reason why women suppose the men are fooled by artificial beauty is that most of the men are too gallant not to pretend that they don't know the difference.

Eve's Epigram.

Love is a cigarette or a cordial to a man. It is the soup, fish, entree, roast, dessert, black coffee and a cordial to a woman.

Life and Death.

Life is indestructible. It is beyond time and space, and therefore death can only change the form in which it appears in this world.—Tolstoy.
