

MEMBERS PROPOSE TWENTY-EIGHT ARTICLES

Members of Constitutional Convention are Making Up for Lost Time.

Phoenix, Oct. 18.—Making up for time lost in getting ready for business, delegates in the constitutional convention introduced twenty-eight proposals for articles today.

Others of the proposals would limit the number of bills introduced in the legislature and restrict the railroad commission of the new state to five privilege of free transportation on the roads they regulate.

The California judiciary system probably will be adopted by the convention as many delegates express themselves in favor of it.

ARIZONA'S CONSTITUTION

The following is taken from the Albuquerque Morning Journal's Washington correspondence, being a portion of an interview with a prominent republican politician:

"In Arizona the democrats elected about three-fourths of the members of the convention. They are badly divided. The radical wing of the party insist upon the initiative, referendum and recall, and the democratic territorial committee forced this action upon each county during the campaign.

"For this reason the Republican minority may become an important factor in deciding important questions. Some of the republican leaders in the convention believe that they may be able to get together by themselves and formulate what President Taft calls a safe and sane constitution and submit it to the convention with some show of its being adopted."

Conductor Geo. H. Sutherland was an outbound passenger Sunday night destined for Ironton, Ohio, where he will visit for a time with relatives after which he and Mrs. Sutherland will visit other points in Ohio before returning to Winslow.

N. G. Poy, who was an Albuquerque visitor during Fair week, returned to Winslow last Saturday.

The Mail prints the news.

CENSUS PADDING INVESTIGATIONS

Claims of false enumeration and "padding" in many western cities has been made by the census authorities and the matter is now being probed by special agents of the census department.

President Taft has taken a hand in the matter and has requested that the matter be thoroughly probed.

Director of the Census Durand has made the following statement:

"I am unable to give at the present time the names of all the cities in which attempts have been made to inflate the census. Definite evidence has already been secured in the case of Great Falls, Mont., where three enumerators have already been fined and imprisoned for fraud; Boise, Idaho; Seattle and Tacoma, Wash; Portland, Ore; Fort Smith, Ark; and Minneapolis, Minn.

"Investigations are in progress with reference to a number of other cities."

MARRIED.

Miss Elsie Hungerford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hungerford, and Mr. Clay Marley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Marley, were married at the M. E. church at 5 o'clock last Thursday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Ault performing the ceremony.

The wedding was witnessed by a number of friends of the young couple and all joined in wishing them well for the future.

After the ceremony at the church a wedding supper was served at the residence of the grooms parents, none but immediate relatives being present.

As both Mr. and Mrs. Marley are at present out of town the wedding will come to them somewhat of a surprise, but the young couple had decided to branch out for themselves and decided not to await the return of the parents of Mr. Marley.

C. I. Houck and family were in town this week visiting with Ed Bargman and Charlie Wyrick.

J. A. Root visited Winslow during the week hustling for life insurance business. Joe is apparently doing well which pleases his many friends.

There will be a dance at the Opera House on Halloween Night October 31, under the auspices of the "Jolly Four" the same being composed of the Misses Flora Wilson, Ruth Morrison, Edna Morgan and Margaret Morrison.

C. M. LaPrade and family were outbound passengers Thursday morning headed for Sautee Ga., where they expect to spend the next year.

Let your advertising sell your goods, instead of the sheriff.

P. B. Kiddoo has decided to enter the automobile repair and supply business and will open a shop for that purpose as soon as he can secure a location.

Associated Press dispatches from Cincinnati, Ohio, where the triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church is in session, state that five new bishops have been selected one of whom will be assigned to Arizona.

Mrs. W. Brown of Winslow is in the city this week looking for rooms suitable for a dressmaking parlor. If she can secure suitable rooms it is her purpose to open a fashionable dressmaking emporium in this city.—Gallup Republican.

The Coconino Cattle company on Tuesday shipped fifteen carloads of beef cattle to the Phoenix market. Monday Fenton Jones of Tempe shipped ten carloads of beef cattle, two cars going to Los Angeles and the remainder to Phoenix.

Mr. V. C. Proctor, superintendent of the Santa Fe water service, was in Flagstaff Monday and went out to the O'Neil spring to ascertain what could be done relative to increasing the Santa Fe's water supply here.

At the next meeting of the Order of Owls there will be a special election to fill two vacancies in the ranks of the officers. A notice to this effect will reach each member during the week and a large attendance is expected.

The second section of Santa Fe passenger train No. 9 had a coach off in the yard last Monday causing a delay of about two hours. There was no damage and nobody injured, the car jumping the track just as the train was getting under headway leaving town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Asbury were passengers on the California Limited Saturday morning for a trip east. They expect to visit friends first in St. Louis from there to Nashville, Tenn., then back to Macon, Mo.

Fred W. Nelson was in town from St. John's Monday visiting with relatives at Winslow.

R. O. Hettig, general chairman for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen in the territory covered by the Coast Lines, was in Winslow Monday conferring with the local officials as well as with the members of the Lodge, a special meeting of the Lodge being held for the purpose.

Wm. J. Burke has been quite seriously ill during the week past but is again able to be around and visit with his friends.

Mrs. Geo. Hill returned Wednesday after an absence of two months during which time she visited Chicago, New York and other eastern cities, as well as making an extended visit with her parents at her old home in Massachusetts.

Rose and Fenton have just finished the burning of half a million brick at their yard north of town. This firm is now busily engaged getting out rock for the addition to the school house work on the same to be started immediately.

R. C. Creswell shipped four carloads of sheep to Los Angeles on Tuesday the total number being about 600. Mr. Creswell accompanied the shipment to the coast where he will make a brief visit after disposing of his stock.

For the benefit of all Pioneers residing both in Winslow and Holbrook, the following notice, appearing in the Flagstaff Democrat is printed here:

The Pioneers of Northern Arizona will give a big dance and supper on Oct. 29th, at which all Pioneers are requested to attend.

John Marshall, John O. Harrington, Frank Leslie, Committee

Mrs. P. A. Ward, formerly a resident of Winslow, but now living at Artesia, Calif., is in town this week visiting with her relatives.

The Friday Club was entertained the afternoon of October fourteenth in a social way by Mrs. Robert Powell. Cards and sewing occupied the time until refreshments were served.

Mrs. Geo. Irwin was a dinner guest Sunday of Mrs. D. B. Thurston.

Joe LaChance, accompanied by Mrs. LaChance and baby, returned Saturday from the mountains where Mr. LaChance had been enjoying a little hunting.

H. A. Perkins, Sam Collier and Leonard Fenton left Monday for the hills on a hunting trip expecting to be gone about three weeks.

The Mystery in Advertising.

It is commonly thought that advertising is a mysterious thing that makes some people rich and some poor; whereas in my opinion, the term advertising was merely coined to conveniently differentiate the written from the spoken word.

It is therefore, purely and simply salesmanship, and no man has yet risen to ask the why and wherefore of vending merchandise.—H. T. Morgan in Springfield (Ill) News.

ORGANIZING NEST OF OWLS IN PHOENIX

Indications Are That Upwards of One Hundred Will be Enrolled as Charter Members.

Phoenix, Oct. 17.—The movement for the organization of a lodge of the Order of Owls in this city has progressed to that extent that it is believed that it will be possible soon to call the first meeting and close the charter.

While the future of the Owls in Phoenix is still a matter of conjecture, it is planned that in the event of securing a sufficient membership to open a modern club room offering every accommodation usually to be found in the social home of an order.

PROMINENT MEN WILL ATTEND ARIZONA MEET OF CATTLE GROWERS

Phoenix, Oct. 17.—The Arizona Cattle Growers' association will as usual hold its annual meeting in Phoenix during Fair week, the dates selected being Nov. 8, 9 and 10.

There will be an address of welcome by Governor Richard E. Sloan, which will be fittingly responded to. One of the notable visitors whose presence is assured will be T. W. Tomlinson of Denver, secretary of the National Livestock association.

W. C. Barnes of the forestry service will also be in attendance and will deliver an address, most likely on the relations between the forestry service and the grazing interests, though he has not yet signified the title of it.

Professor J. J. Thornbar, botanist of the University of Arizona, will be in attendance and will give a talk on "Our Grazing Ranges."

Dr. J. C. Norton, territorial veterinarian, is expected to address the association on the subject of livestock sanitary conditions. There will of course be numerous important addresses and talks on questions presented and it is probable there will be other set speeches or papers that cannot yet be announced.

After the show try the White Palace Bakery for home made cream and cake, home made chocolates and bon-bons; a big line of other candies.

RANDOLPH GLOOMY OVER OUTLOOK

Says Railroad Interests Hope Taft Will Veto Constitution of Arizona Radicals.

Committing himself rather liberally on Tucson and Arizona matters, if quoted correctly, Col. Eps Randolph, appears to not expect much railroad building in Arizona in the near future.

The El Paso Times quotes Col. Randolph as follows:

"There is some southwestern railway talk over that way," said Mr. Randolph, "but so far as I have seen no grading in progress or rails being laid. The Times is mistaken as to our attitude in the matter, however. We couldn't if we would, and we wouldn't if we could—explain our position with reference to keeping additional railroads out of Tucson.

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Randolph continued, "I think there will be very little railroad building in Arizona for several months, at least until it is ascertained what the constitutional convention is going to do. The convention is an extremely radical body and it is not at all unlikely that the constitution will be of such a nature as to prohibit the investment of capital in the new state. Of course capital already invested will take what steps are necessary to protect itself."

Mr. Randolph takes a rather pessimistic view of the trend of affairs at the present time and the attitude of the Arizona constitutional convention does not meet with his unqualified approval.

"Our one hope is," he asserted, "that Taft will veto the constitution if it is too bad and thus kill the statehood project. Taft promised to do it some months ago, but" (there the railroad president lapsed into deeper gloom) "the insurgents and so-called progressives seem to be in the saddle now and nothing is considered too radical so long as it is aimed at capital and men of property."

Mr. Randolph stated that his company was doing but little building in Arizona at the present time. The line through the Gila Box canyon south of Globe is under construction, but slow progress is being made on account of delay on the part of the government in approving the right of way. The work will not be completed for at least a year.

Mrs. G. R. Bauerbach and her mother spent last week seeing the Grand Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parr, Misses Elizabeth Young and Mary Myers were picnicking all day Saturday.

Conductor J. N. Johnston returned Monday from an extended trip east having been on a visit to his home.

Mrs. Ross arrived from Los Angeles last Saturday and is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Rose Donaldson.

Mrs. J. E. Kleindienst, accompanied by Mr. Kleindienst's mother, returned Saturday from a visit to the Grand Canyon which they greatly enjoyed.

Read the Mail

§