The Pioneer meeting that was to have been held at the city hall last Monday night was postponed on account of the Pioneers getting on their sporting clothes and taking in the Santa Fe entertainment. The sentinel, Theodore, tells us that if they do not get another spell they will have the next meeting Monday, May 29, and wishes to impress upon the minds of the prospective as well as the now enrolled members of the necessity of a good attendance, till the order is well organized at least.

W. H. Burbage left for Los Angeles last Sunday, where he will visit for a short time.

MOVING PICTURES OF GRAND CANYON

Three men in a boat, or rather three men in three boats, will attempt the unprecedented feat of navigating the quarrelsome waterway of 1400 miles which stretches from the headquarters of the Green River in Wyoming to Needles, Cal.

E. C. Kolb of Bright Angel Trail, Grand Canyon, Arizona, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to complete arrangements for the trip, which will be made the first of September. Kolb, his brother, E. L. Kolb, and Reese Griffith of Fredonia, Arizona, will be the men who will attempt the dangerous journey.

To realize the desperate nature of the venture it is necessary to know that since Major J. W. Powell made the first trip down the Colorado in 1869, going through the Grand Canyon on an expedition of exploration for the Government, not more than two or three others of the scores who have ventured have succeeded, and most of those who made the attempt were claimed by the river.

The Kolb brothers have been photographers in the Grand Canyon for the past ten years and have explored it in quest of unusual pictures. Kolb discovered one of the most beautiful falls of the canyon, a stream of water dropping 800 feet. This waterfall never appeared upon the government maps and was unknown until the photographers came upon it.

Both brothers have had wild experiences with the river and they know much of its dangers and how to overcome them. It for that reason that they hope their journey will be successful.

"We intend to give to the world moving pictures of its most dangerous water passage," said Kolb yesterday.

"I have never been in the moving picture business and our work at the canyon has been confined to art pictures, but we plan to get good motion pictures of this trip and show the people of the country the dangers of the Colorado—dangers they might never see in any other way. Our moving picture apparatus is being prepared in New York, and our boats are being made there.

"We expect to start September 1. Each man will have a separate boat. I am having a steel boat made for myself. Long study of the river's whirlpools and rapids has taught me to avoid the use of a keeled boat. We will have boats that turn up at both ends with an adjustable snag keel for use in smooth waters. In taking pictures in dangerous waters, I expect to get through first and then take pictures of the others coming through.

"The trip will require about three months for completion. Our route takes us through the Grand Canyon and we will be in the canyon for 217 miles, 90 miles of which will be through the granite gorge, where the walls are perpendicular. There are 500 rapids in the Grand Canyon.

"One of the chief dangers of our trip will be the character of the water. The Colorado is so full of sand that a man can not swim in it for any length of time. The length of our trip and the waters to be traversed include a route that to my knowledge has never been traversed."

A Colonel's Version

COL. I. M. DUNN, the secretary of the Danville, Ky., fair is thoroughly convinced of the value of country newspaper advertising. He advertised the fair this year in no other way; cut all posters, bills and other ways which cost much but give little results and confined himself exclusively to the newspapers. The result, Colonel Dunn says, is that the Danville fair made money this year, the first time in many years. He says he will use nothing but the country press in the future and advises others seeking profitable advertising to do likewise.

Take the Colonel's advice and get busy with your local paper and it will do as much for the congested condition that exists on your shelves and the emptiness that you notice in the cash box, as it did for the county fair.

FOREST SERVICE
FIRE ALARM

The preliminary experiments conducted on the Williamson ranch near Glorieta by the representatives of the forest service and E. H. Starkwater, Jr., of the Western Electric company, have so far proven very satisfactory. The first test was made on Friday between the headquarters of the Williamson ranch and the office of Supervisor Thomas R. Stewart on the Panchuela, thirty miles away.

The Williamson ranch is so situated that it is surrounded on three sides by the Pecos National forest, and the ranch is at the foot of the Glorieta mountain, thus affording an excellent location for the conduct of experiments of this nature. Some of the results were quite remarkable. For instance during the trials a mixed line was used. That is, telephone, barb and other wires, and ground rods were made out of army bayonets, pocket knives, signal service corps ground rods and various other ingenious expedients.

The instrument used at the end of the line at the Williamson ranch was a combination fire camp and portable telephone.

George P. Williamson, manager of the ranch, assisted in the initial experiment, and is lending every courtesy and assistance in his power for the successful furtherance of the experiments.

The work with the heliograph, which was inaugurated in the office of Supervisor Mattoon of the Manzano national forest has been temporarily discontinued in order that the outcome of the electrical experiments on the Pecos forests shall be first determined.—Journal.

The Winslow Junior ball team has started out to make a better record than did the league team. Their start being on the Holbrook boys last Sunday afternoon when they handed it to that team in as nice a manner as did Williams to the Leaguers. A large crowd gathered to witness the battle and went away well satisfied that they had seen as good a game as they had expected, one that was clean from start to finish and filled with good plays. The day was ideal for baseball and the boys were in fine trim. The Holbrook boys put up a good game but were simply outclassed and went down to defeat with a score of ten to four.

UNIVERSITY CLUBS
ENTERTAIN

Probably one of the most satisfactory and well rendered entertainment ever given in Winslow was that rendered at the Winslow Opera House last Monday evening by the California Glee and Mandolin Clubs of the University of California. This was the second appearance of the Club under the auspices of the Santa Fe, they having appeared here about a year ago in almost the same popularity that they enjoyed on this appearance. The house was filled to its capacity and standing room was at a premium. Quiet reigned throughout the entire performance with the exception of one or two outbursts from an infant too small to enjoy the treat or realize the need for quiet. If it were only possible to bar such fakes as frequently blow in, and have people of this class in each and every show that comes to Winslow we probably would not have noticed so much the perfection of each feature of the entertainment but when you consider the difference in these people and the "Comedy Companies" that have appeared here of late we feel that there is more due the Clubs than is usually given them.

The program was one well selected and as well rendered, every number bringing out some surprise and adding new interest, and the only disappointment was as the curtain dropped for the last time, and we awoke to find that the time had passed too fast and we were left only to enjoy the entertainment over again in reflection.

Owing to an increase of business necessitating more room for the busy workmen, the White Palace Bakery was a scene of chaos the greater part of this week. Having completely remodeled and enlarged their kitchen, giving the place a new coat of paint and plaster which makes the institution quite metropolitan in appearance as well as in the product. If a few of the eating houses and other places around town where foodstuff is kept would follow in the wake of the White Palace in the way of a general clean up and repairing of screen doors and windows thus barring the much dreaded house fly that one hates to see near the barn, to say nothing of a dinner table, and tack on 20 per cent more to the price for the trouble, we believe they would receive the glad hand of the patrons for their act.

Attorney Jones of Flagstaff was in the city Monday.

SCHOOL FUND IS INCREASED

The apportionment of the Territorial School Fund for the various counties of the Territory has been made and shows a decided increase over past years. Below is given the school census and the appropriation to the various counties.

Navajo county, 1,295 children, $1942.50.

Apache county, 888 children, $1332.00.

Coconino county, 805 children, $1207.50.

From the above it will be seen that Navajo county leads by a considerable number of children of school age of any of the surrounding counties.

Last Saturday evening the citizens of Winslow were entertained for a few minutes on the corner of Kingsley and Railroad avenues by one of those able orators that occasionally drop in town on the quiet and depart in the same manner. The orator had evidently spent much time in study on his chosen subject from the enthusiasm that he injected into his speech. His main plea seemed to be to have our worthy citizens throw off the robes of civilization and "beat it" back to the primitive when all rambled over the face of God's green earth, free from the cares that education has brought to bear upon us. But despite the volley of argument hurled forth it seems that the listeners went away content to let the past be forgotten and to battle on with the cares of the progressive age, for we have failed to find any of them roaming over the prairie as did the savage in the days gone by.

Work on the new building being erected by J. E. Campbell and Geo. Hubert to be used as a pool and billiard hall, is progressing rapidly and the structure already assumes the stately appearance of the modern building it is destined to be. A few more such buildings will bring the progressiveness of our citizens to the attention of the transient and will undoubtedly hasten the rapid growth already noticeable.

A new wall case for the purpose of displaying goods and enhancing the appearance of the store that would do credit to any city, apothecary shop, was set in place along the north wall of the Palace Drug Company's store this week. The new fixture is of mission design and a work of art in every particular. One feature that adds interest is, the fact that it is a home product and was built in the good old way, not with a complete planing mill, but with hand tools entirely, and is a piece of work that any cabinet maker in a modern mill could be justly proud of. The case is the product of Mr. Heymer, the jovial neighbor of the "print shop" force.

Shipments of nice, fresh berries received daily at the City Market.

Some time last week John Sutherland fell from a scaffold while working on a cottage laying brick and broke his arm. He left this week for the mountains to stay for a month or so, and expects by that time to be able to come back to Winslow and continue his work.

MUST VOTE ON RECALL

Washington, May 23.—The joint resolution admitting Arizona and New Mexico to immediate statehood, but withholding approval of the constitutions of both until the people have voted on proposed amendments, passed the house of representatives this afternoon by a viva voce vote.

The roll call was demanded on the final vote.

The resolution requires Arizona to vote on an amendment removing the recall provisions as it applies to judges; and requires the people of New Mexico to vote on an amendment making the constitution of that state more easily amendable. Neither state is required to adopt the amendments proposed by congress. Whether they are approved or rejected by the proposed referendum, the constitutions of the new states will stand finally approved when the respective votes have been taken.

The resolution passed in the form proposed by the democratic majority of the committee on territories. Efforts were made by the republicans to force Arizona to vote out of its constitution the recall of judges; and to give the immediate and unqualified approval to the New Mexico constitution. Both provisions were rejected singly; and later when Mr. Mann embodied them in a motion to recommit the measure, they were voted down.

The democrats said the proposal to force Arizona to reject the recall was an effort to keep that state out of the union. The democratic resolution, said the chairman of the territories committee, presented the fairer method, namely, to leave to the determination of the people the recall question.

By the appointment of Chief Clerk Fouts to the agency at Holbrook, several changes in the local office of the Santa Fe has been necessitated, Cashier Hook assuming the duties of the Chief Clerk's office with C. A. Nave as assistant. Joe Daze succeeds Mr. Nave as night ticket agent while Clark and Senninger take up the duties of the baggage room formerly handled by Mr. Daze.
