VOLUME 31

WINSLOW, NAVAJO COUNTY, ARIZONA, OCTOBER 13, 1922.

NUMBER 32.

DEMOCRATS RALLY WELCOME STATE LEADERS

A very enthusiastic audience greeted Congressman Carl Hayden, Governor George W. P. Hunt and other democratic candidates on the state ticket last Saturday evening at Community Hall in Winslow.

The party consisted of Geo. W. P. Hunt, candidate for governor; Carl Hayden, candidate for congress; Richard H. Ramsey, candidate for auditor; Charles R. Howe, candidate for state tax commission, and James H. Kerby, candidate for secretary of state.

Carl Hayden in his speech flayed the national republican administration for its betrayal of trust and the farming out of special privileges to Wall street financiers in payment for campaign contributions in the last campaign.

Mr. Hayden called attention to the inequities of the tariff bill, the failure to pass the ship subsidy bill to tax the American people to pay a bonus to the shipping trust, the unfair and unjust taxation of the American people through increased freight rates and increased passenger rates, to enable the railroads to pay six per cent interest on the capital invested in railroad securities (watered stock and all). He condemned the reduction in the wages of the laboring men on the railroads under the provisions of the Esch-Cummins Transportation Act.

In discussing the administration of the Federal Reserve Banks, he told how the system was created by the Democratic administration under President Wilson, and how it had been placed under the control of Wall street financiers by the Harding administration. He told how the agricultural and small business interests of the country were without representation upon the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve System. Mr. Hayden said that the deflation of the currency by the Wall street bankers, who now control this beneficial institution, was criminal in its operations and had bankrupted and ruined hundreds of thousands of farmers in this country.

George W. P. Hunt, the candidate for governor, assailed the wasteful and extravagant administration of the republican party in this state. He pointed out the fact that it would be impossible to reduce the fixed charges of government in the way of interest and the redemption fund necessary to take care of the bonded indebtedness of the cities and towns of the state. He asserted that the overhead costs of the government of Arizona could be reduced materially, and promised that if he was elected, together with a democratic legislature and other democratic officials, that the democratic party could and would lighten the burden of taxes in Arizona.

The other state candidates discussed the affairs of the offices to which they aspire to be elected.

Mr. Kerby, in replying to the campaign speeches of Secretary of State Ernest R. Hall and his claim of increased revenue at low cost, explained that it was due to the enactment of the gasoline tax law in 1921, which Mr. Hall collects at a very nominal cost from ten wholesale oil companies in Arizona, which has enabled him by juggling figures to make a showing in the way of economy that his administration does not warrant.

WINSLOW JUMPS ON HOLBROOK

Saturday afternoon, on the local gridiron, Winslow took Holbrook into camp to the tune of 60 to 0 in what started to be a tough game from the looks of the thing at the first kickoff.

The Holbrook team looked to be the heavier of the two teams, but after the first quarter, in which Winslow was caught napping on a shoestring play, the local boys woke up and proceeded to take the warriors from the county seat into camp by straight line bucking and forward passes.

Winslow kicked off and Holbrook started a march down the field that Winslow could not hold until the visitors made first down, and then they took a brace.

Winslow got the ball on Holbrook's failure to make first down, and succeeded in taking the pigskin over the line for their first score.

Sutherland dropped a pretty kick from the 25-yard line and the score stood 3-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The game from then on was a practice tilt for the local boys, each one trying to see who could make the most touchdowns in a short fifteen minutes.

Lee starred for the visitors, making most of their gains and he showed plenty of grit in staying in the game after getting a badly wrenched shoulder in play.

Sutherland did the booting for the Winslow team and made a very creditable showing in kick-offs and dropping the oval between the uprights after touchdowns.

Evans at center played one of the best games he has been in and promises to make a valuable man at the pivot position before the end of the season.

Clark was substituted for Long in the third quarter and Long went to end, replacing Johnson, who was temporarily injured in a mixed scrimmage.

Robinson and Cooper were substituted for Paul Thornton and Woods in the last quarter and made a creditable showing in the positions, although they were a little light for the hole they filled.

The local boys journey to Albuquerque this week end to play the fast high school team of the college town, and, although they have a hard game before them, they expect to win.

BOY SCOUT BANQUET WEDNESDAY, OCT. 18

Tuesday evening there was a Boy Scouts committee meeting at The Mail office. All the churches were represented. The enthusiasm shown by this committee guarantees the success of the venture.

An executive committee was appointed to consult with Mr. A. B. Riley of the Harvey House, who has volunteered his services in planning the feed and to complete the final arrangements. The following were members of the committee: Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. Gammage, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Grover, Mrs. Kabelein and Mrs. Fred Murphy.

They are to meet at this meeting on account of so many previously arranged meetings. After careful investigation, the Boy Scouts committee decided on Wednesday, October 18, as the date. The School Auditorium is the place.

The qualification for admission to this banquet is that every man be accompanied by a boy of Scout age. Tickets are free and can be obtained from R. M. Hensley, Charles Daze, Jack Gibson, Sam Proctor and W. W. Snyder. Every man should get him a boy and come. There will be good eats and very little speaking.

If any of the numerous deer-slayers of the city should be lucky enough to have more venison than they need, the committee on Boy Scout Banquet is in a receptive mood and would be pleased to put up a venison roast for that occasion. Bring in your venison and prove your killing.

GET YOUR TRANSFERS

I would appreciate it very much if you would let the railroad men know of this.

Thanking you very kindly for the same I am, yours very truly,
LUCRETIA W. FLANNAGAN,
County Recorder.

FIRST WOMAN SENATOR

The resident of the United States must hereafter, for a time at least, have heard in his recognition of a senator seeking an audience, and the members of that body must also be ready to use some variation of the conventional reference to colleagues.

"The gentleman from" hereafter cannot always apply. Whether the new style will be "the lady" or "the Senator" from has not been decided, but a woman will sit in place of the late Tom Watson, representing the state of Georgia. Governor Hardwick has appointed Mrs. W. H. Felton, the "grand old woman of Georgia," to fill the vacancy caused by Senator Watson's death. In response to a popular sentiment, the position was proffered the widow of the deceased senator, but she declined, and the decision was quickly made to send Mrs. Felton. This gives the lady the distinction of being the first woman to be United States senator.

The new senator from Georgia is a native of the state and has always resided there. Her family, the Latimers, have always been prominent. She herself has been identified with philanthropic and other public welfare work, served as a commissioner from her state to the Chicago Columbian Exposition, and was one of the leaders among the women opposed to the suffrage movement. In her letter accepting the appointment, Mrs. Felton spoke highly of her predecessor, and thanked the governor for having offered the place to Mrs. Watson.

The appointment is but a temporary one, however, as a successor to Senator Watson must be elected in November for the unexpired term, who will of necessity assume the toga next March. Governor Hardwick himself is a candidate for nomination to the position.

MRS. JAMES F. MAHONEY FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

The many friends of Mrs. James F. Mahoney have persuaded her to become a candidate for the office of school trustee.

Mrs. Mahoney has long been identified with the community and her years of residence here give her a knowledge of the requirements of that important position.

R. P. MCGREGOR CANDIDATE FOR MEMBER SCHOOL BOARD

R. D. McGregor has consented to allow his name to be presented before the electorate of Winslow for member of the School Board, to succeed Mr. R. C. Creswell, whose term expires December 31, 1922.

Mr. McGregor's experience as a teacher, together with his other well known qualifications, make him an excellent choice.

WILL SEE FOOTBALL GAME

Robert Leonard left for Albuquerque on Thursday, where he will meet his father, Eugene Leonard, who is returning from a visit at Raton, N. M. They will spend the day at the football game, returning home Saturday.

NORTHERN ARIZONA STATE FAIR ON OCT. 19-20-21

(Special to The Winslow Mail.)

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Oct. 12.—Celebrating the Tenth Annual Northern Arizona State Fair, the counties of Apache, Coconino, Mohave, Navajo and Yavapai will play hosts to the balance of the state on October 19, 20 and 21 at Prescott, where the northern fair grounds are located.

Plenty of fun and entertainment will be featured during the three days and nights, while the exhibits in all departments will be the best ever displayed in northern Arizona.

Under the capable direction of Lester Ruffner, the daily program will be carried out with new and novel features introduced. For the first time in the history of the north, a brilliant daylight fireworks display will be given daily at the grounds.

Running races, with thoroughbreds from Vancouver, Salt Lake, Nebraska, and other ports will add interest.

Balloon ascensions by Stella Yeager, acknowledged peer of woman aeronauts, will not only take wing in the air, but Miss Yeager will make her daredevil drop, not with one parachute, but three, and if possible five. There will not be one dull moment from the time the fair opens until it closes.

Saturday night, three hundred Tonopah Apaches will dance the famous step of the Indians known as the "Devil's Dance." This will be held near the Plaza, and in itself is worth journeying hundreds of miles to see. Band concerts, dancing, carnivals, and, in fact, everything for a wholesome good time will be staged by the Association.

Low excursion rates are in effect, and every courtesy will be extended visitors to make the fair the most enjoyable ever held. Displays from the Department of Agriculture, the beautiful art exhibition from the American Federation of Art, the American Poultry Association show for the State of Arizona, clearly outline how this baby fair has grown into one of the leading institutions of the state. Remember the dates and be on hand to enjoy our fair.

IN AGAIN, OUT AGAIN, AND GONE

On word received from Dolores, Colo., the officers from the sheriff's office went on a hunt for three horse-thieves, and three young men were rounded up, giving their names as Charles Fowler, William Smith and Hudson. They were charged with stealing eighth orses from Dolores county, Colo. Deputy Sheriff W. G. Kelly and Night Marshal Bill Seely captured William Smith at Wyrick's Big Tank, 18 miles south of Winslow about noon Sunday, with eight horses, and Sheriff W. A. Campbell and Deputy Sheriff Howard Marine and Deputy W. G. Kelley captured Charles Fowler and Hudson at Hay Lake, 35 miles southwest of Winslow on Monday with six head of horses.

The captives were placed in the Winslow jail for safe keeping and to await the arrival of officers from Colorado.

On Tuesday night, Fowler and Hudson managed to escape by springing the bars in the jail and are still at liberty, with the entire staff of the sheriff's office scouring the country for them.

William Smith is still in jail.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

Politics seems to have fired all its heavy guns at Winslow, and now we ought to have returned to normalcy and should know who the best man will be on November 7.

However, this does not bother the Legion. We have troubles of our own, especially mentioning Senator Cameron, who sold out on the Soldier Bonus bill to the high-powered interests.

This, however, will not hinder the wheels of progress at our convention at New Orleans. We have some able representatives. Commander Lieberman is chairman of the delegation, Comrade George Creswell going as a delegate. The party will join the California delegation at Winslow, which is going through on a special, Friday, the 13th.

Comrades Davis and Prochman of the Flagstaff Post were visitors at our last meeting and reported enthusiastic reaction of the Legion post at Flagstaff. The Frank Perkins post is planning to return the pleasant call.

Our Armistice Day committee met after the meeting to formulate plans for November 11. Chairman Snider has a great many good things in mind—a street dance, carnival and speaking. At any rate, it sounds good.

Remember, Legionnaires, upon your alertness depends the success of our order. Be sure that you attend the next meeting, Monday, October 16, at the Masonic hall.

HARDING FLAYS RAILROAD HEADS

WASHINGTON.—The transportation system has proved wholly inadequate to meet the freight carrying needs of the country, the White House announced.

Rail officials were severely scored for their policy in the recent strike and 95 per cent of the responsibility for present conditions was placed at their door.

The administration said that strike settlements were proceeding rapidly on all of the lines and pointed out that it followed the basis first proposed by the president and rejected by the executives.

Seniority was said to be a bugaboo about which there was much misrepresentation. It was pointed out that on one line which had employed 2,400 new shopmen and tried to induce them to remain, 2,200 quit their posts. The administration felt, it was intimated, that the railroads knew at the time that these employees were temporary and would not remain.

Many of the lines misrepresented the conditions of their rolling stock and issued statements that were misleading, it was intimated. As a result of this, it was said, the railroads are unable to move essential commodities and have clamped on embargoes.

It was added that government experts placed 95 per cent of the breakdown to faulty rolling stock, which the executives maintained was in better condition during the strike than previously.

STATE CANDIDATES OF REPUBLICANS INTRODUCED

On last Friday evening October 6, there was a Republican mass meeting to hear the candidates for state and national offices express their sentiments. The meeting was held in the school Auditorium and, while the crowd was not numerous, about 150 persons, it was quite enthusiastic.

The first speaker of the evening was Colonel McClintock, state historian, who is a candidate for United States senator. While not a great orator, Colonel McClintock is an easy, forceful talker, and he stated his position clearly and concisely.

Mrs. Emma Guild, candidate for congress; Ernest Hall, for secretary of state; Mr. Galbraith, for attorney general, and Miss Jane Gregg, for state treasurer, were introduced and spoke briefly.

Miss Elsie Toles, state superintendent of schools and a candidate to succeed herself, made a good and forceful address, reviewing briefly the progress of the schools during her administration and advocating the entire separation of the school system from politics. Her remarks were warmly welcomed.

The big event of the evening was the address by Governor Campbell, who spoke for an hour and a half. The governor is developing into a first-rate orator and was listened to attentively.

Mr. Campbell seems to be puffed at Winslow because in all the years of his political career he has never been able to carry this city at an election. He can not understand it, he says. He appeared to be not only puffed, but grieved. He also does not like the way The Winslow Mail is conducted.

A large part of the governor's address was taken up with quotation of statistics to show that his administration has been a good one and that the people of this state would do wrong to turn him down now. Mr. Campbell took exception to the appellation of "Traveling Tom," and went into lengthy explanations of his many journeys in and out of the state, declaring them to have been for the good of the people of the state and the nation.

A very interesting address was made by attempts to hold up to ridicule his distinguished opponent, Governor Hunt, and the sarcasm and unfair innuendo were not very highly appreciated by an intelligent audience.

On the whole, the affair passed off very pleasantly and the audience was pleased.

BUFORD—KEGERIS

The marriage of Mrs. Hazel Kegeris, formerly of Winslow, and Mr. George Buford of Los Angeles, Calif., took place in the coast city on Saturday, September 30. The wedding dates back to a school-day romance, the couple having lost sight of one another up until about four months ago, at which time they met and became sweethearts once more. They will make their home at 3111 George street, Los Angeles, Mr. Buford being assistant manager of a large produce concern in that city.

SCULPTOR IN OUR MIDST

A largen umber of the local folks watched with great interest, Wednesday, when John B. McCord made from wet clay a statue of a mother and a young babe. The sculptor made the models at the rear of the Harvey House, directly in front of the several Santa Fe company houses.
