

The Daily Astorian.

ASTORIA, OREGON:

SUNDAY.....AUGUST 12 1883

—Work upon the Yaquina railroad has been suspended.

—John Behr died at East Portland last Friday, from an overdose of chloral hydrate.

—Rev. J. V. Milligan preaches in the First Presbyterian church at Portland this morning.

—The Victorin is due from San Francisco to-day. She brings Astoria freight, but no mail.

—A Salem drunk, armed with a jack knife, attacked and tore down the calaboose there last week.

—Our friends in the interior, at Salem, Portland, Oregon City and elsewhere are sadly inconvenienced by the present low stage of the river.

—At nine o'clock this morning, the Clara Parker will leave Parker's Dock for Young's River Falls, affording everyone an opportunity for a pleasant trip.

—The Grassmere which discharged 521 tons of barge, started up stream yesterday, but as she still draws 15½ feet it is doubtful if she will make the rifle.

—Dispatches sent to parties in this city from New York on the 1st inst., reached here yesterday. "The company's business is not delayed by the strike."

—Chaplain Scott preaches at 11 A. M., to-day at the Baptist church. Lectures to the young people to-night upon "emergencies and how to meet them."

—The Glenberie has 14,000 cases salmon aboard and will take on about 8,000 more; the Kate F. Troop has 25,000 cases on board, which is about half her cargo.

—It is believed that the entire pack of fish at the Fraser river canneries this season will not much exceed 40,000 cases. Last year the pack was about 190,000.

—A man with two salmon in his possession and who was said to be heading for a restaurant to dispose of them, was arrested yesterday morning, and will be examined to-morrow.

—The German Evangelical Reformed congregation will celebrate the Lord's supper at the Baptist church at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

JOHN GASTENBERG, Pastor.

—Oregon's three great shipments for the season of '83 have been wheat, salmon and flour; the value of the wheat is $3,510,457; of the salmon, $3,148,190; of the flour, $2,302,402.

—Of the Cascades canal Capt Powell says it is estimated that $1,655,395 will be required for the completion of the work, and that $500,000 can probably be expended within the next year.

—The coming and going of steamers, the transfer of cargoes, and the movement of ships make the stream in front of the city as busy appearing a piece of water as can be found north of San Francisco.

—The treasury department has issued an order that all shipmasters or their agents shall file, before leaving port, a full manifest of the cargo carried for the benefit of the statistical department of the government.

—The latest rumor is that as soon as the Kalama branch is finished the whole force will be transferred to Forest Grove, and twelve miles of track laid before congress meets. As this has not as yet been confirmed by the great receiver of dispatches who visits us occasionally, it is entitled for that reason to a certain amount of credence.

—Over $820,000 in mortgages have been taxed in Clackamas county. Many of them have been paid, but no evidence of the payment can be found on the records. That is the case in several other counties in the state, and will occasion considerable trouble, with the ultimate result that the state will make and the counties will lose the difference.

—The trials and tribulations of newspaper men are a favorite theme among that much abused class of public philanthropists, but it remains for the Chehalis Nugget to produce something unique in the line of disaster. Wandering hogs have come along, and eaten up the press rollers, made of glass and molasses, and the Nugget man can't print his paper.

—Among the humorous incidents of the telegrapher's strike, the story is told that a gentleman was expecting to receive a dispatch from a neighboring city last week, stating that a young lady relative was coming on to visit the family. He received the dispatch, and it read: "Mary cannot come. She has a child." He was astounded, and telegraphed for an explanation, which came thus: "She has had another child." This time his request for an explanation was more explicit. It brought the needed correction from the green telegraph operator: "For child read chill."

Notice to the Public.

After the 12th inst. I will close my Restaurant at 9 o'clock in the evening.

Shot Him in the Hip.

Word came yesterday afternoon that a man named Smith had been shot at Brookfield, W. T., and was in a dying condition. Two physicians who had been sent for went up on a special boat and yesterday evening returned with the wounded man on the Gen. Chester. It seems that two residents of Brookfield named Ashley and Smith had some difficulty for some time which resulted about seven o'clock yesterday morning in Ashley meeting Smith on the road and shooting him, the load of buckshot striking him in the right hip, inflicting a terrible wound. Smith was brought to the hospital immediately upon his arrival here, and some fifteen buckshot picked out of his flesh. The chances are that he will get over it.

Fire Election.

There will be an election to-morrow for chief engineer and first and second assistant engineers of the Astoria fire department. Messrs. Hicks, Charters and Cleveland are the only candidates we have thus far heard mentioned. The polls will be open at the house of Astoria No. 1, from ten to four. A. A. Cleveland, C. P. Moffit and Jas. Macomber will be judges of the election.

—The postoffice here is at present running on a short supply of stamps. The postal authorities at Washington have no conception of the requirements of this coast. Postmaster Chance made a requisition for supplies a few weeks ago, and they sent him just half of what he ordered. Other postoffices are in the same fix.

—The new boat building for Capt. Gray at East Portland has been sold by him to the Shalwater Bay Transportation company. It will come down the river this week and will ply on the waters of Gray's harbor. W. H. Clough will be the engineer; he will remove with his family to Montesano as soon as the boat gets running, and make that place his future home.

—In the circuit court yesterday in the case of the state vs. Jos. Sanvones, the jury found the defendant guilty; he will be sentenced to-morrow. In the case of the state vs. Ah Sin, charged with stealing the Celestial plead guilty, and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. In the case of the state vs. Sheen, charged with robbery from a drunken man, the jury acquitted the defendant.

—The possibilities in the matter of drives yearly increase. One can now go from Alderbrook almost to Smith's Point. The extension of the road below the West Shore mills, and the grading of the shore line from the Washington Packing Co.'s cannery westward, gives opportunity for a good ride in buggy or on horseback. When our street railroad gets running, and cars leave every half hour for Skipanon and the seaside, it will be a long step in advance.

—The Odd Fellows Temple will be dedicated at eight o'clock next Tuesday evening. There will be an excursion to the cape, for members of the order, leaving Gray's dock at half past eleven, Tuesday morning. It is expected that the Astoria Odd Fellows will provide lunch for themselves; the visiting members will be cared for by the committee of arrangements. The first boat for the picnic grounds will start at seven o'clock, and it is suggested that as many as possible go at that hour.

—The pack of salmon on the north-west coast to the 1st is given as follows:

THE FIRST WOMAN.

How She was welcomed at Carbonate Camp in the Far West.

June 30 was a day of jollification at Carbonate, Col., being the advent of the first woman, the first woman and the first board from the mill. It would have been interesting to the reader to have witnessed the electrifying effect on the men in the camp when word was passed along the line that a woman was coming. Long before she was within a mile of the camp knots of men were gathered here and there watching, looking in the direction from whence the wagon was to come. As she drove in sight each one gathered around his or their camp as when an alarm had been sounded in a prairie dog town. When within a few yards of the outside habitation the woman alighted, and accompanied by her husband, proceeded toward the county clerk's office. (It had been advertised that the donation of a town lot would be given the first woman who came in.) Curious eyes were watching her every step as she approached the clerk's quarters. But the crowd which had gathered around the office for mail receded respectfully each side of the entrance. As she passed in, Colonel Ferguson serenely loomed up, and sailing out among the boys, agitated a reception.

Seized by the inspiration, 100 hats were removed from heads of noble structure and design, silhouetted somewhat, perhaps, and 100 horny palms passed over the unkempt locks to smooth them down, vests were pulled down and 100 pairs of eyes ran down the respective owners' "digging clothes," proudly inspecting the inevitable "ball-stitch" which rejoined the dismembered seam or held in place the patch of conspicuous dimensions. By a look of common consent the Colonel was the man selected to make the reception speech. Unusually pluming his mustache with carbonate-stained fingers, the Colonel approached her, and, followed by the uncovered heads, he inadvertently yanked a frog from his throat and began:

"Respected Madame"—and 100 heads nodded assent. Appealing again to his mustache for the needed inspiration, the colonel resumed again: "Respected Madame—The illuminating spectre of this most fascinating occasion—" And 100 heads bobbed serenely again in assent. Planning again the source of inspiration, the halting colonel staggered on: "Footprints of thine, which have first fallen on our carboniferous soil, we welcome thee. Mercury in her aerial flight trails through the starry architecture of heaven, to trail over the silurian outcrops of Garfield county, which has become sacred to us from toil, vicissitudes and privations. It is ours by right of discovery, and you are welcome. We are conversant with your sex, and some of us have been victimized. We have learned to love and cherish in memory the tiny fingers which were rubbed over our biscuits in other days, and we languish for the same. The delicacy of sewing on buttons (thinbless) is ours, and our toil-stained robes bear the traces of the alurian outcrop. For months we have been surrounded by the beautiful crystalline pearls of heaven, which have banked about and around us, and our only solace has been the chirp of the camp bird and the weird wailings of the metamorphic blasts. We have long anticipated the daisy, struggling through the snowy depths to comfort us, as the day drew near when we laid by our snowshoes on the limestone ledge, but this occasion is most sublime, undreamed of and unprecedented in the history of our new country. Thou hast come upon us like the perfume freighted breath of the gentle spring time, and thou art the shrine to which we bow and bring tribute, and in behalf of these, my partners in the struggle, who stand before you with uncovered heads, some of them glistening like a burished disk in the alurian sunlight, heads which have been robbed of capillary traces from inevitable contact, I again say welcome."

And she dropped.—Denver News

ANGELS. 'Tis said that "angels" visit. Are few and far between. But most men think that angels. They frequently have seen.

The happy little reboobers. Around the parent stem. Always think their mothers. Angels enough for them.

The young man thinks the maiden. So blushing, fresh and sweet, is just as much an angel. As he would care to meet.

The benedict has found one. To whom he's tied for life. He finds he got an angel. When he took a wife.

The old man sees an angel. In his daughter dear. When she helps to smooth for him. Each declining year.

'Tis thus all men see angels. If they are not blind, But some see only good ones. Some the other kind.
