It is not fair to attribute the recent cold wave to the Wilson tariff law, but it is a fact that it is responsible for the condition of many poor people who are unprepared for such bitter weather.

That the party alignment of the American people is undergoing a change is shown by the position of Senator McEnery, of Louisiana, who will take his seat in the United States senate on March 4. Judge McEnery is a Democrat, but desires to be counted among the friends of protection to American industries. He has recently defined his position on this issue, and says that, although he believes the tariff should never be made the principal issue, he shall vote for reasonable schedules, which will at once be sufficient for revenue, and conservative of American labor. This is a gain of two votes to the protective forces in the senate, as his predecessor, Blanchard, is a rabid free trader.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

It is well understood that Presidentelect McKinley intends to call an extra ression of the Fifty-fifth Congress very shortly after his inauguration, to take prompt action on the tariff question. Now comes the information that the date of its convening will be March 25. It is the intention that the members of the present house may have time to visit their homes, gauge public sentiment on the tariff question, and thus be able to act promptly and intelligently when the extra session begins.

The conditions to be met need the most careful consideration. First and foremost is the steadily-increasing treasury deficit. The new tariff must produce abundant revenue-ample for all current needs of the government, and for the sinking fund; for in a few years a large issue of government bonds becomes idue, which should be paid off, and the annual interest burden reduced as far as possible. Nothing should be allowed to stand in the way of getting the nation out of debt as promptly as it can be done. That is where the new tariff measure touches the government's needs. On the side of the people its importance can not be magnified. It must restore the conditions on which the prosperity of the masses of our mechanics and farmers rest. The depression in our great industrial interests has resulted in lille ness to tens of thousands the destruction of their incomes, and to this must be added the enormous shrinkage of asses must be considered by congress n passing the new tariff bill.

As every one knows, the ways and means committee of the present house is now hard at work preparing a tariff measure. The members of that committee have all been re-elected to the next house, and it is custom to continue them on the same committee. Hence the new ways and means committee will have the same make-up as at present, and the work of drafting the bill will not be interrupted.
