QUALITY STORE TO DOUBLE ITS PRESENT FLOOR SPACE

Leases Second Floor—Alterations Already Begun.

(From the Ionia Daily Standard of February 20, 1919.)

Extensive alterations began on Wednesday will, when completed, make the Quality Store double its present size, the entire second story having been leased and Contractor Glen Pierce already has a force of men at work tearing out partitions, including the brick wall between the two stores, so as to make one large sales room about 45 feet by 80 feet, on the second floor, besides a number of smaller ones. This large additional space will be devoted to carpets, rugs, draperies, etc., and will give a splendid floor space to more satisfactorily display these lines and provide the additional requirements for the rapidly growing business of the store in these departments, the same having entirely outgrown the present space on the first floor.

It is probable that several new departments incident to house furnishing will be added on the second floor. The ground floor will also be treated to a general rearrangement—the brick wall, now dividing the two stores on the first floor will also be removed and both stores thrown into one, and the entire space 48x120 feet devoted to a greatly enlarged display of ladies' ready-to-wear millinery, shirt waists, corsets, hosiery, gloves, underwear and other accessories usually kept in an up-to-date woman's store. It is expected to add at least one or two new departments, specially arranged with modern fixtures, etc., while all the present departments will be enlarged, some of which will occupy twice their present space. When completed this already fine store will make the enlarged quarters a show room that will compare favorably with any in the state. A large, wide easy stairway, located in the center of the store, just in front of the present office will connect the two floors. It is hoped to have these improvements completed and the additional fixtures installed by April 1 and the entire store rearranged in time for an Easter opening. The splendid success of the Quality Store since the day of its opening five years ago this spring has been a source of general satisfaction to the public at large as well as those who conceived it and have successfully operated it, until today it requires this additional room and is classed among the best stores of its kind in the state.

Manager Cutler credit its success wholly to the fact that the store has always lived up to its name, selling only quality merchandise at a reasonable profit—but doing a large volume of business and guaranteeing satisfaction in every transaction—and to every customer—even to returning the purchase price when asked—just as willingly as receiving it—employing only the most competent sales people and giving the very best service possible to render.

This policy will continue and so when the enlarged Quality Store is fully equipped and stocked, there will be an additional inducement for the people of the surrounding towns and country to make Ionia their regular trading point.

Naturally to avoid moving merchandise from one location to another—especially the heavy good to the second floor, the store will announce in a few days a stock reducing event that will prove of unusual interest and importance to all.

Obituary—Frank S. Smith.
Frank S. Smith was born at Hesperia, Mich., February 8, 1887 and his boyhood days were spent on the farm with his parents and he continued to work at farming until going to Grand Rapids to learn the barber's trade. Not liking this kind of work he left it and worked about at different things until May 15, 1912 when he sailed for the first time on the boat, John P. Reiss as pastry and Mid. cook. He was soon promoted to the position of officer on the steamer Peter White and continued at this work until June 2, 1917 when he then qualified for the duties of assistant engineer. At the time of his illness he had gone to Detroit to take his examinations for chief engineer and wrote one day on them when not feeling well went to St. Mary's hospital

CO-OPERATIVE BAKING

This is a day for cooperation, real cooperation. Did you ever stop to realize that this bakery is a cooperative institution? Instead of people doing their baking individually in a thousand kitchens they cooperate with us and we do all their baking in our model bakery. Instead of a thousand batches of dough—we make one batch. Instead of a thousand separate fires heating a thousand ovens—we heat one big oven. Try a loaf of our bread tomorrow and see if it isn't just as good, or a wee bit better, on the average than the bread you've been working so hard to bake at home.

ness of pneumonia he died, Feb. 10, 1919, leaving his mother, Mrs. Collins and two sisters, Mrs. Maragret E. Adams of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Leloi L. Lovejoy of Muskegon to mourn his loss and also a host of friends. He was taken to his boyhood home at Hesperia and laid to rest, Feb. 14, 1919, the funeral being under Masonic auspices.

He was a member of the Maccabees of Hesperia, Eastern Star and F. & A. M. of Belding and also a member of the DeWitt Clinton consistory of Grand Rapids.

He only went as far as the sixth grade in school but being very desirous of a better education and of a good position he attended night school two years at Muskegon and two years at Belding also taking a three years' course with the DeLongy Correspondence school of Milwaukee. All his spare time was spent in studying.

Women in Politics.
Republicans and Democrats are placing women in nomination on the state tickets. As members of both dominant political parties women are represented on the state central committee and in county organizations. This looks like ideal cooperation. At the state conventions men quickly adapted themselves to the new conditions and women apparently felt quite at ease. Michigan now has a government by the people.
