SOUTH AMERICAN QUAKE.

One of the worst earthquake disasters in the history of South America has occurred in Chili, with the city of Valparaiso as the focus point of the calamity, according to cables from Valparaiso as the focus point of the South American points.

It is feared the town of Los Andes, in the province of Aconcagua, has been destroyed.

In addition to the fear of earthquakes the Valparaiso people are in constant dread of storms, which sweep in suddenly and frequently from the sea.

Following the first shock fire started in Valparaiso and hundreds of the inhabitants perished in the flames.

Prior to the spreading of the flames many persons lost their lives under the falling ruins of buildings shaken from their foundations by the first shock of earthquake.

The earthquake interrupted cable facilities to lower South American points.

The entire absence of any word from official source in Valparaiso and other points in Chili may be taken as indicating considerable exaggeration in the reports of loss of life and extent of damage.

GOOD COLORS FOR HOUSES.

It is not generally known—not even among painters—why certain tints and colors wear much better than others on houses, and the knowledge of just what tints are best to use is, therefore, rather hazy.

One writer on paint, in a recent book, says that experiments seem to show that those colors which resist or turn back the heat rays of the sun, will protect a house better than those which allow these rays to pass through the film.

Thus red is a good color because it turns back, or reflects, the red rays, and the red rays are the hot rays.

In general, therefore, the warm tones are good and the cold tones are poor, so far as wear is concerned. In choosing the color of paint for your house, select reds, browns, grays and olives which, considering the various tones these tints will produce, will give a wide range from which to choose.

Avoid the harsh tints, such as cold yellows (like lemon), cold greens (like grass green, etc.), and the blues.

It must be understood that no virtue is claimed for tints in themselves, irrespective of the materials used in the paint. Any color will fade, and the paint will scale off, if adulterated white lead or canned paint is used, but if one is careful to use the best white lead—some well-known brand of a reliable manufacturer—and genuine linseed oil, the warm tints mentioned above will outwear the same materials tinted with the cold colors.

Suffered for "White Lie."

Is a white lie ever justified? That at least some people believe it has no excuse is proved by the following tale: An ancient rabbi came to a city where all the people were truthful, married one of the inhabitants, had two children and prospered. One day a neighbor called when the rabbi's wife was washing her head, and the rabbi, going to the door, was seized by false modesty and said that she had gone out. Thereupon both of his children died, and, as no one died in that city before reaching old age, the neighbors made inquiries, the rabbi confessed what he had done, and was ordered to leave the city immediately.

His Interest Was Personal.

An eccentric member of the British parliament who died recently endeavored vainly during a quarter of a century to get passed into law a bill for preventing persons from standing outside windows while cleaning them. During his last session the old fellow complained to a colleague that his object in introducing the bill had been quite misunderstood by the house for the 25 years. "I introduced the bill," said he, "not for the sake of the window cleaners, but for the sake of the people below, on whom they might fall. The idea of the bill was suggested to me by the fear that a window cleaner might fall on myself."

In a report in the London Times it is stated that the Cape to Cairo railway in South Africa has been opened so as to run over the Kafue river on a bridge which stands on 13 spans, each 100 feet, with pillars resting on a bed 16 feet under the water. Kafue river is 266 miles north of Victoria falls, and the distance from Cape Town is 1,908 miles. The railroad, however, is now at Broken hill, 347 miles beyond the falls, the line having been pushed on while the bridge was building over the Kafue river.

Consul General George W. Roosevelt reports that the official report of the Brussels pawnshop for 1905 shows a capital employed of $387,181 and profits made during the year of only $4,966. The amount of loans on pawns was $1,253,173. In 1904 the amount loaned exceeded the amount for 1905 by about $90,500.

SALLOW FACES

Often Caused by Coffee Drinking.

How many persons realize that coffee so disturbs digestion that it produces a muddy, yellow complexion? A ten days' trial of Postum Food Coffee has proven a means, in thousands of cases, of clearing up bad complexions.

A Washn. young lady tells her experience:

"All of us—father, mother, sister and brother—had used tea and coffee for many years until finally we all had stomach troubles more or less."

"We were all sallow and troubled with pimples, breath bad, disagreeable taste in the mouth, and all of us simply so many bundles of nerves."

"We didn't realize that coffee was the cause of the trouble until one day we ran out of coffee and went to borrow some from a neighbor. She gave us some Postum and told us to try that."

"Although we started to make it, we all felt sure we would be sick if we missed our strong coffee, but we were forced to try Postum and were surprised to find it delicious."

"We read the statements on the pkg., got more and in a month and a half you wouldn't have known us. We were all able to digest our food without any trouble, each one's skin became clear, tongues cleaned off and nerves in fine condition. We never use anything now but Postum. There is nothing like it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville." "There's a reason."

NOTES ABOUT NEEDLEWORK.

How Many Dainty Dress Accessories May Be Easily Made.

Linon bags, either in white or colors, and embroidered in the owner's own monogram, are one of the latest whims of fashion, and a very sensible one it is, for these bags not only give a finishing touch to the linen costume, but can be put in the tub almost as often as the gown itself.

The possibilities of short lengths of ribbon and lace, bits of linen, lawn or silk are simply wonderful. If they happen to fall into skilled hands, while even the veriest amateur can produce really charming results, supposing her taste is good, and all at little or no cost beyond industry.

While you are planning the things to take with you on your summer trip don't forget to make a laundry bag or two. A gayly printed cretonne bag for closet or room door (if you are pressed for space) is a boon, and what is even more satisfactory is a big bag made of white or unbleached muslin, in which to send the clothes away. It should be plainly marked with your name written in indelible ink.

Those who make their afghans will be delighted with the number of pretty stitches that are being used this year. There is the biscuit stitch, which is raised, and on the right side looks like a series of narrow-buns, about half an inch wide and two inches long. The reverse side, showing these biscuits hollow, is not so attractive. Made in browns, from a deep nut shade to a light tan, this stitch may be worked into a really beautiful coverlid. — Chicago Daily News.

COLORING IN MILK.

Utah Food Commissioner Tells How It May Be Detected.

There are several ways, according to John Peterson, food commissioner of Utah, in which the presence of coloring matter in milk may be detected. If an aniline dye has been added to give a rich, creamy appearance to thin, blue milk, a little vinegar mixed with the milk, after first heating the latter, will produce curds of a distinctly orange hue. If caramel has been employed the curds will turn brown with the addition of the vinegar. Whenever milk or cream is allowed to stand in a clear glass bottle for 12 hours or more it will separate into watery and creamy layers. If the lower layer is yellow it is a proof of the presence of artificial coloring of some sort, and whenever milk or cream is kept in a warm place for 48 hours, and still remains sweet, it is pretty safe to assume that a preservative has been used. In fact, the keeping sweet of many an article of food under conditions which should make it spoil or ferment readily is a sign that the thing in question has been tampered with.

For the Home Dressmaker.

Not a few home dressmakers overlook the fact that when putting on a collar the neck of the bodice or blouse should be slightly smaller than the base of the collar band and the bodice notched here and there while putting the collar on. By doing this wrinkles are avoided. Again, when cutting out sleeves, to avoid the disaster of cutting both for the same arm, fold the material either face to face or back to back. Place the pattern on it and cut both together. A proper pair of sleeves is bound to be the result.

Make the under part of the sleeve double, so that it can be darned, as this wears out sooner than the upper. Don't forget to do plenty of tacking and pressing. To neglect these two points stamps a garment as "home-made" at once.

Always shrink a new braid before sewing to a skirt. In shortening a skirt pattern, too, always fold a plait across the middle of the pattern. Never shorten from the top or bottom of the skirt, or the shape will be spoiled. A rolling-pin, with a cloth round it, makes a good pressing board.

Woman's Fondness for Finery.

Anthropologists will tell us that when dress to catch beaux and Darwin gives long pages to prove that the pretty colors, stripes, spots and forms of animals originated in the superior luck of individuals endowed by chance with attractive variations. Selection of mates went by beauty, and pretty feathers made the pretty bird. But as respects humankind that play of evolution is obsolete. Among wild animals and primitive races it may still hold good, but everybody that knows anything knows that nowadays in cultured communities women dress for other women, not for men. Men are incapable of comprehending and appreciating the niceties and refinements of feminine dress. For whose admiration, for example, is the bride's trousseau created? It is evidently and confessedly beyond the bridegroom's powers and he ignores it—stupid thing that he is. Dress, in short, is a fine art which women pursue in and for itself and the educated taste they bring to bear upon it lifts it above all other decorative arts.—Baltimore Sun.

To Clean Combs.

In fur, fish and minerals she is rich. Since her annexation she has furnished $50,000,000 of furs, $60,000,000 of fish and $70,000,000 of minerals, chiefly gold and silver. #### Transmission of Facial Characteristics.

It would appear that the transmission of facial traits subordinate to a definite law, that is to say, that ancestral facial expression and appearance are more often than not transmitted through the female members of the family, who generally do not exhibit the same characteristics to the male offspring, and that the younger generations show, as a rule, all the facial conditions and signs which were present in a remote ancestor.—North American Review.

Tree Made Into House.

A singular maple tree on the left bank of the Oder, in Germany, is at least a century old, and has been twisted and cut into a kind of circular house of two stories.
