The school meeting of our district last Monday evening was more grotesque in character than a circus. The district is divided in opinion as to having devotional exercises in school. Although that was not publicly mentioned as the issue, each party desired to elect a director to carry out their wishes. Those opposed had counted noses and found they were solid by a majority of "three," but after the fourth vote when the ballot had been thoroughly purified by challenging the illegal voters they were defeated by a majority of five. Many were terribly mad without knowing what about. One man childish beyond his years, attempted to explain the law, and was informed by a member of the Board that he had more mouth than brains. Our chronic kicker strode through the room, then struck a dramatic attitude and exclaimed, "This is outrageous, was devilish." One whose name would indicate his specie gave vent to his true inwardness by sullen growls, but later in the evening repented and asked a young man whose vote had been challenged to "go home and pray for him." Frequent calls of "horder" from the chair were of no avail. At a late hour after the conservatives had succeeded in electing their candidate, a motion to adjourn was heard. The moderator to improve the construction of the motion called out, "halls in favor of adjourning 'Sind' so hi." (The moderator sparks a widow by that name.) They all "Hied" to await the next annual pow wow.

A Harrison and Morton barber has been raised here.

The Cleveland Theatre was packed "from pit to dome" last night, on the occasion of the opening of the regular season. The "standing room only" sign had to be put out long before time for the beginning of the performance. The play was "Under the Lash," a new sensational melodrama, full of thrilling and exciting situations. It was evidently much enjoyed by the vast audience. The leading character, a widow by that name, is taken by Walter S. Sanford, and the support in general is good. During the play, the acting dogs, Hero and Hector, are introduced. —Cleveland Herald.

Inter Lake: A badger was run over and killed by the cars, near here, yesterday. It was quite a curiosity to our citizens as probably not one in fifty of them had ever seen one of those Iowa animals before.

Mr. O. Krell, treasurer of the Vernon Lodge of Templars of Temperance, received a check for $1000 a few days since for John M. Johnson—the insurance on the life of his late wife.—C. S. Bingham made a sale this week of thirty-five of his Shropshire, to Col. W. H. Hodgson of Montana Territory, for $75. The flock includes 25 ram lambs, two yearling rams and five ewes, one of which he lately brought from England. Col. H. has 6000 sheep on his ranch and this purchase is for his own use.

The Republicans in the fifth congressional district have nominated Captain Charles E. Belknap. Its a splendid nomination.

Bishop Harris had been carrying for some years, insurance on his life in the "Equitable Life Assurance Society" for $20,000. This was promptly paid. Life insurance on the modern mutual basis in the old companies is a good investment, especially for salaried men. It enables them to save and at the same time gives good protection.

PEACHES AND CREAM, will be served in the chapel of the M. E. church, next Wednesday evening, Sept. 12, by the Young People's Society, who extend a cordial invitation to all. Bill to cents.

Gov. Luce: There is a great deal of inquiry made relative to the increase of state taxation, and a comparison of the state tax of 1884 with that of 1887. It is well known that every year when the Legislature meets the appropriations are larger than they are for the succeeding year. For instance the State tax for 1883 was $1,474,672 26; in 1888 $1,458,466.04, being $16,206.22 less than in 1883, the first year of Begole's administration. For the year 1887-8, there was an increase in the State taxes over 1883 4, and that was caused almost entirely by increased appropriations for the State educational institutional and the Soldiers' Home, which had not been established in 1883.
