

Silk suspenders at Roth's.

All the latest concepts in silk umbrellas at Roth's.

Have added a full line of cigars and cigarettes and shall keep all the popular brands in Domestic and Key West goods at Graham's P. O. News Stand.

Goldsmith has moved from the second floor of Wesener block to the store lately occupied by Knapp & Smith, 205 North Wash. St. His stock of woolsens in fall and winter goods is neat and complete. The prices for cash are cheaper than anywhere else in the county. The store has been refitted, papered and painted, and is the finest merchant tailoring establishment in the city. I invite you all to call and see my new place, examine goods and prices and satisfy yourself that what I say is true. The best and cheapest place in the county to get your clothes made. My terms are strictly cash, which enables me to sell cheaper than those who give credit to their customers.

GOLDSMITH, the Tailor,
205 N. Wash. St.

Yes, You Can Have One Free!

I am giving them away to people who trade with me and I would enjoy giving you one. It is not a cheap affair, but a fine family mill (the Genuine "JEWELL"), encased in a handsome natural wood cabinet, with air-tight drawer, also air-tight storage compartment, and worth fully three dollars.

You Like Good Coffee.

I will give you a "Jewell" Coffee Mill to grind it. Full particulars at the store.

Ho! there, Santa Claus! will you tell me where you get your Candies?

Santa—"I don't know. Yes, I will tell for I know he has enough for all, and then he is making more every day. Why, he has about a ton of dandy mixed candy which he is almost giving away, and all other kinds in proportion, then he always has such nice creams and caramels."

Inquirer—"But how are his prices?"

Santa—"Ah! That is a strong point, for they are lower than the lowest, for first-class goods, and then you want to see his Christmas tree trimmings, candles, lamps, toys, etc. It is the finest line I ever saw in all my travels. Then there is his new book just out entitled 'Sweets of Life'. I never saw its equal for pleasing everybody and such nice fruits and nuts also."

Inquirer—"But you haven't told me the place yet."

Santa—"Why, JOHNSON'S BAKERY, Owosso, of course."

Golden Wedding.

Married, in the village of Owosso, Dec. 22, 1841, by the Rev. Mr. Mattson, A. B. Chipman to Mary Ann Pratt. When the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chipman found that owing to the fulness of years, and infirmities of age, they did not feel that they could do justice to a suitable celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary, and had decided to let the day pass by un-noticed, unremembered and unused, they rose up in season of spirit and declared, "It shall not be so." The fact that this couple were married in Owosso fifty years ago, made a home here, raised a family, and had never lived in any other place since, was considered so remarkable that the occasion demanded some sort of public recognition, consequently "ye old settlers" of the city put their heads together and planned a surprise party.

Mr. and Mrs. Chipman were notified that a few of their friends would call on Dec. 22d to offer their congratulations, and would come between 4 and 9 o'clock a little while. Accordingly they began to arrive soon after 6 p. m. as became elderly people until the house was well filled. Many younger branches of the old families were present. There was a general exchanging of hearty greetings and reminiscences of earlier days, when their heads were still untouched by the frosts of age. Rev. Mr. Reitzel, pastor of the Congregational church, in his own peculiarly pleasant way, performed a unique marriage ceremony. Dr. Parkhill and Mrs. Graham acting as best man and maid, just as they did fifty years ago. True to their notions of hospitality Mr. and Mrs. Chipman had prepared a bountiful repast and bade their friends welcome with unstinted cordiality.

After supper Dr. Parkhill read the following paper:

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, OF OWOSSO,
TO MR. AND MRS. A. B. CHIPMAN.

Greeting:—
It is with profound gratitude to God, that we commemorate an event so rare as this which calls us together to-night.
For fifty years our friends have enjoyed each others society, have shared each others love, have met the responsibilities of life; have seen the wilderness blossom as the rose, and a little obscure hamlet develop into a busy city, with a large growth and larger expectations.

They have, in the noon-day of their maturity, lived in, and been part of, and contributed something continually to the making of this, the most remarkable half century since the dawn of creation.
Whatever may be in store for humanity, in the future, it will always stand an unquestioned fact, that into the fifty years now drawing to a close, the practical results of the 18 centuries of Christian thought and endeavor are crystallized; and our friends watched the miracle of the 19th century, and helped it along. It is worth something to have lived in an age, when Edison has called the lightnings down from the heavens and compelled them to stand, willing and obedient servants, at our doors; when the brain of Erickson, wrought into the fiber of our great steamships, makes it possible for them to accomplish, in a week, what our fathers would have been proud to do in a month. To have helped strike the shackles from the limbs of more slaves than God led out of Egypt. And above and beyond all else, to know that the Church of their early choice, to which during all these years, they have given faithful, consistent support, freed from the incubus of dogma and formalism, placed in closer sympathy than ever with the needs of the world about it, and prepared for a career of usefulness such as it has never known in its history.

And all this and vastly more, equally wonderful, our good friends, sitting here, yet in possession of a fair share of the strength God has given to them, have seen, and very much of which they have helped to accomplish. It is marvelous, little short of a miracle.
And now, in the name of the Church of your choice, and of friends of honest endeavor, among all those who know you, we congratulate you on the occasion of this anniversary, owing to so few of us, and we are thankful for this example of long lives spent in the service of God, and in loving sympathy with humanity.

MRS. E. SALISBURY,
MRS. EMILY AMEST,
MRS. M. L. STEWART,
JAMES CHASE,
C. P. PARKHILL,
Committee

Owosso, Dec. 22, 1901.
Mr. Chipman, after gracefully accepting this greeting sung songs of long ago, accompanying himself on the organ. Several beautiful gifts suitable to the occasion were left as testimonials of esteem. The good nights came reluctantly, for the evening had passed so pleasantly none were in haste to depart.
Let us hope many "good nights" may be said to this worthy couple in the years to come, and that theirs shall be a green old age.
