the training of the others and they were stuck at 6 450 lbs, which they pulled only ive feet, where the requirement was six. A hve fret, where the redurement was NX. At the first trial it looked as if Avery's cattle would be no where, but they were spring; beasts, and lept up the contest gallanily to 6,570 lbs, while Stockwell's under John Nichols' handling pulled out victory with 6,685 lbs.

The third class was for 4000 bound oxen. and the entries were by C L Fisher, W R Fisher, E E Stockwell and J P Nichols Nichols drove both his own and Stockwell's cattle and with tqual faithfulness. The contest started off prettily at 5000 pounds and without a blow being struck at two yoke of the contest started of the contest star he exen. C L Fisher's pair were at a disadaniage, as in the previous class from lack of training; but Chester says he will be there next time. They were stuck at 6800 pounds.

J P Nichols' fell out at 8225, lacking two inches of pulling the required six feet. W R Fisher's or Chas Miner's came out victors at 8655 pounds. Stockwell's second at 8545

The final contest was the "free for all" with entries by J D Avery of a pair of thoroughbred Helsteins and some nobly shaped animals weighing 4740 pounds, by WR Fishanimals weighing 4740 pounds, by WR Fish-cror Chas Miner, the cattle that won at the state fair, weighing 5000 pounds, and by E Stockwell with a pair weighing only 4100 and which had gained 1100 the past year. The latter were entered mainly for the purpose of getting them used to the crowd and the tests with an eye to next year, and though they were pretty unruly, they held the contest near to the end and then were so disconceried by one of them jabbing his horn into the other's eye that nothing could be done. Their tingest draft was 8410. Avery's Holsteins pulled 8625 and were evidently good for some more, while WR Fisher's were unexpectedly stuck at 8745 and thrown back on their record of 8515. So Avery took first and

A Remarkable Herd of Shropshires—Large and Superior Ewes of Sowthdowns.

The show of sheep was both the largest and hest the fair has ever had. The great feature of it was the Shropshire sheep from the farm of H W Keyes, breeder of these sheep, Holstein-Frisian cattle, trotting horses. French working horses and Yorkshire p'gs at Newbury or North L'ttleton, N H. Mr Keyes is both a breeder and importer, and he has impored 39 Shrop hires this year, all seclected from the very best flocks of England without regard to expense, and most of them to exhibit at Chicago, though it was found impossible to take them there. The Shropshires in which he has been engaged for years have been bred in England entirely for mutton, and are a distinctively mutton breed. In the last two weeks in the sheep sales over there, ever a dozen yearlings have sold for $1.200 and upward, and one ram was let for the season for $700. The Shropshire wool is what is known as the medium grade which at the present time commands the highest conditions. at the present time commands the bighest price. The fleeces of the ewes aver ge about 10 pounds and of the bucks 20 pounds or more. Mr Keyes' Shropshire flock now num more. Mr Keyes' Shropshire flock now numbers 150 including the bome bied and imported. What he considers the pride of the flock is a yearling weighing 290 pecuods, that was selected in Englind out of 400 bucks. There is an imported two years old show buck that weighs 312 pounds, another yearling that weighs 278, an imported ram lamb 148, and a pen of three of the best yearling that the high belower to England which ewes that could be bought in England which were brought over expressly for Chicago and average 256 pourds in weight. There are 12 mare yearings that average in weight 125 to 140 lbs. Mr Keyes thinks that the crossing of the Shropshires upon native ewes gives the erv finest mutton lamb.

There was a fine exhibit, and the largest

One thing that ought to be stopped another year is so much excessive whipiding of the cattle. It is not necessary.

Stockwell's yellow cattle in the 4000 class were found to weigh only 3950 after the contest was over.

A Warm Fight Over the Timson Will Case Sustained.—The Bogus Check Case, Now Just a Yearling. The Timson will case occupied about seven

The Timson will case occupied about seven days in the trial. The proponants represented by Chester E Perry, executor, claimed and the evidence lended to show that Mrs Clark Timson made her will on the 16th day of January, 1892, giving her property to the Dover and Pondville Baptist churches in equal shares and prescribing how it should be handled and conducted from time to time; that it was duly executed and that her mind was in a testamentary capacity at the time of the executamentary capacity at the executamentary duly executed and that her mind was in a testamentary capacity at the time of the execution of the will; that her husband, who died Jan 10th, 1892, willed his property, mainly, to the same churches; that they had to children and had earned between them all the property they had by a frugal and industrious life; that it had been talked over between them for years that these churches should have whatever might be left after their decease; that the $1700 of which she died possessed was a deposit in the savings bank and a little personal property and was the common earnings between them. The contestant, John Moore of Newfane, a brother of Mrs Timson, claimed and his evidence tended to show that Mrs Timson's mother nearly 90 years old and Mrs Timson's mother nearly 90 years old and a sister who were poor and living together near the testatrix at the time of making her will and were naturally the objects of her bounty but were not mentioned in her will nor were her other sisters or brothers; that Mrs Timson had the La Grippe in 1890, and from that time began to fail physically and mentally; that her bushand was taken sick in the summer of 1891 with heart disease, and grew worse until he died January 10th, 1892, and during his said sickness Mrs Timson manifested "freaks" of insanity, would take and during his said sickness Mrs Timson manifested "freaks" of insanity, would talk strangely and look and act at times as though "she did not know what she was about," and as some witnesses stated it "she acted confused," and was not of a sound disposing mind and memory. Mr and Mrs Timson lived in Williamsville, and the people there seemed to be somewhat divided, for nearly thirty witnesses from there testified and about half of them said Mrs Timson's mind was clear and all right, while the other half said it was unsound, and they all appeared to be honest and intelligent witnesses. In justice it should be said that Mrs. Alice Morse and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Merrifield, and others might be named whose testimony was so clear, intelligent and convincing and their opportunity of knowing Mrs. Timson intimately for many years and giving it as their opinion that she was of sound mind was evidence that the contestant was unable to overcome. There was some evidence that she was under the influence of her husband and that the directed what her will should be and that this in-what her will should be and that this influence continued after his death so that it really was not her will. The jury rendered a really was not her will. The jury rendered a verdict Tuesday afternoon in favor of the proponant, sustaining the will. Waterman Martin & Hitt for propouant, Haskins & Stoddard and Judge Read for contestants. E Mills & Co v James Kiniry. This was an action of replevin for two horses, a Goddard buggy and pair of harnessee. The plaintiffs were in September, 1892, horse dealers in Boston, carrying on a large business in buying and selling on their own account and on commission for other dealers. September 16, one I T Haire came to their stable and wanted to buy a pair of borses, and finally selected a pair that suited and the price was agreed upon at $500 cash. He then wanted to buy a buggy and they showed him a fine one and sold that for $250, and went with him to a harness store where he bought a pair of double harnesses. Later in the day he came again and drew two checks, one for $500 for the horses and one for $250 for the buggy, both on the Ware National bank where he had no money deposited and never bad, and handed to Mr. Milis, took the team and drove off. He had previously given a check for the harnesses. On the same day he went to other horse marts in the city and bought other teams.giving checks for them on the same bank, and that evening callected his to help drive the teams, and they took all the teams and drove, mostly in the night to Barro, to the house of his companion, one Crossley. Here they met one Robinson and his son, living on the Houghton farm in Putney, but formerly of Barre, and arranged to take part of the teams to the Houghton farm, and Haire and young itobinson and another young man named McNauchton started with them in the right and the second started with young man named McNaughton started with them in the night and drove to Putney, where Haire staid four or five days, when he went to Bollows Falls, and staid a few days and from there to Canada. James Kiniry the defendant was at work for Robinson and Haire and he and Robinson talked the matter over and concluded to change the title of the team, and Haire gave Kintry a bill of sale of the whole for the expressed value of $500. Haire testified as a witness in the case. He Haire testified as a witness in the case, He staid in Canada until last January and came back and expressed a willingness to make a "clean breast of it, tell the truth and assist the owners to get their property back," and all have go' it back except the plaintifit. He teld the whole story on the stand in an apparently straightforward manner. He said Crossley and the Robinsons knew all about the plans, and just how he had procured the property, and that it was understood if they could get teams in that way, by giving a check, and got them out of the staie it would be safe from the owners, but that after he got to Putney young Robinshit that after he got to Putney young Robinshit in Canada and in Canada and but that after he got to Putney young Robinson was arrested in Massachusetts—though afterward discharged—and he and the eider Robinson became afraid, and he started for Canada, and that Kiniry was told about the altuation and offered good pay if he would take the bill of sale and keep the team, and take the bill of sale and keep the team, and that Kinfry paid him nothing.

Kinfry denied the most of this, said he paid $500 in cash for the team, had the money in bills in his trunk up stairs and went and got it and paid it, but that no one at Robinson's saw him pay it. Haire testified that Kinfry took him pay it. Haire testified that Kiniry took one of these horses and carried him to Bellows Falls the night be started on his way for Canada, but Kiniry denied this, and said Haire went while he had gone to the post office and he didn't know how he went. The plaint iff, sent two men after their team after they found out the situation, who traced it to Putney, but Kiniry refused to give it up, though at one time he consented to do that.
