What Elgin Needs.

One of the things Elgin needs more is a good calaboose so that when drunks and others become obnoxious to society and like to term themselves as "bad men" and who "die with their boots on", they could be locked up away from others to sober off. Then they could be taken before the justice the next day and given a good stiff lashing. That would stop the drunks in our community quicker than anything else.

We are not making any complaint about our town marshal. He is doing as well as any one could under the circumstances, but if he had a good place to put these degenerates he could herd in more of them.

Some years back a big fellow named Pete went to a Nebraska town every Sunday and pulled off a fight whether others wanted to fight or not. Finally a calaboose was built and he was put in one Sunday afternoon and left there.

MY TEACHERS

By Waldo Wettengel.

Dear Students:

Instead of Charley Bunk, he must have been (Miss) Bunk's first grade teacher at least that was the name when I studied American history under him in the university. His brother had been a preacher in Tennessee, invited by the farmers of that state. The dean, I was told, had not been enough of a politician to become a preacher, he had had a stiff neck for his own in the connection that framed Oklahoma's constitution.

Every one at college that understood him used "Duke Bunk" as he was popularly known. Several had declared that we they would rather enter a life to get that "Duke Bunk's" office. I think he would, with the good master, a student's ability to stand up under him, which, however, was there, and a student's ability to stand up under him, for once his teaching was not to be showed as those interested in the student.

I was writing for a college study at this time, and thinking naturally the more that I could be shown in connection with this old western gentleman, who loved among other things, to talk about having lived through the Civil War, reconstruction period and Oklahoma's struggle for statehood, and having been a close student of our American history, the more he had been an interesting an experience.

His favorite tale was that of his first year as a member of the constitutional convention. He had, - in his early days and a rambling story - how he when he was called, "Duke Bunk" or the more popular name, "Duke Bunk" was the name by which he was known. A part of his tale was "Duke Bunk" with emphasis on the "Duke". Under his guidance I did "my" many things that I had never before seen.

Before I entered the university several former students had told me that "Duke Bunk" never graded an examination paper. The students differently of or thinking my first month's grade in American history.

The immediate effect of Dean Bunk's tale was to revive in me the desire to learn more about past events. What tale that I had read in the history book had been so interesting to me that I had been so interested in it. What a privilege it would be to enjoy your companionship with the man who had been so very a diligent student, but has actually participated in the state and national happenings of the last half century.

Rail Chief Declares Freight Charges Not the Cause of Stagnation.

Business Depression and Lack of Demand the Real Trouble.

Washington, D. C.—In pointing out the reasons for the business depression, the chief of the National Railway Conference, which is held in session here, declared today that the cause of the depression is not the freight rates, but the lack of demand for farm products.

First—That business depression is not the result of high freight rates. Second—That the real cause of stagnation in production is lack of market for producing.

A widespread propaganda is being carried on to show that the business depression is caused by high freight rates. The fact is that the business depression is caused by the lack of demand for farm products.

Public Minded as to Equality. The fact is that the business depression is caused by the lack of demand for farm products.

As a Modern Filipino Actually Looks

There are hundreds of thousands of this type of young men in the Philippines. They are to be the future rulers of the destinies of the islands.

The Filipino has been much misrepresented in the United States. This is largely because the Sunday supplements have made a specialty of portraying the semi-naked non-Christian hill tribes as "typical" Filipinos, which is far from the truth. The total population of the Philippines is 16,350,940, of which 9,493,272 are Christians and civilized, and have been so for 300 years, possessing a culture and refinement that will compare favorably with that of other countries. The number of non-Christians is 6,857,668, and only a small percentage of these are uncivilized. They are fast becoming educated, and will ultimately make good citizens. Seventy per cent of the inhabitants of the Philippines over ten years of age, according to the last census, are literate. This is a higher percentage of literacy than that of any South American country, higher than that of Spain, and higher than that of any of the New Republics of Europe whose independence is being guaranteed by the Allies.
