The Same Here—

A rumor that 250,000 Germans had been surrounded and captured by the British struck Medford Sunday noon and spread over the entire county. The Medford Sun telephone was kept ringing all evening by anxious subscribers who had heard the story and wanted it confirmed. The report had it that the news was posted in the S. P. station at Ashland. Inquiry at Ashland brought a denial, it being claimed the report came from Grants Pass. Grants Pass was called and knew all about the rumor but it had come from a bulletin board in Medford.—Medford Sun.

HOME GUARDS DRILL IN COUNTY COURT HOUSE

Last night more than a hundred men were at the court house for the first drill of the newly organized home guard, and a number of new names were added to the roll.

Squads of business and professional men and artisans were busy for more than an hour learning the facings, steps and other rudiments of tactics. Drilling was commenced in the basement but there were so many squads that the floor space was entirely occupied and soon the first and second floors were accommodating the overflow.

GET READY TO SMUDGE SAYS GOVERNMENT MAN

Floyd Young, the government frost expert on duty in the Medford district, issued a warning Monday morning to all orchardists of the valley to hurry and get their smudge pots ready for quick use, as the pear trees are far advanced and the blossoms are almost ready to break out.

"A heavy frost here would do much damage now," said Mr. Young. "Even a temperature of 24 degrees would harm many of the trees. In an auto ride about the valley Sunday I saw only one or two places where the orchardists had their smudge pots ready. It behooves all orchardists to prepare to combat a frost which may come most any morning now."

Because of the recent heavy rains which have thoroughly soaked the ground much difficulty will be experienced in making preparations.

FREDERICK G. COAN LECTURES TOMORROW

Dr. Coan's lecture on the Armenian massacres at the Baptist church tomorrow evening will be preceded by a solo by Mrs. A. N. Parsons and a duette by Mrs. Guy Knapp and H. L. Stonaker. Lecture is free and no collection.

Few men living today can interpret the peoples of the east to the people of the west as understandingly as Dr. Frederick G. Coan. Born of missionary parents in Urumia, Persia, he grew up speaking the dialects of the people with whom he lived.

He was an eye witness of the 1894-5 and 1915 massacres in Urumia. He has traveled all over the stricken districts since the deportations.

His lecture deals with personal experiences during the two massacres, and with America's position in regard to them. January 2, 1915, Dr. Coan saw Kurds and Turks break through the Russian lines in the northwest of Persia, and sweep down the south and west, devastating the plain of Urumia and the eastern side of the lake.

JAPANESE DECIDE NOT TO INTERVENE

Washington, Mar. 26.—The Japanese announcement that Siberian intervention is not contemplated now has pleased official Washington.

The premier's announcement that the German prisoner situation was not regarded sufficiently serious to warrant intervention squared with the American view, as expressed to Japan recently.

The state department announced Sunday that there are about 80,000 prisoners in all Siberia.

The influence of the American opposition to the intervention, plus a considerable internal Japanese opposition, were regarded as partly determining factors in the decision not to move against Siberia at this time.

While the state department made no official announcement, it is understood that the Japanese government has let the United States know that it will not take any steps in the Far East now.
