Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sawyer have left the home on Westminster street, occupied by them for several years, and are to board at the present at Towns hotel.

A small snake was found in the public library one day this week. It seemed very contented with its quarters, but the question seems to be, how did it get there.

This evening a pink tea will be given by the King's Daughters of the Universalist church at 6 o'clock. There will also be a sale of articles, useful as well as ornamental.

Still they go, and still they come. H. A. Tins, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Norwood, and W. W. Dodge have gone, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Holley, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Switzer, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hayes and Master William have returned from Chicago and the Fair.

The Daughters of Rebekah give this evening an entertainment in Odd Fellows hall. It is to consist of music, dialogues, and the reading of the Ruggles family, illustrated by tableaux. A cordial invitation is given to all to come and help them by the payment of a small admission fee.

John O'Connors of this place was brought before Justice Holmes at Keene, N. H., Friday morning, charged with an assault upon Mrs. Helen L. Capron of Marlboro. The evidence did not tend to show criminal intent on the part of O'Connors, but he was probably harrassed. He was fined $10 and costs.

Wednesday Fred Cole, while at the Valley fair, caring for a horse belonging to Henry Frost, his father-in-law, was kicked in the back of the neck, from the effects of which he died about midnight of the same night. It is hoped that the first number of the Phoenix will be issued about October 1.

The attendance was considerably decreased Wednesday and Thursday on account of the absence of a large number who were at Brattleboro.

The lieutenant has won for himself universal esteem and Vermont Academy will greatly miss his genial and efficient military leader. The entire community will also part with regret of his recall to his post in the regular army. The best wishes of the community are assured to him. The numerous friends of Lieut. SPORTING NEWS.

Echoes from the Base Ball and Foot Ball Fields.

Denny said "Leave Me Alone."

"In all the hard work of a foot ball campaign an amusing incident occasionally happens to heighten the intensely serious players," says a writer in the Boston Globe. "During a game on the Yale field last year in which Hinkley was the acting captain in the absence of McCormick, the alleged 'Silent One' had occasion frequently to shout at O'Neill, the big fellow from Holy Cross college, who was being tried at guard by Yale. Hinkley was continually hammering at the long, gray-haired Irishman in this strain: 'Why don't you pay attention to the signals and get into the game?' O'Neill heard this until his patience gave out, when he retorted: 'Oh, leave me alone with your mystic signs and let me hold me man.' Even Hinkley smiled and held his peace."

Jack Doyle's Great Work.

Jack Doyle, the Adams, Mass., sprinter, who will be remembered in Brattleboro as a base ball player, is making a showing in England as a sprinter that far surpasses any man ever sent there from this country. In all his races he has been scratch man and his running is wonderful. He has earned the name of the Yankee Flyer by his great work. He is the favorite by big odds in all the handicaps and in most cases his friends are not disappointed.

How Jed Jones Won the Game and the Series.

J. E. D. Jones, the left fielder of the Brattleboro team of '90, was the hero of a notable game Saturday. Jones graduated from Brown University last June, and since then has been covering second base for the New Bedford team, receiving a salary of $30 a week. The New Bedford have been playing a series of games with the Fall Rivers of the New England league for the championship of Essex County, Mass. The series was a tie and the decisive game was contested Saturday. Sexton and Hinkley were the battery for the New Bedford and did excellent work. In the ninth inning the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of the Fall Rivers. The New Bedford had three men on bases when Jones came to the bat. He lined the ball out for two bases, sending three men home, and winning the game and the series. When the New Bedford reached home they were met at the railroad station by a great crowd, and the cheering streets in carriages, a band leading the procession and fire works illuminating the line of march. Jones will soon engage in the insurance business in Connecticut.

Brattleboro Boys at Foot Ball.

The Mt. Hermon foot ball team defeated the Amherst agricultural college eleven 30 to 0 at Amherst Monday. Two Brattleboro boys were on the Mt. Hermon team, Charlie Crowell left end, and Walter Cornell left tackle. Crowell made one sprint of 55 yards and scored a touch down.

REV. DR. HALL'S LETTER

Replying to the Notification of His Election to the Bishopric of Vermont.

Rev. Dr. Arthur C. A. Hall, who has been chosen Episcopal bishop of Vermont, has, as already announced, asked for more time to consider the matter. The letter in which he makes this request has been made public. It is addressed to the chairman of the committee which notified Mr. Hall of his election, and reads as follows:

Reverend and Dear Brother: The letter signed by yourself and the other members of the committee, notifying me of my election to the bishopric of Vermont, reached me yesterday. I need hardly tell you that since the receipt of Dr. Bliss's cable message on the 31st, the matter has been a subject of constant thought and prayer. The unanimity of the convention and your assurance of hearty welcome and cooperation on the part of both clergy and laity are indeed strong inducements to devote myself to the service of the diocese and of the church in the office to which you have chosen me, should your choice be confirmed by the authorities of the church. But I am sure that you will recognize that especially in my circumstances there are grave questions to be weighed before I can definitely declare my readiness to obey your call. I must therefore beg you to allow me some little time for further consideration, promising to send you my definite decision as soon as possible. My acceptance of the Episcopal office would of course imply entire freedom from any obligation of obedience to the brotherhood with which I have been associated, and from any conflicting claims or allegiance. With the assurance of my hearty respect and of my earnest prayers for the welfare of the diocese which has called me to so honorable an office, I am,

Very faithfully your servant in Christ,
ARTHUR C. A. HALL.

The committee who are charged with the notification of Father Hall feel assured of his ultimate acceptance, the only question being, as is understood, that of his release by the order of Cowley Fathers.

"STOLE OVER $1,500,000."

My dear Phoenix:—Reading over your columns, 4000 miles away, I came across your article with above heading. Among the French Protestants it was the custom 60 years ago, and is yet to a certain extent, to give children biblical names. My father, being a clergyman and a pious man, called his sons John, Elijah, Elisha (in French Elie, Elise), Paul, Timothy, and his daughters had equally holy names. Elie and Elise came to America and settled here. The similitude of their names has been a constant source of mistakes, sometimes ludicrous, sometimes puzzling, and they have had to practice mutual forbearance. In France first names are seldom used.

I am sorry to say that my brother Elise is one of the victims of Lawyer Francis H. Weeks. With true Yankee grit he is going to resume work.

Yours truly,
ELIE CHARLIER.

[This letter is written to The Phoenix by Prof. Charlier from Southern France. The allusion is to the account of Francis H. Weeks's theft of $600,000 from his clients. Among the victims named in the press despatches was "Elie Charlier," whose true name and personality the Professor here explains.—E.]

VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD.

Capt. Herbert E. Tuthery of the First United States cavalry, assistant inspector general of the Vermont National Guard, has issued a report of the muster recently held at Rutland. He says: "I consider that the parades, reviews, guard mountings and other ceremonies throughout the encampment were, as a whole, executed in a very creditable manner, considering that the troops came together but once a year, and then only for five days, and that the people of Vermont are to be congratulated on having such a regiment of infantry and battery of artillery as constitute the brigade of the state National Guard." Capt. Tuthery says that Company M at Rutland has its members so scattered that they cannot get together for the necessary drill, and that this company marred the appearance of the regiment through all the exercises of the encampment. He recommends that, if possible, another company be placed this one from some locality that can sustain a better drilled organization.

REUNION POSTPONED.

Owing to the present financial stringency the proposed reunion of the Seventh Vermont regiment, appointed to be held at Burlington on the 17th and 18th of October next, has been postponed until next year at a time to be fixed upon hereafter, of which due notice will be given.
