Some Good Reasons  For Buying Shoes

in February

There is no time of the year when we can afford to give away shoes, because there is no time of the year when we are able to ge them given to us. There are certain times each year, however, when we can better afford to sell shoes even at a money loss on each p than to keep them in stock. The month of February is one of the times--it is more than that, it is the month of all when we can bes afford to sell shoes at a sacrifice, when we can least afford to keep las season's shoes in the expectation of selling them next season. For th reason, and because experience of many years' duration has taught that it does not pay to carry stock over from one season to another, choose February, a between-season month, in which to dispose of odds and ends.
Odds and Ends--sounds as though what we offer is undesirable goods, shopworn, imperfect or out of style, doesn't it? This is not the case. We use the expression Odds and Ends to signify the shoes that are left at the end of each season, in every way as good as they we when we first bought them. We have to buy a great many pairs shoes that we do not need in order to have the right style and size hand to suit every customer. We cannot tell when we buy just wha customers will come to us or just what they will want. These that are left are going this month at all kinds of low prices. Come in and let us show you. We have the time and inclination. You needn't buy unless you find what you want.
Spring Styles Coming Right Along
We have bought our 1907 Spring Styles, some of them are already Spring Shoes while the thermometer is hovering around 30 below zero. If you want to see what "they" are going to wear this spring, we can show you. And when the time comes we shall advertise and display the show you. And when the time comes we shall advertise and display the best and most complete line of fashionable and staple footwear for 1907
