CELEBRATE OLD HOME DAY AT POND SIDE

Two Hundred Attend Reunion of Old Teachers, Scholars and Friends

Old Home Day and a reunion of old teachers, scholars and friends was held on Saturday, Aug. 21 at the Pond Side. About 200 were present from this and surrounding towns. After a picnic dinner the following excellent program was given:

Instrumental music (Ivy Waltz)
 Welcome Helen A. Sanborn
 Recitation Audrey Craig
 Singing Myrtle Clark
 Reading Peacham Quartette
 Mrs. D. C. Watt
 Graphophone selection
 Original Poem Elizabeth Blake
 Vocal Duet Mr. Smart and Tattle
 Reading Mrs. D. C. Watt
 Remarks Rev. Isaac Chase
 Remarks Guy Von Aldrich
 Poem Mrs. Chester Clark
 Singing Peacham Quartette
 Remarks George Miller
 Reading Mrs. D. C. Watt

After the program the center of attraction was the games and races. The wheelbarrow race for boys was won by Frances Moore. Sack race was won by Norman Blair. The mail contest was won by Hazel Douse who drove 22 nails in a minute. The blueberry pie contest for six boys was won by James Craig Jr. The girls' contest with wheelbarrows was won by M. Geneva Chandler. The men's contest throwing bags of sand was won by M. Harley Abbott. The tug of war was free to all.

The readings by Mrs. Lillian Kenerson Watt, a former Peacham girl were very much enjoyed by all, also the singing by Peacham quartette, Messrs. Tuttle, Waldo, Smart and Darling. Rev. J. P. Chase gave a very interesting talk, also Principal George Miller of Peacham Academy. Guy Von Aldrich of New York was present with his mother, Mrs. Lucy (Osgood) Woodward, a former Peacham girl and a sister, Mrs. Elliott of St. Johnsbury.

The remarks by Mr. Von Aldrich were very interesting and added much to the program. He is doing Y. M. C. A. work and was a worker in France in the late war. The original poem by Miss Elizabeth Blake of St. Johnsbury also deserves special mention.

The whole affair may be called a success this year and it is hoped to make it even better next.

The committees who were in charge were Mr. and Mrs. James Craig, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Goss, Mr. and Mrs. James Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Sanborn, A. L. Peak had charge of the sports.

ORIGINAL POEM READ AT POND SIDE
 Old Home Day by Miss Elizabeth Blake of St. Johnsbury

Once more we're meeting at the Pond Side

Friends are coming from far and wide
 To meet at our Reunion here
 And see the neighbors living near.

Then we think of our old school days
 And those old games and plays
 Let's play tag last one there it is
 How we would run and not tire a bit.

And those long slides down the hill
 Then up again with right good will
 Until the school bell did ring
 Telling us that study was the thing.

Thirty years is not a long time
 But of those who hear my rhyme
 And lived near here in that day
 But few in the district now stay.

Just a family or two now live here
 The rest are scattered far and near
 The Stoddards and Craigs we still can show
 Familiar names that we all know.

The Ewell name we do not hear
 Though Hattie is now living near
 When her days in school were done
 She began the work of teaching one.

She and "Will" are now at Pond Side
 Where every summer they reside
 Selling lunches, candy and all
 To the many parties that call.

Those dear old school days are o'er
 Never to come back any more
 Few lessons we may learn each day
 As we journey on Life's long way.

But though our school days are gone
 And we think of them with a sigh
 Still others our places will take
 And keep the old school house awake.

There is much work to be done
 Many rewards to be won
 There is much of good for all to do
 As our life we journey through.

Our boys gave their lives for liberty
 And thus saved our fair country
 You are not asked your life to give

But can you not for service live?
 Make your life so brave and true
 That others who are watching you
 Shall all try some good to show
 That all the world shall better grow.

The service that you have given
 And the good for which you have striven
 Shall bring to you great pleasure
 And happiness without measure.

Then when your life work is o'er
 And at last you reach the other shore
 May you hear the Master say "Well done"

Welcome home for your reward is won.

LYNDONVILLE

The Chautauqua program for Monday offered three fine entertainments. The morning lecture by Prof. A. P. Fairfield, was on "Art in Daily Life," an excellent presentation of that important and interesting subject. Those who attended felt they had gained many new and wholesome ideas. In the afternoon Knight McGregor, the baritone singer, with a violinist and pianist, gave a pleasing program of songs and violin solos. The lecture of the evening was Arthur Hunt-Clute, who spoke on "The New World Spirit," a most timely and helpful address.
