THE CHRISTMAS STAR

By JEAN DOUGLAS.

HE twilight of Christmas eve crept slowly over the city, disguising the harsh outlines of the housetops with a soft gray blanket.

The apirit of Yuletide filled the air, and since you could not help breathing it, the joyous song of "Peace and good-will" flooded the inner being as well. In the dormer window of an attic chamber overlooking the city stood a fittle child. She was thin and pale, but even these ravagers of beauty could not rob her features of their loveliness. Great blue eyes and golden curls enhanced the fairy-like delicacy of her face, and though ill clad she possessed the bearing of a prin-Now and again she left her post at the window and, opening the door, listened as if expecting to hear familiar footsteps ascending the

When it was almost dark and lights began to appear here and there over the housetops, like will-o'-the-wisps in a marshy bog, she drew a chair beneath the hook driven in the closet door from which an exceedingly shabby coat and weather-beaten hat were suspended. By this means she was able to reach the garments and was soon attired for the street. Running back to the window she scanned the city and the heavens. Just above the horizon gleamed a single star of wondrous brilliancy, and the child, encaptured by its beauty, forgot that she intended to go out and remained motionless watching the resplendent glory of heaven's jewel. The room was flooded with a soft shimmering light, and the child gave a sob of joy as she suddenly realized that the star moved. As far as she could see the same silvery radiance flooded the sky. The great soul within that tiny body sang with happiness and she softly whispered: "It is the star of Bethlehem. I must follow it, like the three

She hastened from the room and down the flights of steps to the street. The star moved on and on, unfalter ingly, and the tiny figure trembled in every limb as it followed the wondrous light.

Beyond the boundary of the city, over frozen roads and frost-whitened fields, the tireless lettle feet, ill protected by their worn shoes, hastened after the star.

At last she came to a tiny house nestled among a group of fir trees From the windows came paths of yellow light, whose warmth and cheeri ness drew her on to the door.

She did not pause to knock, but lifted the latch and entered. The room was scantily furnished, but a glowing log fire bathed the homely surroundings with a glorified beauty.

Seated in front of the fireplace was a woman who bent lovingly over an Infant. Grouped about her were three children, while the father of this happy family stood somewhat back of the mother hanging a branch of everm above the mantel.

As the little stranger entered and hesitated, the children rushed forward to greet her.

"Come in, child," said the mother. The tired little girl moved eagerly forward. "Have I found the king?" she asked.

"The king?" questioned the proud mother. "Yes, we think baby is a king." And she placed the soft, pink face of the infant close to that of the chitd, who reverently kissed its cheek. "I have brought him a gift," she whispered, shyly, offering a little bead purse. The mother stooped and imprinted a warm kiss on the lips of the tiny gift bearer.

"He will love it, and would thank you if he could. See, he reaches for it now." The chubby fingers, attracted by the brightly colored beads. tried their best to grasp the purse. "You have given him his first Christmas gift," said the father. "Draw near the fire-you are coldwhile I get a bowl of bread and milk." The child removed her hat and coat, seated herself on the hearth stool and was soon enjoying the simple fare. "How did you find us?" the woman

Chance for Burbank "Here's something for Burbank to try his hand on," said a man to his

"What's that?" "Training a Christmas tree to aprout its own presents."

Giving of Presents. It was the custom among Romans to exchange gifts at their winter festival, and this custom may have descended to us from antiquity. But Christians like to feel that it was because the wise men brought gifts to the infant Jesus, and because of the gift of God 'o the world. Gifts to the poor seem from the earliest Bible times to have been an expression of a thank-

THE tree shines with the candle glow,

The trinkets glitter jewel-

And we would that our souls might know

The joy told in the children's eyes. Such sheer delight as this of theirs-A wondrous happiness

it is! And every word the message bears:

This is the children's day -and His!

ET us come, as the Wise Men came

Those nineteen centuries agone, Led by the Star's eternal flame That bade them rise and hasten on. They brought rare frankincense and myrrh, They brought rich gems and graven gold, They knelt, adoring, near to

And all their marvelings they told.

AYE, as those Men of long ago,

Today we, too, may see the Star,

May see its mystic heavenly glow

Flash out o'er Childland fair and far:

And from our hands now fall the gifts And we know why the Wise Men smiled With gratefulness; and each heart lifts Its chant of worship of the Child.

INTERNATIONAL

THE ASCENSION.

LESSON TEXT-Luke 24:50-53; Acts 1:1-GOLDEN TEXT-He was taken up; and a cloud received Him out of their sight.-

We have now reached the final lesson of the present course in the life of Christ, next Sunday being devoted to the review. The lesson committee have selected the continuous account of this final earthly act of our Lord as given us by St. Luke, for the Book of Acts is a continuance of the Gospel of Luke (Acts 1:1). Inasmuch as this is really but one account we will consider only that found in the Acts.

I. The Proof of the Resurrection. vv. 1-3. This book of "The Acts" is a continuation of what Jesus "began to do" and gives us the record of how he continued this work by means of those "whom he had chosen" (v. 2). Following his resurrection he gave them commandments "through the Holy Spirit," viz. in the power of the Holy Spirit. A like honor rests upon every believer to hear and to obey the commands of Jesus given in the power and demonstration of the Holy Spirit. The all-sufficient proof No Place for Thunder Bird on (see also I Cor. 15:4-8) was that Jesus had been seen for a period of 40 days. This is the "many infallible proofs." During that time they not alone saw the risen Lord, but conversed with him, ate with him, and had communion with him. During these days of communion he gave them his commands as to the "things concerning the kingdom of God." This entailed a burden that these commands be proclaimed in ever widening circles to the utmost bounds of the earth.

Additional Experience. II. The Promise of the Father. vv. 4-8. The disciples were not to begin the proclamation of their message until they were fully equipped, until they had received that all essential preparation, the enduement of the Holy Spirit. Here, again, the Scriptures are to be fulfilled (Isa. 44:3; Joel 2:8, also Luke 24:49). That ten days' delay was not time lost, for time spent in preparation is never time We must not suppose these men as not regenerate (John 13:10; 15:3), but as lacking an equipment necessary for the successful execution of their important task. We as believers cannot call him Lord except by the power of the Spirit (I Cor. 12:3), but we do not all have that infilling of the Spirit which alone will enable us to render effective service. This is an additional experience, but one open to all who will honestly and intelligently seek it (see Acts 8:12, American Society of Indians, adopted and other references). This experi- as the school emblem a thunder bird. ence is (a) commanded, "charged not The thunder bird was designed for by "repentance," and (c) to carry with the greatest authority in the world it authority, v. 7 R. V. It does not on Indian art. From Mrs. Deitz, who, mean, either, temporal power nor is it | with her husband, William Lone Star the prerogative of a visible church | Deltz, is teaching art at the Carlisle kingdom is a spiritual one. The pro- ly all the Indian tribes recognize a gram of Jesus is Spirit-filled men to be bird as a symbol of authority and so his witnesses, and to begin "at Je- cial rank. The artist, who is a Winrusalem." A true reception of the nebago Indian of aristocratic lineage Holy Spirit means world-wide mission- and who has delved deeply into Indian ary endeavor.

Presumptive Ignorance.

III. The Present Place of Jesus. vv. 9-11. Even yet the disciples failed to grasp the idea of a spiritual kingdom as evidenced by verse six. In a most emphatic way he tells them that it is not for them to know the "times and seasons which the Father hath set within his own power" (authority, v. 7, R. V.). Their power is not to be earthly, but spiritual (v. 8). It is the height of presumptive ignorance for any one to set the date of our Lord's return (Deut. 29:29). Jesus has given us explicit information on this question (Matt. 24:36), and his parables all warn us to While Jesus talked with his disciples concerning the reception of this new power and the place where they were to begin to exercise it, his feet were parted from the earth and a cloud received him from their sight as he ascended "into heaven" (Luke 24:51; I Pet. 3:22; see also Gen. 5:24 and Heb. 9:28 R. V.). His parting benediction was an adjuration to a life of service not in their weakness, but in the blessed enduement of power. Youder into heaven he had gone to prepare a place for us (John 14:2, Heb. 9:24.) There he ever liveth to intercede for us (Heb. 7:25). His presence there makes us eternally secure (Rom. 8:34, Heb. 7:25). His presence in the heavenlies is the guarantee that we, too, shall one day be "with him" (John 12:26, Rev. 2:21).

This hope inspires the church to evangelism, to holy living and to faithful service. It was necessary that our Lord's work be transferred from his invisible person.

Lifted up he was on Calvary, lifted up he was into glory, that "If I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me." Mysterious birth, wondrous life, glorious, marvelous ascension!

As this is written Europe is bathed in blood, and America is engaged in a set season of prayer for peace. The only abiding peace we can hope for will be when the Prince of Peace shall return to rule and to reign.

A Most Decided Bargain is Offered in This Stylish Coat at $ 10.00

Illustration shows front and back of this very desirable garment. Material is of fine quality Navy Blue or Black Boucle. New flare skirt model, slightly fitted at waistline. Comfortable Raglan sleeves with fancy cuffs trimmed to match collar. Short loose belt in front—buttons over to left. Belt has side inserts of Silk Plush and back of belt is trimmed with four large Plush buttons as shown. Stylish back collar of self-material, plush button-trimmed and has center insert of Silk Plush as shown. Back of coat has V-pleats which are very effective. One of the most stylish and practical coats shown this season at $10. Sizes, 34 to 42 bust.

Goods Sent Free by Parcel Post

Goods Sent Free by Parcel

European Flags.

According to Indian Tradition, It is the Recognized Symbol of Authority, Dignity, Arbitration, and, Above All, Peace.

More than twelve million fighting men in Europe are today wearing insignia on their clothing or are being led to victory or defeat by banners depicting a bird displayed in what Americans would call spread-eagle style. The troops that wave the Stars and Stripes aloft have in the past and present been led on by the counterfeit presentment of an eagle with outspread wings. Seldom do those engaged in war or mere onlookers ever give a thought to what appears to be on consideration an odd and relatively meaningless custom that almost verges on fetish worship. To be sure, one nation uses the painted or embroidered effigy of an elephant on its banners, another a dragon, and so on. but these nations are hardly civilized in the highest sense.

Investigation of encyclopediac information discloses no good reasons why America, Germany and Russia should place a bird on their national emblems.

Some weeks ago the Carlisle Indian school, following the footsteps of the moth. According to an accepted legend ages had passed with all the spirits dominating land, water and air remaining on relative equality. Ancient Indian clans, for conveniences of recognition and occupation, had associat ed themselves with various patron spirits. The story of the achievement of domination by the thunder bird is tedious, but tells how a fatigued war rior of the thunder-bird clan lay exhausted at the edge of a precipice watching still waters far below. His attention was attracted by the disturbance of the limpid depths, from which the water spirit emerged to meet the thunder bird in deadly conflict. The observer is supposed to have been the only human being who has ever seen these spirits. As one or the other became exhausted they implored the warrior for help with specious pleas. Eventually he aided the thunder bird, and the water epirit sank, never to be seen again.

tion and, most important of all, peace to have no superiors and few equals. emblem of a bird with widespread Europeans from ancient America. II war and devastation.

"Sleeping" Bullet Least Dangerous. Physicists have shown the world of warring men that the firing line of soldiers must be regulated if fewer casualties are to result. Close upon the enemy's fire or far away result in the most unhealable wounds; midway between the range of the rifle bullets is the most satisfactory position. The reason is that the distance which a bullet travels is divided into three parts, the first distance the bul- ard ration, which is probably a very let travels in a wabbly manner, either up and down or sidewise; the middle distance it "sleeps," or moves on an exact plane, and the third distance, being partly speat, it wobbles in a serpentine movement again. When the densed meat product) is entering into bullet "sleeps" it cuts a clean hole the ration very largely. The kaiser through the part of the body hit, but has always expressed a lively interest when it is on the first or final distance it tears a jagged hole and moves either up or down and is likely to remain in the body.

When the battle range is regulated in such a manner that the line of sol- of the war will be gained from the diers is exposed to the range of the fact that the daily cost of provisions "sleeping" bullets there is less work for the ambulance corps.

to depart till, etc.," (b) to be preceded the school by Angel De Cora Deltz, Liberal Ration Allotted Germany's Fighting Men.

and confined to an elect few. This school, it has been learned that near Commanders Realize the Importance of Keeping Troops in Proper Physical Condition-Enormous Cost of the Commissariat.

> Military experts placed little faith legends, says that the thunder bird or in the numerous rumors during the its equivalent in various forms has first days of the war to the effect that been a mark of distinction and au the German armies were suffering for thority, probably, for many thousand lack of food. The reason why they years. As a child she heard from na doubted these reports was because it tive legendary sources the story of was hard to believe that a commisthe thunder bird, and has every rea sary department so well equipped as son to believe that it is as ancient as Germany's would fail in its work so the legend concerning the last mam early in a struggle for which preparations have been going on for years. All civilized nations have long rec-

A Huge Tuber 33 Feet Higher Than the Statue of Liberty and Weighing Over 120,000,000 Pounds Would Make Only a Week's Supply of Potatoes for the Kalser's Fighting ognized that food supplies may play Having permitted so much reckless as important a part in the winning or bird slaughter in this country that inlosing of battles as ammunition, sect posts are increasing at an alarmmarksmanship and personal bravery. Ing rate, it would be well to take care With the thoroughness which is so of the birds that have been added to characteristic of their nation the Ger- our national possessions by reason of mans have for years made the feeding the acquisition of a section of Panof their soldiers a matter of scientific ama study. Their commissary department

Among the Indians the thunder bird is under the direction of a group of stands for authority, dignity, arbitra dietetic specialists who are admitted

There are many who believe that the The daily ration which they have prescribed as the best fortification for wings has been appropriated by the a German fighting man's stomach includes 26 ounces of fresh bread, or so, it is an unfortunate perversion 17 ounces of biscuit; 13 ounces of that makes the symbol of arbitration fresh meat, or seven ounces of and peace the banner which leads to smoked meat; four ounces of rice, or eight ounces of flour, or 52 ounces of potatoes; nearly an ounce of sait; nearly an ounce of roasted coffee, or one-tenth of an ounce of tea, and half an ounce of sugar.

The amount of bread eaten in a week by the German soldiers now in the field would make a loaf 393 feet high and weighing 60,130,000 pounds. A week's supply of potatoes would make a tuber 188 feet high and weighing 120,330,000 pounds. The figures given are for the standdifferent thing from that actually be ing consumed along the great battle formation, where there is a great flexibility as to the food to be used. It is possible that pemmican (a con in his soldiers' food, and he has not infrequently ridden up to the field bakeries and sampled the product of their ovens. Some idea of the enormous expense for the combined armies would be $12,500,000, without the expense of transportation, which would be $4,-200,000 more each day. These figures were based on the prices of some years ago, so that 15 per cent could be added to the cost of the food, making the cost today $18,750,000, or $22,950,-"delivered" at the place of con sumption.

Why They Come Back.

The war correspondent had returned from the scene of conflict. His amazingly realistic descriptions had enchained countless readers. You could smell the stale powder in them; you could hear the dull booming of the mighty guns.

"Those stories were wonderful," an admirer told him.

"Think so?" "Yes, indeed. Why, I was with you in the trenches. I was cold, hungry, half-frozen and half-drowned. And when they had you up against the wall and ten muskets leveled at your heart I almost shricked in terror. My dear boy, you mustn't be so natural."

The returned one grimaced. "Cut it out," he growled. "The thing never happened."

"You wasn't arrested for a spy?" "No, I wasn't. I couldn't get near enough to be arrested. And I wasn't in the trenches, either." "Not in the trenches."

"No. I didn't even know where they were." "B-but why did you come home?" "My imagination gave out," he called back as he strode away.-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Refuse to Yield to Old Age. It is a common saying that there are no old people now-a-days. That is more flattering than true. There are as many old people now as there ever were, in proportion to the population at large, but there are fewer, perhaps, who advertise their passing. The old people of today, as a rule, try to be more spruce, more agile, more debonair. They pay an attention to externals which would have been regarded as indecorous by persons of the same age a half century ago.

Should Conserve Panama Birds. The bird resources of the canal zone evidently are of much importance. Possibly if they are properly conserved they will become one of the valuable assets of the United States.