BY FRANCIS LYNDE ILLUSTRATIONS OF CD. RHODES CONVENTION S OF CONTROL OF COMMENT OF COMMENT OF COMMENT OF COMMENT SOME

CHAPTER XXIV-Continued. -12-

name called softly from the depths of erty be entrusted to a picked squad of one of the great wicker lounging the exemployees themselves. chairs half hidden in the veranda During these days of turmoit and dropping into it wearily.

"The men are still holding out?"

men.

ventured.

There was yesterday, or the day before," she suggested. "Perhaps. But yesterday was yesterday, and today is today. As I told Raymer a little while ago, I've changed my mind." "No," she denied, "you only think to tell me that?" tion. How is Mr. Galbraith?"

"He is a very sick man." "You mean that there is a chance that in every mail." that he may not recover?"

"More than a chance, I'm afraid." said. "I did my best; you know I did ment was a questioning, "Well?" my best?"

Her answer puzzled him a little. "I could almost find it in my heart | edly. to hate you if you hadn't."

whispering of the summer night plant last night?" breeze rustling the leaves of the lawn caks and the lappings of tiny waves Griswold got up and groped for his corner back of the machine shop an-

"I'm going home," he said. "It has with kerosene." been a pretty strenuous day, and there is another one coming. But before I queried Griswold, half-heartedly. After time. go I want you to promise me one the heavens have fallen, no mere terthing. Will you let me know imme- restrial cataclysm can evoke a thrill. diately, by phone or messenger, if Mr gan, with the sober gravity that he of the shop and around to the place, could never be sure was not one or there was no one there; nothing but her many poses, and not the least al- the pile of kindlings." luring one "Do you believe in God. Kenneth?"

surprise, but he made shift to answer desk, he had closed with the concluit with becoming seriousness.

"I suppose I do. Why?"

that Mr. Galbraith's life may be upper Shawnee street. spared." He could not let that stand.

cially?" he asked, adding: "Of course, "You know the way." I'm sorry, and all that, but-" she left her chair to walk beside him | chair. to the steps. "I've had a hard day, too, Kenneth, boy, and I-I guess it has about that at this stage of the game, got on my nerves. But, all the same, the better it will be for both of us!" you ought to do it, you know."

the eyes whose depths he could never settled, one way or the other!" wholly fathom. "Why don't you do it?" he demand-besides, I thought-oh, well, it doesn't are only making a hopeless bluff. We matter what I thought. Good-night." And before he could return the leave-taking word, she was gone.

trouble would begin when the attempt | will vanish. We both know that." should be made to start the plant with imported workmen was amply fulfilled during the militant week which fol- decision. lowed the opening of hostilities. Each succeeding day saw the inevitable in- admitted. "And the day of miracles is crease of lawlessness. From taunts past." and abuse the insurrectionaries passed easily to violence. Street fights, when the trampish place-takers came in any hitherto unplumbed. But if he could considerable numbers, were of daily ed grew like the returns from a battle. By the middle of the week Ray- liminary stage of its outworking. mer and Griswold were asking for a sheriff's posse to maintain peace in the neighborhood of the plant; and were getting their first definite hint the game of politics against them.

"No, gentlemen; I've done all the law requires and a little more," was ously examining a photographic print; the sheriff's response to the plea for better protection.

"In other words, Mr. Bradford, you've got your orders from the men Against the buildings a pile of shavall sense of expediency.

charge as that," said the chief peace of- camera-snapping. There was no misficer, turning back to his desk; and so taking the identity of the man. He lose the plant guard of deputies that sudden horror; and his hat was on the ten minutes' walk from the lake front. Bradford has been maintaining, com back of his head. meated Raymer, as they were de "It ain't very good," Broffin apoloin the day the guard was withdrawn; 'burry,' and I reckon it will do." and Griswold, savagely rejuctions, was forced to make a concession repeatedly urged and argued for by the older He had climbed the steps of the men among the strikers, namely, that That part of it was a cinch. Your govbroad veranda when he heard his the guarding of the company's prop-shadows. In a moment he had placed rioting the transformed idealist passed another of the chairs for himself, through many stages of the journey down a certain dark and mephitic val-"I saw you at the gate," she said. ley not of amelioration. Fairness was gone, and in its place stood angry re-"We are holding out. The plant is sentment, ready to rend and tear. Pity closed, and it will stay closed until and truth were going; the daily rewe can get another force of work- port from Margery told of the lessening chance of life for Andrew Gal-"There will be lots of suffering," she braith, and the stirrings evoked were neither regretful nor compassionate "It's no use," he said, answering her On the contrary, he knew very well "There is nothing in me to that the news of Galbraith's death would be a relief for which, in his heart of hearts, he was secretly thirst-

CHAPTER XXV.

Margery's Answer.

"Well, it has come at last," said you have. But you didn't come here Raymer next morning, passing a newly opened letter of the morning de-"No; I came to ask a single ques- livery over to Griswold. "The railroad people are taking their work away from us. I've been looking for Griswold glanced at the letter and handed it back. The burden was lying After a moment of silence Griswold heavily upon him, and his only com-

At this, Raymer let go again. "What's the use?" he said deject-"We're down, and everything we do merely prolongs the agony. Do Silence again, broken only by the you know that they tried to burn the

"No; I hadn't heard." "They did. They had everything on the lake beach. At the end of it, fixed; a pile of kindlings laid in the > nex and the whole thing saturated "Well, why didn't they do it?"

"That's a mystery. Something hap-Galbraith takes a turn for the better?" pened; just what, the watchman who "Certainly," she said; and she let had the machine shop beat couldn't him say good-night and get as far as tell. He says there was a flash of light the steps before she called him back | bright enough to blind him, and then a "There was another thing," she be- scrap of some kind. When he got out heard, you know-was true; every sin-

Griswolk took up the letter from the railway people and read it again. The query took him altogether by When he faced it down on Raymer's sion which had been thrusting itself upon him since the early morning hour "It is a time to pray to him," she when he had picked his way among said softly; "to pray very earnestly the sidewalk pools to the plant from

"You can still save yourself, Edward," he said, still with the colorless "Why should I concern myself, spe- note in his voice. And he added:

Raymer jerked his head out of his "Never mind," she interposed, and deak and swung around in the pivot-

"See here, Griswold; the less said he exploded. "I'm going to do as I He stopped and looked down into said I should, but not until this fight is Griswold did not retort in kind.

"The condition has already expired by limitation; the fight is as good as "I? oh, God doesn't know me; and, settled now," he said, placably. "We can hold our forty or fifty tramp workmen just as long as we pay their board over in town, and don't ask them to report for work. But the day the shop Raymer's prediction that the real whistle is blown, four out of every five

"Then there is nothing for it but a receivership," was Raymer's gloomy

"Not without a miracle," Griswold

Thus the idealist, out of a depth of wretchedness and self-exprobration have had even a momentary gift of occurrence, and the tale of the wound- telepathic vision he might have seen a miracle at that moment in the pre-

The time was half-past nine; the place a grottolike summer house on the Mereside lawn. The miracle workers were two: Margery Grierson, radithat someone higher up was playing ant in the daintiest of morning housegowns, and the man who had taken her retainer. Miss Grierson was curithe pictured scene was a well-littered foundry yard with buildings forming an angle in the near background. higher up, have you?" rasped Gris- ings with kindlings showed quite clearwold, who was by this time lost to ly; and, stooping to ignite the pile, was a man who had evidently looked "I don't have to reply to any such up at, or just before, the instant of sceeding the courthouse stairs; and gized. "The sun ain't high enough yet precious. age in his prediction came true. Later to make a clear print. But you said hites Griereon modded "You caught him in the very act, didn't you?" she said coolly. "What did he hope to accomplish by setting fire to the works?" "It was a frameup to capture public sympathy. There's been a report circulating 'round that Raymer and Griswold was goin' to put some o' the ring- filled with angry workmen, and an exleaders in jail, if they had to make a cited argument was going forward at case against 'em. Clancy had it fig- one of the barred gates between the ured out that the fire'd be charged up locked-out men and a watchman inside to the owners, themselves."

Miss Grierson was still examining the picture. "You made two of these prints?" she asked. "Yes; here's the other one-and the film. "And you have the papers to make them effective?" Broffin handed her a large envelope. unscaled. "You'll find 'em in there. ernor ought to fire that man Murray.

He was payin' Clancy in checks!"

Again Miss Grierson nodded. "About the other matter?" she inquired. "Have you heard from your messenger?" Broffin produced another eavelope. It had been through the mails and bore back."

the Duluth postmark. "Affidavits was the best we could do there," he said. "My man worked it to go with MacFarland as the driver of the rig. They saw some mighty fine timber, but it happened to be on the wrong side of the St. Louis county line. He's a tolerably careful man, and he verified the landmarks."

"Af'ldayits will do," was the even toned rejoinder. Then: "These papers are all in duplicate?"

"Everything in pairs-just as you or-Miss Grierson took an embroidered bosom and began to open it. Broffin are no signs of improvement in the raised his hand. "Not any more," he objected, "You overpaid me that first evening in front of the Winnebago." "You needn't hesitate," she urged. It's my own money."

"I've had a-plenty." "Then I can only thank you," she said, rising.

He knew that he was being dismissed, but the one chance in a thousand had yet to be tested. "Just a minute, Miss Grierson," he begged. "I've done you right in this business, haven't 1?" "You have." "I said I didn't want any more money, and don't. But there's one other thing. Do you know what I'm here in this little jay town of yours for? "Yes; I have known it for a long

"I thought so. You knew it that day out at the De Soto, when you was tellin' Mr. Raymer a little story that was partly true and partly made upwhat?

"Every word of the story about Mr. Griswold-the story that you over-

Miss Grierson Was Curiously Examining a Photographic Print,

gle word of it. Do you suppose I should have dared to embroider it the least little bit-with you sitting right there at my back?"

Broffin got up and took a half-burned cigar from the ledge of the summer house where he had carefully laid it at the beginning of the interview.

"You've got me down," he confessed, with a good-natured grin. "The man that plays a winnin' hand against you has got to get up before sun in the morning and hold all trumps, Miss Grierson-to say nothin' of being a mighty good bluffer, on the side." Then he switched suddenly. "How's Mr Galbraith this morning?" "He is very low, but he is conscious again. He has asked us to wire for the cashier of his bank to come up."

Broffin's eyes narrowed. "The cashier is sick and can't come," "Well, someone in authority will ome, I suppose." Once more Broffin was thinking in terms of speed. Johnson, the paying fat black monstrosities. When he tore teller, was next in rank to the cashier If he should be the one to come to Wahaska . . .

"If you haven't anything else for me the brittle little conference ended. had a round, pig-jowl face; his bris- hastily, and forthwith made his es-"All of which means that we shall tling mustaches stood out stiffly as if in cape. The telegraph office was a good and in the light of what Miss Grieraon had just told him, the minutes were fares into the street upon which the Raymer property fronted. Smoke was the plant, and it had evidently proing of the clans. The sidewalks were opened."

> Something less than a half-hour att er Broffin's hurried departure, Miss

of the yard. The crowd let the trap pass without hindrance. Though it was the first time she had been in the new offices. she seemed to know where to find what she sought; and when Raymer took his face out of his desk, she was standing on the threshold of the open door and smiling across at him.

"May I come in?" she asked; and when he fairly bubbled over in the effort to make her understand how welcome she was: "No; I mustn't sit long-and this is a business call. Where is Mr. Griswold?"

"He went up town a little while ago, and I wish to goodness he'd come any time, you know."

"You have been having a great deal sympathetically. "I'm sorry, and I've out. Swinging heavily in his chair he result of a-of a mistake." come to help you cure it."

ently. "I'm afraid it has gone past the curing point," he said.

"Oh, no, it hasn't. I have discovered the remedy and I've brought it from the inside pocket of her driving coat and laid it on the desk before him | and fair dealing." "I'm going to ask you to lock that up in your office sats for a little while. chamois-skiu money book from her just as it is," she went on. "If there sick situation by three o'clock, you are to open it-you and Mr. Griswold-and an Arab." read the contents. Then you will know exactly what to do, and how to go about it."

> Her lips were trembling when she got through, and he saw it. She was going then, but he got before her and "I don't know what you have done, but I can guess," he said, lost now to everything save the intoxicating joy of better wait until I go 'to live with him.' the barrier-breakers. "You have a heart of gold, Margery, and I-"

"Please don't," she seld, trying to stop him; but he would not listen. "No; before that envelope is opened before I can possibly know what it contains, I'm going to ask you one question in spite of your prohibition; and I'm going to ask it now because, afterward, I may not-you may not-that is, perhaps it won't be possible for me you, Margery; I-" She was looking up at him with the faintest shadow of a smile lurking in the depths of the alluring eyes. And her lips were no longer tremulous when she said: "Oh, no, you don't. If I were as mean as some people think am, I might take advantage of all this, mightn't I? But I sha'n't. Won't you open the door and let me go? It is very important."

"Heavens, Margery! Don't make a see that I mean it? Girl, girl, I want you-I need you!"

This time she laughed outright. Then she grew suddenly grave.

"My dear friend, you don't know what you are saying. The gate that damned crook." ou are trying to break down open upon nothing but misery and wretchedness. If I loved you as a woman ought to love her lover, for your sake and for my own I should still say no-a thousand times no! Now will you open the door and let me go?"

He opened the door and she slipped past him. But in the corridor she turned and laughed at him again.

"I am going to cure you-you, personally, as well as the sick situation-Mr. Raymer," she said flippantly. child might have done: "I might posway-after a while, But I could never, get the papers." never, never learn to love your mother

And with that spiteful thrust she left

CHAPTER XXVI.

The Gray Wolf.

As it chanced, Jasper Grierson was in the act of concluding a long and apparently satisfactory telephone conversation with his agent in Duluth at the moment when the door of his private room opened and his daughter en-

He hung the receiver on its hook and was pushing the bracketed tele phone set aside when Margery crossed the room swiftly and placed an envelope, the counterpart of the one left with Raymer, on the desk.

"There is your notice to quit," she said calmly. "You threw me down and gave me the double-cross the other day, and now I've come back at you."

Another man might have hastened to meet the crisis. But the gray wolf was of a different mettle. He let the envelope lie untouched until after he had pulled out a drawer in the desk. found his box of cigars, and had lelsurely selected and lighted one of the the envelope across, the photographic print fell out, and he studied it carefully for many seconds before he read the accompanying documents. For a litto do, I reckon I'll be going," he said, the time after he had tossed the papers aside there was a slience that bit. Then he said, slowly:

"So that's your raise, is it? Where oes the game stand, right now?" "You stand to lose."

Again the biting silence; and then: give you back your ammunition so

"Those papers and that picture are copies; the originals are in a sealed pouring from the tall central stack of envelope in Mr. Raymer's safe. If you haven't taken your hands off of Mr. be a mix-up." voked a sudden and wrathful gather. Raymer's throat by three o'clock this stripped her of all that was womanly, the trouble flood was abating. pouring out upon her a flood of foul epithets and vile names garnished der his window and calmly made a of it she was still facing him hardily. the manager's room.

"Calling me bad names doesn't change anything," she pointed out, and her tone reflected something of his own elemental contempt for the eu- become of him." phemisms. "You have five hours in down, because if I do, I shall stay too which to make Mr. Raymer under- to be settled?" stand that you have stopped trying to of trouble, haven't you?" she said, passed as suddenly as it had broken seems that the whole thing was the took up the papers again, reread them Raymer shook his head despond- thoughtfully, and then swung slowly just that-a mistake." And then: "You to face the situation.

"Let's see what you want-show up your hand."

your backing from behind this labor stand it. How did you work the mirwith me." She took a sealed envelope trouble, and let Mr. Raymer settle acle?" with his men on a basis of good-will "Is that all?"

"No. You must cancel this pine-I'm not going to let you be worse than Grierson's shaggy brows met in a reflective frown, and when he spoke the bestial temper was rising again. "When this is all over, and you've he said, with an outthrust of the hard shut the door and put his back against jaw; adding: "You know me, Madge." "I thought I did," was the swift retort. "But it was a mistake. And as for taking it out on Mr. Raymer, you'd as you put it. Besides, this icn't Yellow gone to live with Raymer, I'll kill him,"

Dog gulch. They hang people here." "You little she-devil! If you push me into this thing, you'd better get Raymer, or somebody, to take you in. You'll be out in the street!"

"I have thought of that, too," she sald, coolly; "about quitting you. I'm sick of it all-the getting and the spending and the crookedness. I'd put the money-yours and mine-in a pile and set fire to it, if some decent to ask, or for you to listen. I love man would give me a calico dress and a chance to cook for two."

"Raymer, for instance?" the father cut in, in heavy mockery.

"Mr. Raymer has asked me to marry him, if you care to know," she struck back "Oho! So that's the milk in the cocoanut, is it? You sold me out to buy in with him!" "You may put it that way, if you like; I don't care." She was drawing on her driving gloves methodically place where you can wade ashore? joke of it!" he burst out. "Can't you and working the fingers into place. You can wade ashore now, can't you?" and there were sullen fires in the brooding eyes. one-the book writer," said the father. and handed her a letter to which was Then, without warning: "He's a pinned a telegram less than an hour

The daughter went on smoothing the wrinkles out of the fingers of her curt announcement of the withdrawal gloves. "What makes you think so?" of the Pineboro railroad's repair work. she inquired, with indifference, real or The telegram was still briefer: "Dis-skillfully assumed. straight. I've been keeping cases on smaller plotter returned the corre-

him. terposed. "He is my friend, and I thought, and it was now better than suppose that is enough to make you she had dared hope. hate him. About this other matterten minutes before three o'clock this Then, mimicking him as a spoiled afternoon I shall go back to Mr. Raymer. If he tells me that his troubles sibly learn to-think of you-in that are straightening themselves out, I'll

"You'll bring 'em here to me?" "Some day; after I'm sure that you have broken off the deal with Mr. Gal-

Jasper Grierson let his daughter get as far as the door before he stopped her with a blunt-pointed arrow of con-

"I suppose you've fixed it up to marry that college-sharp dub so that his mother and sister can rub it into you right?" he sneered.

"You can suppose again," she re turned, shortly. "If I should marry him, it would be out of pure spite to asked me, I told him No. You weren't counting on that, were you?" And having fired this final shot of contradiction she departed.

After Miss Grierson had driven home from the bank between ten it be, lacks nothing that is mentioned before bank-closing hours in the after- hours' purchase. noon. As she passed in the basket phaeton between half-past two and cause you would perish of cold. three through the overcrossing suburb there were signs of an armistice apparent, even before the battlefield was reached. Pottery Flat was populated a century. again, and the groups of men bunched of the corners and beckoned to a zation that laughs at mountains, avayoung iron-molder.

"Anything new, Malcolm?" the asked. "You bet your sweet life!" said the

"He has gone?" she said. "He'd better be. If he shows himself 'round here again, there's goin' to Miss Grierson drove on, and at the afternoon, the envelope will be iron works there were more of the peaceful indications. The gates were Jasper Grierson's teeth met in the open, and a switching engine from the marrow of the fat cigar. Equally with- railroad yards was pushing in a car out heat and without restraint, he load of furnace coal. By all the signs

Raymer saw her when she drove unwith bitter, brutal oaths. She shrank hitching post of the clerk who went from the crude and savage upbraid- out to see what she wanted. A moings as if the words had been hot irons ment later she came down the corrito touch the bare flesh, but at the end | dor to stand in the open doorway of

"You are still alone?" she asked. "Yes: Griswold hasn't shown up since morning. I don't know what has

"And the labor trouble, is that going

He looked away and ran his fingers smash him. Wouldn't it be better to through his hair as one still puzzled begin on that? You can curse me out and bewildered. "Some sort of a miracle has been wrought," he said. "A Jasper Grierson's rage fit, or the little while ago a committee came to mud-volcano manifestation of it, talk over terms of surrender. It

"Yes," she returned quietly, "It was are going to take them back?"

"Certainly. The plant will start up again in the morning." Then his cu-"I have shown it. Take the prop of riosity broke bounds. "I can't under-

> "Perhaps I didn't work it." "I know well enough you did, in some way."

She dismissed the matter with a land deal. You have broken bread toss of the pretty head. "What difwith Mr. Galbraith as a friend, and ference does it make so long as you are out of the deep water and in a He nodded. "This morning I should a notary public. Drag you in for the have said that we couldn't; but "I've been thinking it was the other now-" he reached over to his desk dollar apiece."

"You Can Wade Ashore Now, Can't You?"

old. She read the letter first. It was a regard my letter of yesterday;" this, "He's got too much money to be and the signature, "Atherton." The spondence with a little sigh of relief. "Never mind Mr. Griswold," she in- It had been worse than she had

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

SWISS HOTELS WONDROUS Stand in Solitary Grandeur, But Lack Nothing That Makes for Comfort

of Traveler. You may climb up the heights by the aid of railways, funiculars, racksand-pinions, diligences and sledges, and when nothing but your own feet will take you any further you will see in Switzerland a grand hotel, magically and incredibly raised aloft in the mountains. It is solitary-no town, no houses, nothing but this hotel bemmed in on all sides by snowy crags and made impregnable by precipices and treacherous snow and ice.

At the great redrawing of the map those women. Because, when he of Europe, when the lesser nationalities are to disappear, the Switzers will take armed refuge in their farthest grand hotels and there defy the mandates of the concert. For the hotel, no matter how remote and eleven in the morning, an admir- in the dictionary of comfort. Beyond ing public saw her no more until just its walls your life is not worth twelve You would not die of hunger, be

At best you might hit on some peasant's cottage in which the standards of existence had not changed for But once pass within the portals of on the street corners arguing peace- the grand hotel, and you become the fully. Miss Grierson pulled up at one spoiled darling of an intricate organilanches and frost.

Tent for the Children. A tent in the back yard is a great young molder, meeting her, as most joy to children; it helps to keep house men did, on a plane of perfect equality and yard looking neat, for the children and frankness. "We was hoodooed to can be expected and required to keep beat the band, and Mr. Raymer's got their playthings in the tent when they us. comin' and goin'. There wasn't no are told that it is their exclusive You don't think I'm fool enough to orders from the big federation, at all; playroom and that they must confine and that crooked guy, Clancy, was a any untidiness to that particular spot -Total

Answer the Alarm

A bad back makes a day's work twice as hard. Backache usually comes from weak kidneys, and if headaches, dizzi-ness or urinary disorders are added, don't wait—get help before dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease set in. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought new life and new strength to thousands of working new strength to thousands of workin men and women. Used and recommend

A Michigan Case

Brook St., Eaton Rapids, Mich., says: "I had rheumatic pains that got worse as I grew older. I became weak, nervbecame weak, nerv and the pains wer awful. For one yes I had to be assisted from the chair to the bed. Doan's Kidner Pills restored me to good health. I can' too grateful,"

Ambrose Hatfield,

Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box DOAN'S RIDNEY FOSTER-MILBURN CO., BUFFALO, N. Y.

Constipation Vanishes Forever

Prompt Relief-Permanent Cure CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS never fail. Purely vegetable - act surely but gently on the liver.

tress-cure improve the complexion, brighten the eyes, SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE. Genuine must bear Signature

ings, Abscesses, Sores. Etc., use

MOONE'S

The famous and unexcelled antiseptic and germicide, only a few drops required at an application. So marvelously pow-erful that Enlarged Glands, Wen- and Varicocele disappear with its use. $1.00 sent anywhere charges paid on receipt of price.

Generous sample sent on receipt of 10c from Moone Chemical Co., Dept. W. Rochester, N.Y.

Accommodating Citizen. A couple of Kansas City motorists who had penetrated the Ozarks found themselves sundry miles from the nearest town with a balky motor on hand and a dismal outlook before them. By and by there came driving along a rectangular native, who of fered to drag them and their car to town for $6.

"Blankity-blank!" they replied at "All right," yawned the native.

"Any way to give satisfaction. I'm considerable length.

price I named or swear you in for a FOR PLEURISY, BRONCHITIS

AND SORE THROAT Readers are advised not to dose the stomach. The best way to quickly overcome soreness in the throat or chest is to rub on true Mustarine, which all druggists keep in the original yellow box for about 25 cents. It is quicker and more efficient than any liniment. Rub it on at night and blessed relief comes by morning. True Mustarine is made by Begy Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y. It stops

Rheumatic pains like magic.-Adv.

to touch me again."

her first love-herself.

A Precaution. "What was your object in asking Grimes for that ten he owes you? Don't you know he'll never pay it?" "Oh, yes, I know that, but I thought he looked as if he was getting ready

Hard Work. "Pa, what is meant by 'literary endeavor?" "Trying to sell the stuff, son."

Occasionally a girl remains in the spinster class because she is true to

An Opportunity To Become a Salesman

were awarded 32 Gold, Silver Bronze Medals at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. We sell them direct to the consumer through salesmen If you are between the ages of 21 and 45, and want a chance to handle a large line of necessities with a splendid opportunity for profits and advancement, write at once, giving age, nationality, occupation, and reference.

(Established 1894) References: Any bank or commercial agency