

JARDINE & CO.

SUCCESSORS TO N. I. HAWLEY.

Have You Planned Your Fall Wardrobe?

You can hardly get your fall costume too soon—for the days of summery frocks are whisking by. We show you a complete suit—finely tailored, cut from cloths that are essentially modish, for as small a sum as $16.50. Trig and neat and natty it is—too—a suit you may well take pride in. After that, as high in price as you'll care to pay. Best of all we've made special contracts with reliable makers this year—arrangements that allow us to offer more actual style and value for the sums you'll spend here than you're apt to find anywhere else in this or any other city or town.

Come and See the New Season's Silks.

For Every Occasion

The demand for silks is greater than ever before. So universal and phenomenal is their call, that nearly every good weaving and texture known to the trade will be largely worn. "All ready at the Silk Department." Just come and see. We'll be surprised if you're not surprised and delighted.

The Fall Dress Goods.

What's the use of even trying to describe them, these fabrics of wool and silk and wool with which our shelves and counters are crowded?

If you've read descriptions of the new cloths, those which mark the style changes, and wish to see exactly what is best—most correct—specified by the style authorities of the world—come here. You'll find beauty everywhere, and more than that, real economy right at your hand.

After Supper Sale, No. 15

Some store friend asked us the other day if we weren't tired of running these special Saturday night sales—of selling goods on such small margins of profit—sometimes at no profit and sometimes even at a loss. We answered "NO." Here's the fifteenth and we have been as untiring in preparing the bargain list as on the occasion of the first. Every counter in the store will convince you of that. You know the hour. (Seven.)
