Addresses were heard from Grand Master John Retting, Past Grand Master H. M. Currier of Springfield, Mass., and Past Noble Grand C. G. Endlich.

Little of interest has developed this week on the town representative question for the reason that E. W. Gibson, who announced his candidacy last week, has been at Mt. Gretna with the Vermont National guard.

There is no country on earth that affords the same field for romantic and powerful plays as do the mountains of Carolina. Little wonder then that many plays have been written about this sturdy and distinctly original people, and while the stage has received many contributions from this fertile field there has been nothing so far for intensity of purpose, realism in action, more thrilling in human interest than the new American play.

Resolutions adopted on the death of Mrs. Jacob G. Ulery by the National Society United States Daughters of 1812, State of Vermont. Whereas, through the infinite wisdom of God there has been removed from our loving companionship our honored associate, Mrs. Jacob G. Ulery, and whereas, she possessed of fine artistic perceptions, she was an accomplished, and endeavored herself to us all by her choice personal charm, and whereas, as one of the charter members and vice-president of the Vermont State Society United States Daughters of 1812 she had by untiring effort and unselfish devotion done much for the promotion and welfare of this patriotic organization and well-earned her right to be remembered in the annals of our history to commemorate which this organization was founded, therefore be it resolved: That the Vermont State Society United States Daughters of 1812 do hereby express their profound sorrow and sense of personal loss in her death and extend their tender sympathy to the members of her family, and further be it resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this society and a copy of them be forwarded to the family of our deceased and honored member.

The remains of Mrs. J. G. Ulery are due to arrive in New York Aug. 16 on the Pennsylvania which sailed from Hamburg Saturday. A band of gypsies was around the town with the usual attendance of gaudy raiment and requests to tell fortunes yesterday. Three of the women were seen on the street during the forenoon and by the looks of things they did not do a very heavy business. People are becoming acquainted with the fact that these people are frequently impostors and consequently are wary of patronage.

BOYS AT MT. GRETTA WELL. Would Be Perfectly Satisfied If Regular Army Ratings Were More Varied. Camp Roosevelt, Mt. Gretna, Pa., Aug. 8, 1906. After many tedious delays at junctions and a wait all night at Albany, N. Y., on account of fog on the Hudson river the Vermont regiment arrived in camp at 7 o'clock Monday morning, tired and hot but otherwise in good condition.

All the Brattleboro boys are feeling well now that they are rested from the hard trip down and if regular army ratings were a little more plentiful and varied they would be perfectly satisfied. The duties of the band so far have been lighter than ever before. "Shorty" Hall as cook, and his assistants, Ed Gonyer and "Gobbie" Canady, are doing wonders with the material they have at command.

Col. J. G. Estey and staff were called before General Grant soon after the arrival of the regiment and instructed about the work to be done. The Vermonters are in the third brigade in command of Col. L. C. Allen of the 12th infantry. During the manoeuvres yesterday Ernest Cross of Company H, Montpelier, was overcome by the oppressive heat and had to be brought back to camp in an ambulance. Several others were affected by the hot weather but are able to be on duty today.
