NEW IMPROVEMENTS

The New Improvements Introduced in the Pork Packing Business.

South Omaha Gains Rapidly on Kansas City. Dave Edens Telis All About It, Etc., Etc.

It was reported several days ago that the fouth Omaha Land Company and let the contract for the erection of 3,00 houses in South Omaha, hearing of this our reporter made a visit to that busy city and found things generally on an immense beom. The new packing houses are almost ready for occupancy, and when complete will enlarge the killing capacity to almost least nog per day. In every direction there are evidences of the boom, new houses are being built everywhere. While strolling around on his mission the reporter dropped into Dave Edens place on Twenty-sixth street, the proprietor, Mr. David Edens, was busy dispensing liquid refreshments to the thirsty customers. On being accosted by the reporter, he greeted that individual with a cordial grasp of the hand. 'Yes,' said he, 'we are having a boson here, and will soon be packing as many hogs in South Omaha, as they do in Kansas City. I have just returded from a trip up to Omaha, and feel like taking. I was up there to the office of brs, McCoy and Henry. Those physicians have done for me, in one month, more than all the doctoring I have done for almost four years. I have been afflicted for that time with catarrh, and have tried a number of doctors, but have obtained no relef until I went to their office about one month ago. I think I must have got the catarrh while working in Texas. I worked there a long time, and came here to South Omaha, and since being there in have suffered terribly. I had an awful dizzy feeling, had night sweats every night, slept poorly, would hawk and spit almost all the time, had a distressing cough and a miserable trickling in the back of my throat from my nose. I was all broke up generally, and felt about as miserable as a man could feel. I saw Drs. McCoy & Henry's advertisements and called on them. They told me I had a pretty bad case of Catarrh, but said they could cure me, but it would probably take three or four months, well, I commenced on their treatment, and only a month has passed, and I feel so good that I feel like saying all

The adbject of the above sketch is proprietor of Dave Edens' place on Twenty-sixth street, Bouth Omaha, where he will corroborate the above to anyone who will call on or address him

The following statement regarding Drs. Mc Coy and Henry is made upon good authority: "Since these emineilt physicians have been in the west, they have treated and cured over six thousand cases of catarrh and chronic throat and long troubles, and of these cases 40 per cent had been declared and pronounced incurable."

CATARRH DESCRIBED.

The Symptoms Attending that Disease Which Leads to Consumption.

Which Leads to Consumption.

When catarrh has existed in the head and the upper part of the throat for any length of time—the patient living in a district where people are subject to catarrhal affection—and the disease has been left uncured, the catarrh invariably, sometimes slowly, extends down the wind pipe and into the bronchial tubes, which, tuberonvey the air into the different parts of the lungs. The tubes become affected from the swelling and the mucous arising from catarrh, and, in some instances, become plugged up, so that the air cannot get in as freely as it should. Shortness of breath follows, and the patient breathes with labor and difficulty.

In either case there is a sound of crackling and wheezing inside the chest. At this stage of the disease the breathing is usually more rapid than when in health. The patient has also hot flashes over the body.

The rapin which accompanies this condition is mashes over the body.

The pain which accompanies this condition is of a duil character, felt in the chest, behind the breast bone or under the shoulder blade. The pain may come and go—last a few days and then be absent for several others. The cough that occurs in the first stages of bronchial catarrh is dry, comes on at intervals, hacking in character, and is usually most troublesome in the morning on rising, or going to bed at night, and it may be in the first evidence of the disease extending into the lungs.

Sometimes there are fits of coughing induced by the tough mucus so violent as to cause vom-

Sometimes there are fits of coughing induced by the tough mucus so violent as to cause vom-iting. Later on the mucus that is raised is found to contain small particles of yellow mat-ter, which indicates that the small tubes in the lungs are now affected. With this there are of-ten streaks of blood mixed with the mucus. In some cases the patient becomes very pale, has fever, and expectorates before any cough ap-pears.

fever, and expectorates before any cough appears.

In some cases small masses of cheesy substance are spit up, which, when pressed between the fingers, emit a bad odor. In other cases particles of a hard, chalky nature are spit up. The raising of cheesy or chalky lumps indicates serious mischief at work in the lungs.

In some cases catarrh will extend into the ags in a few weeks; in other cases it may be months, and even years, before the disease attacks the lungs sufficiently to cause serious interference with the general health. When the disease has developed to such a point the patient is said to have catarrhal consumption. With bronchial catarrh there is more or less fever which differs with the different parts of the day-slight in the morning, higher in the afternoon and evening.

SNEEZING CATARRH.

What It Means, How It Acts, and What It Is.

You sneeze when you get up in the morning you try to sneeze your nose off every time you are exposed to the least draft of air. You have a fullness over the front of the forehead, and the nose feels as if there was a plug in each nostril, which you cannot dislodge. You blow your nose until your ears crack, but it don't do any good, and the only result is that you succeed in getting up a very red nose, and you so irritate the lining membrane of that organ that you are unable to breathe through it at all. This is a correct and not overdrawn picture of an acute attack of catarrh, or "Sneezing Catarrh," as it is called.

tack of cataerh, or "Sneezing Catarrh," as it is called.

Now, what does this condition indicate? First a cold that causes mucus to be poured out by the glands in the nose; then those diseased glands are attacked by swarms of little germs—the catarrh germ—that float in the air in a locality where the disease is prevalent. These animalculae, in their efforts to find a lodgment, irritate the sensitive membrane lining of the nose and nature undertakes to rid herself of them by producing a fit of sneezing.

When the nose becomes filled with thickened diseased mucus the natural channels for the introduction of air into the lungs is interfered with, and the person so affected must breathe through the mouth, and by such means the throat becomes parched and dry, snoring is produced, and the catarrhal disease gains ready access to the throat and lungs.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

Cattle.

The receipts of cattle were heavier yes terday there being thirty-eight cars re-ceived as against twenty-five cars the day before. The market was in very much the same condition as it has been in during the past few days. Good corn fed steers are in fair demand but half fat cattle do no meet with very ready sale.

Hogs.

The receipts of hogs were liberal, although they fell considerably below the day before. There were ninty five loads received as against 140 on Wednesday. The market opened fairly active and continued so until the close. The quality of the hogs averaged very good which made the sales show up somewhat better than on the day before. The general market was about steady. All offer-ings were taken with the exception of five oads which came in late.

Sheep. There were a few in but no sales reported. Official Receipts.

BOOTBLACK OR BROKER.

The Strange Career of Jack O'Hara,

the Canadian Criaple, in Cincinnati. Cincinnati Letter. The now widely nown bootblack, Jack O'Hara, first saw the sun rise in Toronto, Canada, on the books of Arctic travel. The heavy trav-12th day of August, 1858. Jack was the eling and severe weather prevented youngest of twelve children who blessed the union of his parents. When scarcely one year old the family removed to Cinone year old the family removed to Cin-cinnati, where, with the exception of a few month spent in Cleveland, Jack's whole life has been passed, and he pos-sesses, all the traits of energy and pluck that makes a typical Queen City man. His first business venture was selling papers—the old Times, then owned by Starbuck, now dead. He next embarked in the boot-blacking trade and under his skill and perseverence it has risen in his case almost to the dignity of a profession. When he began, such things as comfortable chairs and carpeted platforms on almost every square were never dreamed of. In 1871 he fell from a street car coming home from Forepaugh's circus, and was most horribly mangled. His right leg was amputated below the knee and his left oot was cut off. During his illness one of his sisters and his father, and shortly afterward his mother, died. It might seem that these misfortunes would have a depressing effect upon the spirits and weakened energies of the crippled boy, but the very opposite was the result. Emergency made him great. He rose above he sorrows of his surroundings and took up the burden of life like a hero.

From that time Jack was the main stay of the household. He supported his brothers and sisters and sent them to school, notwithstanding that they were older than he. And he did it all with his brush. Every day, rain or shine the indefatigable fellow could be seen Third street among the bankers and brokers with his box an his shoulder, hobbling along on his crutches. In a little time he had a monopoly of the bankers' and brokers' trade, and has held it ever since. For years his headquarters have been at the office of Harry Morehead, Harper's ex-broker and manipulator of Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton stock, where trusted confidential friend of the great broker. A year or more ago Jack secured a stand in the corridor of Chamber of Commerce, where he has had full swav ever since. It is safe to say no man on 'change was ever more respected than the pleasant-faced, broad-chested, honest Jack. But when it came to taking him in as a brotuer member things were different. When his application for membership was presented there was a commotion. The idea of a bootblack becoming a member of the chamber of commerce was shocking to the refined sensibilities of the "gentlemen," and not to be tolerated.

They tried to shelve it, but Jack and his old sriend Morehead were not to be put off that way, and they pushed it to an issue and were beaten. Morehead argued that he had trusted Jack time and again with thousands of dollars, and knew him to be equal to any member in integrity, and that his business was bet-ter than that of a saloonkeeper, and they were admitted unquestioned. But it was without avail. As one result of rojecting Jack's application Mike Heister, one of the most prominent members of the chamber, and a saloon-ist, was compelled to step out.

Jack takes his defeat with all the philosophy of a pessimist. His proud spirit is undaunted, and it is safe to say that notwithstanding his defeat the time will come when some of his "betters" will find in him a formidable business adversary, for he will not shine shoes always. He has iaid by a very considerable sum of money, is well educated, and smarter than most men of his day. His familiarity with stocks and bonds is astonishing, and when he does go into a higher class of business he will be amply able to take care of him-

In personal appearance, above his mutilated lower limbs he is a magnificent specimen of manhood, with a handsome face, that would attract attention in any gathering. The head is massive, the brow high and broad. In everything but crippled limbs Jack O'Hara is above the average—a man. During the first great flood, in 1882. Jack was appointed on the purchasing committee for the relief of flood sufferers, in which position he handled large sums of money. He worked like a here night and day while the distress and danger existed. The exposure at this period brought on siekness which con ined him in bed for weeks. In addition his mangled leg troubled him, sores breaking out and pieces of decayed bone beginning to appear. Despite all his misfortune Jack "hong on," determined to "do or die," and began to attract the favorable notice of the bankers, brokers and professional men on Third street. Jack's two sisters are now living-one in Newport and one in Covington-each the head of a prosperous family. A brother is in business in Chicago and another is a brass-finisher in this city. In the twenty-one years Jack has been on the "street" he has acquired a competence, and not only that, but won the confidence of business man in that part of the city. There is not a breath of suspicion against him. He has worked himself up against odds which would have overwhelmed others of less will, force and energy, and instead of being county or city charge in some infirmary, his sturdy, broad-chested figure, honest, ruddy face has become a familiar sight. manages io move around on crutches about as rapidly as other people who are blessed with a good pair of legs.

A Chronic Tendency Overcome. Many persons are troubled with a chronic tendency to constipation. They are of billious temperament. The com plaint to which they are subject, though easily remediable by judicious treat-ment, is in many cases aggravated by a resort to drastic purgatives and cholagogues. As the human stomach and bowels are lined with a delicate membrane, and not with vulcanite, they can not stand prolonged drenching with such medicines without serious injury. Nothing restores and counteracts an habitual tendency to constipation so effeetually as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Its laxative effect is gentle and progressive. It neither convulses nor weakens the intestines, and its effects are unaccompanied by griping pains. It arouses the liver when the organ is sluggish promotes digestion and encourages appetite and sleep. For fever and ague, kidney troubles, nervous complaints and incipient rheumatism it is incomarable. Take a wineglass before meals

New York Sun: In February last Lieutenant Bloch and Lieutenant Ryder, of the Danish navy, made an interesting journey along the west coast of Green-Innd. Their ambitious purpose was, of course, to travel north until they reached the Cape York natives, the most northern inhabitants of the world. If they had succeeded their journey would have been among the most noteworthy of Arctic undertakings, for they would have been able to trace the coast line of the great Melville bay, which is almost wholly unknown, as the shore ice at most points prevents vessels from ap proaching anywhere near the coast. With eight sledges they advanced about seventy miles south of Upernavik, almost to the southern shores of Melville bay, and past the solitary stone known as the Devil's Thumb, which, as seen from ships, has been pictured in many books of Arctic travel. The heavy travthem going further, and it is now quite ter season. The result of this journey justifies the criticism that met the pro ject of a Washington official, gravely suggested sending a sledge party to take this very route in winter after we had heard of Gartington's fail ure to reach Greely.

Cure of Wrenched Spine. How many men given to heavy labor go through life with a kind of hitch in the backbone caused by wrenching at some period of their younger days. all such take heed from the following letter: LYDONVILLE, ORLEANS CO., N. Y.

Mar. 3, 1886. Some years ago, while loading sheep on the railroad, I badly wrenched my ack. I was confined to my bed for four weeks, being partially paralized As I could get no relief, I put on my spine three Allcock's Plasters from the small of my back up between my shoulders. From that day I began to get better, suffering less pain all the I put fresh plasters on every ten days, and in a month I was well and attending to my business. C. R. BENTLY.
