Bivat Associations Join Hands to Make the State Fair a Success. Preliminary to getting down to real business, today the Board of Managers of the State Fair association met at the Millard

Lotel, the following members present: President Eli A. Barnes, Grand Island; John B.

Dinsmore, Sutton; chairman of the board, Martin Dunham, Omaha; E. L. Vance, Paw-ree City; Milton Doolittle, North Platte; S.

C. Bassett, Gibbon, and R. W. Furnas, sec-

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been disposed of President Z. T. Lindsey and John A. Wakefield, secretary of the Fair and Speed association, appeared before the board with a proposition looking to an adjustment of the differences between the State Fair board and the Manufacturers' and Consumers' association. Mr. Lindsey explained that the differences between the two bodies hardicapped the Fair and Speed association in securing money necessary to carry the fair to a successful conclusion, and thought that ciliatory a nature that a resolution was finally passed agreeing to pay one-half of the bill originally rejected. This was all the Manu-facturers' association asked, and consequently it will bring about a collective exhibit on the part of the Manufacturers, and Consumers' as-sociation, providing apace, can be secured in the manufacturers' buildings. If not, then the Amid such far from scothing contemplations my brother was dumbfounded by a point-blank request from young Raiph that he might become engaged to Mary. Then there was a scene. Robert was, I am bound to say, a selfish father, and I doubt whether any suitor would have been received with much favor; but he was also inclined to he puritiancial in his notions, and, from what he had heard of Raiph's exploits, that young man would have been the last to overcome his selfishness. There were too many and too plausible grounds for rational objection. If I tell you also that my brother had a violent temper you can perhaps imaging what occurred. There was much strong language on the other. Nothing but my appearance to the color of transfers.

Simply Cleaning the Gun. A wildly excited person rushed into the police station late yesterday afternoon and reported that a crazy man in a house at Fourteenth and Jones streets was shooting the in-mates. Two officers were detailed to capture him, but when they reached the house they found him quietly cleaning a revolver. He explained that while he was trying to take the shell out of the revolver it accidentally exploded. The hole which the bullet made was found in the floor. The man is a former railroad brakeman named Callihan and is said to be insane, though harmless.

to the general fund was prompted by public belief that it would be applied to the fire department appropriation.

The report of the committee to which was referred the contract of the Nebraska Telephone company for the maintenance of an independent telephone and fire alarm service was favorable, and the report was adopted. Commissioner Brown insisted that it be distinctly understood that the telephone company not be allowed to cut down any trees in the vicinity of the engine houses in constructing the line.

The commissioners, sitting as a license board, approved the petition, application and bond of E. L. Canan for liquor permit as a druggist.

Chief White submitted an interesting re-port of the city detectives who investigated the complaint of "County Detective" Pyburn against Mrs. Minute Wirth, accused of violating the liquor ordinance. The report of the city detective assigned to investigate stated that Pyburn practiced peculiar methods in making his investigation. The report was placed on file and the chief of police will investigate what authority Pyburn has to impersonate an officer on his own responsi-

TO INCREASE POLICE PROTECTION. Chief of Police White submitted the fol-lowing recommendation, which was favor-ably received and referred to the committee on men and discipline:

"Since familiarizing myself with the pracical details of the operating of the police department I have come to the conclusion that the present force, as now constituted and equipped, is inadequate to furnish the desired police protection to all partions of the city, and especially the outlying residence districts. After carefuly considering this state of af-fairs and viewing the situation from all sides have determined to present to your honorable body a plan whereby the efficiency of the department may be greatly increased without any increase in the draft upon the funds provided for its maintenance. "I am prepared to say, after careful investigation, that it will be possible to reduce the annual expenses of this department about $1,800 by increasing the amount of work on the part of the chief of this department and the subordinate officers. The money thus saved I recommend be expended in locating regulation patrol boxes in the districts not now covered by patrolmen. Keys to these boxes and instructions as to their use to be supplied to all respectable residents who desire them. By this means the patrol wagon and reserve force will be at all times subject to call from citizens, and I believe that the service will be far more satisfactory than the present method of depending either upon the mounted men or upon patrolmen attempting to cover a very large territory. More than this, these boxes will prove a valuable ad-junct to the fire department, as they may also be used in case of fire. In brief, I know of no other method by which the efficiency of the department may be increased as effectively as in this way, and judging from the number of inquiries from citizens for means of communicating with police headquarters, I am satisfied that the plan will meet with the hearty approval of all citizens."

Case of Child Murder, A post mortem examination of the body of the dead habe which was found Sunday morning was made yesterday. The body is that of a boy two or three days old. It was found lying in the lot at Twenty-fourth and Maple streets, wrapped in a newspaper. The examination disclosed the fact that the child was alive and in a healthy condition when born. The examining physicians stated that the death of the child was a clear case of infanticide.
