IS STILL A REPUBLICAN that met the hearty approval of the audience.

Hon. B. F. Clayton Has Not Changed His Political Faith.

DENIES A STORY OF SILVERITE ORIGIN

Preparing to Enter the Campaign for McKinley and Sound Money at An Early Date.

The story has been industriously circulated by the free silverites that Hon. B. F. Clayton had left the republican party, renounced his allegiance to sound financial principles and gone over to the enemy. It has been said that he has not only been converted to the populist theories, but was actively promulgating their fallacies on the stump. A letter from Mr. Clayton, who has been in Chicago for some time, most emphatically contradicts all of these stories. Mr. Clayton casually remarks that he is now a better republican than ever, and that he is devoting all of his time to the teaching of sound republican principles. He is under contract with Chairman Hanna to deliver campaign speeches until election day. His district consultation free Wednesdays. Health book lies east as far as Indiana and he will proba-furnished. Annex Grand hotel. bly go as far as New Jersey. His speeches in this part of the district will consume his time until October 1. The remainder of the campaign will be confined to Iowa. All of these facts he gives in a personal letter to Ohio Knox. The silly stories that he has become a populist have not reached him, and the declarations contained in his letter sprang from the fullness of his heart and the ripeness of his republican convictions.

Mrs. Shaw Asks Divorce.

Mrs. Maggie Shaw is living down in the west part of the city earning a living by band, Warren Shaw, is back in Iowa some place living with some of his relatives. This condition of affairs has existed for some time and yesterday Mrs. Shaw appeared before Judge Smith and gave her testimony in an application for a decree of divorce which har been pending for some time.

The plaintiff is a woman of middle age, sharp featured and worn by work, and her evidence showed one thing prominently and that was that divorce or no divorce it was quits between her and Warren Shaw and the rest of the Shaw family. Mrs. Shaw testi-fied that she was married to Shaw at Rockport, Mo., about twenty-two years ago and lived with him for nearly twenty years. She said that Warren would rather move than pay rent and that much of their time was spent in moving from one place to another. They were down at Joplin, Mo., four years ago when she came to Omaha and Council Bluffs on a visit. While she was here Shaw moved to Arkansas and sent her word that as soon as he got settled he would send for her. After several months she tried to locate him and found that he had gone to Ames. Ia. She wrote to him and he said he was going back to Arkansas. He went and before she could locate him again she received word that he had re-turned to Ames. Then she wrote to Ames and received word from some of Shaw's relatives that he had gone to Dakota or Texas or some place else and had said that would never live with her again. She had worn out her welcome as a visitor by that time and being without money had to go to work to support herself. She had received nothing from Shaw for four years and never expected to see him again. The case was taken under advisement. Breach of Promise Suit. Thomas Page, a well-to-do farmer living in Boomer township, has trouble on his mind in the shape of a $5,000 suit for dam-

Mrs means. In cold blooded legal phraseology she alleges that she was woodd and won by the farmer and that in May last she blushingly gave her consent to become Mrs. Page No. 3. She says that the wedding day was fixed and that at her fiance's request and suggestion she went ahead and bought a lot of wedding finery that would be too giddy for her to wear for any other purpose. She says she stands ready and willing at any time to carry out her part of the program, but that Page has backed out and refuses and neglects to make her his wife. Hence the request for damage to her feelings in the sum of $5,000, each worth 100 cents.

He had tried to get a loan of $1 on the wheel at Ed Fuse's shop on Main street, and failing had finally traded it for a $50 watch and $2.50 in cash. Eatherton told the police he had traded a team and buggy for two wheels. The trade was made in Atlantic on Monday, and Eatherton and his partner started to ride to Council Bluffs. Eatherton punctured his tire at Hancock and came in on the train and has been waitling ever since for his partner to show up. He says he ran short of money and had to dispose of his wheel at any price. He claimed to be en route to Arizona. The wheel is new Sunbeam, bearing the name of a manufacturer in St. Joseph. Brakeman Sues Northwestern Because the Company Blacklisted Him. DES MOINES, Aug. 19 .- (Special Telegram.)-W. T. Taylor has brought suit against the Northwestern for $6,000 damages. He claims he has been blacklisted by the road and by other roads through the intervention of that read and is unable to obtain work by which he is best fitted by training and experience. Taylor was a pas-senger breakman at the time of the A. R. U. strike. He claims that he did not strike but continued to work for the company until July 3, 1894, when by reason of being worked over hours to take the place of men who had quit, he was taken sick and was under the doctor's care for nearly a month. When he reported for work again he says he was told the company did not believe the story that he was sick. Thereupon he was blacklisted. It is said that Taylor's suit is but a beginning, and it he wins, then men who struck and have not been given work since will bring further suits for damages, claiming that the fact of their striking does not warrant blacklisting.

The fight against Policeman Brown seems o be on in earnest, at least as far as cer tain members of the council go. Caldwell asserts that Brown is not a taxpayer here and that there are plenty of men who own property in this city who would be glad to get a steady job. When the finance committee made its last report Brown's name was left off the salary roll by the commit tee and up to the present time that officer has not drawn his pay for July. Mayor Ensor said yesterday that Brown had proved himself to be a good officer and that he would keep him on the police force as long as he was efficient. He had earned his last month's salary, the mayor said, and he proposed seeing that it was paid.

"As long as I am held responsible," the mayor, "for the police force in city. I propose to select the men myself As for the committee not allowing Brown's salary he can sue for it every month an he city will have to pay the costs in the Reduces Police Court Costs. The resolution passed by the city council Tuesday night in reference to police court fines will reduce the costs in each case 50 cents, so that hereafter the costs taxed up will be $2.50 instead of $3. For a number of years it has been the custom to add 50 cents to the costs in each case, amount was turned over to the chief of olice as pay for his services as street com street commissioner at a salary of $60 month. In order to save this amount a for-mer administration conceived the plan above several years, during which time the city was saved several hundred dollars in salaries. These fees amount to between $50 and $60 per month. Since the council has seen fit to make the change the mayor will probably appoint a street commissioner.
